VOLUME LI.—NO. 124. TUESDAY MAY 3, 1892—TWELVE PAGES. PRICE TWO CENTS.

HARD COAL IS UP.

Prices Advanced as the Result of the Order.

INTENTION OF THE TRUST.

To Cut the Profit of All Others Interested.

AN OFFICIAL ON THE PRICE.

Says the People Should Not Pay Too Much.

WHERE THE DIFFERENCE COMES.

The advance of 25 cents in the price of coal dictated by the Reading combine went into effect yesterday. The month of May is considered to be the opening of the coal season, and ordinarily it is ushered in by a rush of business. This is totally lacking this year, and yesterday the yards were not as active as two weeks ago.

The result is due entirely to the uncertainty which the big deal has infused into the jobbing and retail trade. Dealers, in anticipation of an advance, laid in considerable stock during April. But the amount they succeeded in buying was not sufficient to cover their needs for more than a few weeks. The jobbers can contract with the combine only for May delivery, and it is said can buy no great quantity even at that. Moreover they must settle for their coal in cash the fifteenth day of the month. This is a hardship to many dealers. Under the old way of doing business before the combine was made the dealers contracted for coal at the going rate for the day, but the seller agreed to deliver it on the buyer's demand any time during the season. This made it possible for the dealers to extend credit, and, in fact, made the position easy for everybody.

It looks much as if the Reading proposed to wipe out the jobbers absolutely and do business direct with the retailers and consumers. We do not dare stock up, knowing that what we pay this month may be lower than the prices fixed for next month. Besides it is hardly likely that jobbers would be allowed to buy any large quantity of coal for one month's delivery. The combine would claim that it hadn't sufficient transportation facilities. No matter what the price of coal is for June or July or August, even if it goes to $20 a ton, the jobbers and retailers gain no benefit. They can only sell at a margin of 50 cents, and this must cover the expense of their business. If coal gets high of course retailers will cut this price, quarrel for trade, lose money, and go out of business. The combine evidently intends to gobble the middleman's profit. It can easily go into the retail business and deal direct with the consumer. The public has already felt the effect of the combine through the dealers. Few contracts for delivery of next winter's coal can be made and certainly none will be at low figures.

Something No One Knows.

As to how high coal will go nobody outside of the inner circle of the combine can say. Coal has been sold in the last year cheaper in Chicago than in New York and Philadelphia. In the "equalizing," which is to be done, it has been intimated that now Chicago will pay for the enjoyment of low prices. The anthracite coal people look upon the West as undesirable territory, and it is a fact that the best quality of anthracite doesn't come here.

The principal producers who are said to be independent of the combine are Coxe Bros., W. L. Scott & Co., the Pennsylvania Coal company, and the Delaware and Hudson Canal company. The Erie and Pennsylvania roads are used largely by these shippers to the lakes. Notwithstanding their apparent position it is stated on the best authority that a perfect understanding exists all around.

A prominent agent said: "Coal has been sold too low at the mines. If there is a chance to get a good price for it and make some money the concerns outside of the deal can be relied on to hold steady with the Reading."

The proportion of the supply of anthracite needed by Chicago which can be laid down by these "independent" shippers, supposing they should grow restive and break away from the pool, can only be approximately stated as a few hundred thousand tons. It represents at all events only an unimportant proportion of the city's requirements. The Reading and the Lackawanna together control nearly 80 per cent of the output and its ways to market. The Lackawanna is a valuable ally, having a fleet of six steamers whose carrying capacity aggregates 9,295 tons. The Lehigh Valley's lake line, the finest on the lakes, also passes over to the purposes of the combine. This fleet includes eleven steamers, capable of transporting 16,105 tons.

Trying to Bolster Up the Reading Road.

This great attempt to corner the hard coal market probably was conceived primarily as the only way to bolster up the tottering Reading railroad. By a long series of mismanagement, stock jobbing, stock watering, and wrecking it had accumulated a load of debt which was regarded as hopeless until President McLeod saw a way out by means of the coal fields.

The total mileage of its lines owned, leased, and controlled is only 1,000. The mileage of what it owns is only 228. The total of its stock and mortgage loans exceeds $183,000,000. The common stock alone is $40,000,000, and one-half of this represents nothing whatever. The road is the natural highway for coal through Pennsylvania. Its business has always been large. In 1889 it carried nearly 17,000,000 passengers and 10,000,000 tons of freight, and the earnings from its operations were $19,000,000, while its operating expenses were only $10,000,000. Yet of this big profit when the interest on its debts was paid there was practically nothing left.

Twice the Reading has been in the hands of receivers—from May 24, 1880, to Feb. 28, 1883, and from June 2, 1884, to Jan. 2, 1888. When the road bought the Lehigh Valley and Jersey Central roads it assumed an additional capital stock of more than $100,000,000 and a bonded debt created by them amounting to over $200,000,000. Millions and millions of water could be squeezed out of this. The Reading is in a deep financial hole dug by its great new station at Philadelphia, to procure the money for which it has begged in every capital in Europe. So far the combination has made this record in its juggling with the country's coal supply: Jan. 28 the price of stove coal was increased from $3.65 to $3.90 a ton; March 16 the price of chestnut coal was increased from $3.65 to $3.90; April 1 freight charges on all coal carried to the West were increased 25 cents a ton; April 28 the price of stove coal was increased from $3.90 to $4.15 a ton, the price of egg coal from $3.75 to $3.90 a ton, and the price of grate coal from $3.65 to $3.75 a ton. By these successive advances the combination has assured so far a profit for the next twelve months of something like $6,000,000, or perhaps a little more.

This profit, enormous as it is, well-posted men figure out to be far below the figures necessitated by the Reading's obligations and the manipulators' greed, and the only way it can be swollen will be by boosting the price of coal a good deal higher.

Now the intention is to attempt to supply the people of the West with anthracite coal at lower prices. The Reading will not open any other depots at present except those now at Chicago, Milwaukee, and West Superior. The total sales from these stations in 1892 will reach 500,000 tons. Some coal is sent to St. Louis, but this goes direct from the mines.

Apart from the Reading the Lehigh Valley company will supply Chicago and other points West, as will also the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. Of course, they will act in concert and the price will be uniform. At a $5.50 basis for Western coal the price per ton at the mine is $2.25 and the freight is $3.75. There is claimed to be a wastage of 10 per cent in handling the coal. It is asserted that coal can and should be supplied to retail consumers at Chicago at less than $6.50 per ton. There is profit in it at 27 cents per ton less, and this year the figures may fall. At the present selling price the dealer makes 80 cents per ton, if not more.

WHAT NEW YORK WILL PAY.

Tribute Exacted by the Coal Barons from That City.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—This is not only moving day in New York, but it is the day when every consumer of anthracite coal must begin to pay additional enforced tribute to the Reading coal and railway combine. The first ton of coal that the householder puts in the cellar of his new home will cost him at least 25 cents more than he has paid before for that amount of fuel, winter or summer, in years. Approximately what New York and its nearest neighbors must pay in tribute to the coal barons for the year which begins today may be deducted from these figures:

New York city burns 3,500,000 tons of hard coal in a year. Brooklyn consumes 2,000,000 in a year, and Jersey City and Staten Island 550,000 tons. In round numbers New York and its neighbors burn 6,000,000 tons of anthracite coal annually, or 15 per cent of the entire output of the mines less than 150 miles away. The increase of 25 cents a ton, therefore, means that New York and its neighbors must pay $1,500,000 to the Reading combine in addition to the already false profits received by the barons. That is if the combine keeps its hands from reaching still deeper into people's pockets during the balance of the year.

SHOULD KEEP THE PRICE DOWN.

An Official of the Reading Talks About the Western Plans.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—[Special.]—"A charge of $7 per ton for anthracite coal to consumers at Chicago is entirely too much and the price should be kept below that," said a prominent official of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company today in discussing the question of the anthracite supply for the west under the new combination and the threat of an increase in price. The Reading company in purchasing the Silver Creek company's plant intends to put its own manager at the head of its coal business and thus save the big commissions heretofore paid.

The intention of the company is to sell coal to wholesalers and at wholesale in Chicago and Milwaukee at $5.50 per ton. This means screened coal of all classes, broken egg, stove, and chestnut. The company will not go into the retail business, but the officials think that $1.50 is too much margin for the middlemen to have in handling the coal between the company and the consumer. In Philadelphia and other Eastern cities the profit to the retail dealer rarely exceeds 50 cents per ton and is seldom over 25 cents. The statement is made that the hard coal and railroad companies doing business West have all lost money so far and the retail dealer has got it all.

WEST SUPERIOR DEALERS.

Prices of Coal Advanced on Them, but They Keep Them Down.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., May 2.—The effects of the Reading coal combination were felt here directly for the first time today. The Northwestern Coal Association, which nominally controls the docks and trade, notified the retail dealers that from today anthracite coal would be $5.50, an advance of 25 cents a ton. The retail dealers are obliged to sell at scales given out by the association. Thus far that scale has not been changed, so the retail dealers are standing all the raise. Said one of them today: "Of course we expect a change in the prices at which we may sell. To give us a living profit it must be raised and one would naturally suppose it will be. Still you cannot tell. We are completely at the mercy of the association, which is, I presume, in fact the Reading combine, and if they choose to freeze us out I don't know of any way we can help ourselves."

The Port of Superior broke all previous records today—arrivals, twenty-four, with 25,000 tons coal; departures, fifteen, with 750,000 bushels of wheat.

The Pennsylvania's Increased Tonnage.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—Almost every day brings fresh indications of the aggressive policy which the Pennsylvania railroad has entered upon in the anthracite coal trade. Following the chartering of an eight-mile road which the Pennsylvania will build in the Lehigh region to reach the Stout colliery, whose output it has bought, comes an announcement that the company has purchased the output of the William Penn colliery, near Shenandoah. The new arrangement goes into effect at once. The Pennsylvania has increased its annual anthracite tonnage to easily 5,000,000 tons. If pushed to the full capacity the collieries controlled by the Pennsylvania can turn out 7,000,000 tons. This is sufficient to prevent effectually any monopoly of the coal trade by the Reading.

New Jersey Will Act Against the Reading.

TRENTON, N. J., May 2.—Attorney-General Stockton, acting under direction of Gov. Abbett, is investigating the Reading coal combination with a view of crushing the conspiracy in the courts of New Jersey if it be found the State has the power. Special counsel versed in the laws and decisions of Pennsylvania has been employed to assist the State Department and the work is progressing rapidly. If it is found impossible to proceed against the combination in the courts under the laws now on the statute books a special session of the Legislature may be called.

HAS DECIDED IN THE BOY'S FAVOR.

Judge Coffey's Opinion in the Will Case of Capt. C. E. McDonald.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 2.—Probate Judge Coffey rendered a decision today in favor of Henry McDonald, the 18-year-old son of Capt. C. E. McDonald, deceased, in contest over the latter's estate, which is valued at $150,000. The boy claims to be the offspring of Capt. McDonald and Mrs. Ransome, an actress, better known as Claude Lee, and question of paternity was made an issue on the part of McDonald's relatives. Judge Coffey decided the paternity of the boy to have been proved, that the acts of his father constituted public recognition and adoption, and that the boy is entitled to the estate.

IT WAS CAUSED BY A LAMP EXPLOSION.

The Eureka Quartz Mills Burned to the Ground on the Carson River.

CARSON, Nev., May 2.—[Special.]—The Eureka quartz mill property of the Comstock Mill and Mining company burned to the ground this morning and is a total wreck. The loss is $100,000. Sixty men are thrown out of employment. An exploding lamp was the cause.

SALOON MEN VICTORS.

THE MADDEN ORDINANCE DEFEATED IN THE COUNCIL.

A Sharp Fight Made by the Liquor Interest, Which Wins, 43 to 17—Ald. Kent Charges Boiler Inspector Pickham with Failing to Report Fees and Demands an Investigation—Jackson Boulevard Ordinance Shelved—Explanation of Scavenger Work—Bids Asked.

Ald. Madden's ordinance governing the location of saloons in residence blocks was defeated in the Council last evening, the vote being 17 yeas and 43 nays.

The ordinance provided that any person who desires to obtain a license to keep a saloon in any block in which a majority of the buildings is devoted exclusively to residence purposes shall in addition to the requirements now provided present an application signed by a majority of the property-owners and householders. The ordinance as drawn did not interfere with saloons now located. Ald. Madden being in the chair, Ald. Hepburn called up the measure and stated that the provision governing the reissuing of a license had been stricken out. Ald. Jackson came to the rescue of the saloon interest and moved that the measure be placed on file. Ald. Madden then asked the indulgence of the Council and said that the terms of the ordinance were reasonable and did not work an injustice to any one. He called attention to the ordinances requiring the consent of property-owners in order to locate livery-stables and hospitals, and said it was of vastly greater interest to a man whether he should have a saloon next door or not.

Ald. Hummel and Rhode both spoke against the ordinance and Ald. Bartine made his maiden speech upholding the measure. Ald. Swift said he was in favor of the ordinance because it was right and because the citizens were entitled to protection. He pointed out that a car line could not be located without the consent of the property-owners.

Ald. Madden said that the roll would be called. Ald. Hepburn's motion to pass the ordinance thus brought Ald. Kunz, Ellert, and a number of other opponents of the measure to their feet. They wanted a roll call on the Jackson motion first. It was called on the Hepburn motion, however, and resulted as follows:

Yeas—Woodard, Horan, Dixon, Marrenner, Madden, Hepburn, Kent, Swift, Mills, Martin, Swigart, Plowman, Noble, Mann, Howell, O'Neill, Bartine—17.

Nays—Morris, Coughlin, Wall, Vogt, O'Brien, Stuckart, Murphy, Cooke, Morrison, Loeffler, Rhode, Schumacher, Knowles, Jackson, Keats, Michaelsen, Reddick, Kunz, Ellert, Gosselin, Mulvihill, Brennan, Maloney, O'Brien, Powers, Potthoff, McGillen, Ernst, Tripp, Larson, Biegler, Wadsworth, Brookman, Sexton, Lutter, Haussen, McCarthy, Ackerman, Cary, Gahan, Raven, Kenny, Hummel—43.

Ald. Bidwill, Dorman, Pfister, and Kerr were absent and Ald. Conway and Haynes were out of the chamber when the vote was taken.

Charges Against the Boiler Inspector.

When the new ordinance relating to boiler inspections was called up Ald. Kent charged that Boiler Inspector Pickham had been derelict of duty in reporting fees of his office to the Controller. The ordinances provide that instead of a salary the inspector shall retain one-half the fees from his inspections and shall make monthly reports to the Controller. "During the last year," said Ald. Kent, "I have a statement that shows he has turned in less than $1,000. With 12,000 boilers in Chicago who believes that less than $1,000 has been half the receipts of the office. The new ordinance provides that the fees of the Boiler Inspector shall be increased to $5. Before we go on increasing these fees I propose an investigation of the past. I have a copy of letter from the Controller demanding a settlement and threatening suit if a settlement is not made."

Ald. Kent exhibited the Controller's letter as well as others from Pickham tendering the alleged half of certain monthly fees. A brief statement of the condition of the inspector's business is contained in a letter to Ald. Kent from the Controller's office. It reads as follows:

> Inclosed you will find the Boiler Inspector's report for the months of November and December, 1891, calling for $592; also Boiler Inspector's report for January and February, 1892, calling for $42. There was also deposited by said Boiler Inspector for six months May to October, $158; total, $792. In regard to last six reports would say they have been mislaid by some of the clerks, but will procure duplicate copies tomorrow. Am sure Boiler Inspector's reports for March and April, 1892, have not come to hand. Amounts have been deposited with City Treasurer.
> J. GURNEY, Bookkeeper.

Ald. Kent, claiming that this alleged dereliction of duty should be investigated, moved to defer the voting on the ordinance and substituted an order on the Inspector to report a statement of his office receipts at the next meeting. Ald. McGillen called attention to the fact that a stanch exponent of the administration was introducing an order asking one of the subordinates to do his plain duty. After encountering a motion to table Ald. Kent's order prevailed and action on the ordinance was deferred.

Ald. Martin made an effort to secure the passage of the ordinance opening Jackson boulevard through the Garfield Park race track, but failed. He asked for a suspension of the rules, and that the ordinance be then put on its passage. The motion to suspend was lost, 36 to 19, and the measure went to the Committee on Streets and Alleys West. This action is considered as virtually shelving the ordinance.

Scavenger Contract Investigation Asked.

Ald. Haynes called up the threatened investigation into the methods of the Health Department in letting scavenger contracts to other than the lowest bidders. He secured the passage of an order requiring the Health Commissioner to explain why he employed this method. The announcement of the successful bidders for municipal scavenger work will be found elsewhere.

Ald. Kunz introduced an order that caused some surprise, being as it passed a mandate on the Building Commissioner to issue a permit. It reads as follows:

> Ordered that the Commissioner of Buildings be and is hereby directed to issue a permit to Michael Malloch to complete the building situated at No. 15 Luce street, in course of erection.

After the meeting Ald. Kunz said a bow window was all that was involved.

Ald. Coughlin's massage-bath ordinance was made a special order of business for next meeting, and the Beach Pneumatic Conveyor company ordinance was subjected to a like rule.

A Passage-at-Arms.

The amenities which sometimes vary the dreary routine of Council proceedings were varied by Ald. Wall and Ald. Kent, the incident indicating that the "combine" on ordinances is not working as smoothly as it might. It all came about in this way:

Ald. Wall sent up an order directing the Commissioner of Public Works to order the Corcoran Coal company to move back its shed three feet and six inches from the Archer avenue line.

"Streets and Alleys South," cried Ald. Kent.

"Move the suspension of rules to put the ordinance on its passage," said Ald. Wall. "You'd better mind your own business. The shed is sixteen feet in the street."

"We want to see if this is a move to give the Alton road room for another track," replied Ald. Kent. His motion to refer to the Committee on Streets and Alleys South prevailed.

The trouble over the change of the line of St. Lawrence avenue was settled by the passage of an ordinance establishing the line as it at present exists and providing for condemnation proceedings to acquire the land needed.

The Committee on Street Transportation was ordered to report what progress it had made in view of the fact that Halsted street viaduct had been closed for three months. Ald. Gosselin sent up the order and the matter was referred to the committee.

Ald. Noble called up the cross-town ordinances passed March 21, in which the time for the South Side company to accept two franchises for South Halsted and Fifty-seventh streets separately was limited to thirty days. He said the other ordinances allowed ninety days' acceptance time, and he asked that the two in question be amended to agree with the rest. The Council passed the amendments by a unanimous vote.

A resolution urging the passage of the Illinois Central track elevation ordinance indorsed by the East Side Improvement Association was referred to the committee on streets and Alleys South.

In compliance with a resolution passed at the last meeting calling for the appointment of a special committee of fifteen to have charge of World's Fair matters exclusive of the bonds, Ald. Madden, who presided, named the following members to serve: Ald. Gahan, Hepburn, Mahoney, Noble, Powers, Bidwill, O'Brien (6th), Swift, Biegler, Keats, Sexton, Muelhoefer, and McGillen.

WHY HE WANTS O'SULLIVAN TO LIVE.

William S. Forrest Explains Some Matters in Connection with the Trial.

"The suggestion that there is a movement on foot to apply for a pardon for O'Sullivan has never been dreamed of," said William S. Forrest yesterday. "No such application will be made under any circumstances. I hope with all my heart that he will live, as I am going to get a new trial of the case, and Pat is the only man who can testify on one end of the case—his reason for making that contract with Dr. Cronin."

"Why did you keep him off the stand in the trial?" Mr. Forrest was asked.

"The question assumes that I alone did it," said Mr. Forrest. "Mr. Donahoe, O'Sullivan's attorney, and I together kept him from the witness stand. Mr. Donahoe advised O'Sullivan not to take the witness stand. O'Sullivan, however, was determined to testify and he asked my advice. I told him I agreed with Mr. Donahoe and gave him substantially the following reasons therefor:

"1. Five jurors, Corke, North, Marlor, Bontecou, and Clark had answered during the examination as to their competency as jurors that they had formed the following decided opinion: That O'Sullivan was guilty; that O'Sullivan's co-defendants, except Beggs and Kunze, were guilty: that O'Sullivan had conspired to murder Dr. Cronin; that he made a contract for the purpose of using it as a means of enticing the doctor to his death in the Carlson cottage; that the doctor was murdered in the cottage on the night of May 4; that the doctor was tried, condemned, and put to death by a committee of Camp 20; that Dinan's horse and buggy were hired by Daniel Coughlin for the purpose of taking the doctor to the Carlson cottage to be murdered, and that the Clan-na-Gael was a combination to commit murder.

"2. Those five jurors and also other jurors answered that they would disregard the testimony of a Clan-na-Gael. Numerous witnesses for O'Sullivan to essential matters and circumstances in O'Sullivan's defense, were necessarily members of the Clan-na-Gael. O'Sullivan was also a member.

"3. Several witnesses against O'Sullivan had sworn, he told me, to what was false. My acquaintance with the case, my knowledge of human nature, and of the value of the results of cross-examination, made me believe his statements.

"4. There was a popular determination to hang him. Witnesses for the defense had been intimidated by the press, unintentionally of course, but nevertheless intimidated, and were unwilling to appear.

"5. I was convinced that any judgment which might be obtained would certainly be reversed because of the substantial errors which had been committed, and because of the perjury which was manifest in the testimony.

"6. The jurors eagerly drank in testimony tending to show guilt, and listened with a look of suspicion and distrust to a witnesses for the defense.

"7. I remarked in the hearing of the jury that the prosecution could obtain witnesses to testify that my clients walked along the ceiling of the court-room, or across the surface of Lake Michigan. The most ridiculous stories were received with delight because of the excitement, and, I suppose, of the imaginary extent and power of the Clan-na-Gael organization.

"8. The opening statement of the State's-Attorney officially informed the jurors that he knew O'Sullivan and his codefendants to be assassins, robbers, and perjurers; that the Clan-na-Gael organization was oathbound to do murder and arson at the command of the 'triangle,' and also to commit perjury in order to obtain the acquittal of their fellow-members.

"For all these reasons I was of opinion and so advised Mr. O'Sullivan that it was useless for him to go upon the witness-stand to give his testimony; that he would not under any circumstances be credited; that if he made a truthful, connected, consistent, and probable statement it would be ascribed to his skill as a perjurer. No well trained lawyer puts a man upon the stand as a matter of sentiment or merely for the purpose of rebutting the false inference, sometimes drawn by persons 'unsifted in perilous circumstances,' that a man is guilty because he does not take the witness-stand."

"But if O'Sullivan were innocent he might have cleared himself if he had testified?"

"It was impossible to convince that jury of his innocence. It was convinced of his guilt before the trial. The trial was a mere inquisition for evidence."

CHILDREN REVOLT AGAINST A TEACHER.

They Refuse to Attend School When a Change Is Ordered.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—[Special.]—Because Principal Caskey of the Vaughn Grammar School, in the Eighteenth Ward, was removed and Mr. Ballentine put in his place 500 of the pupils revolted today and refused to go into the school. They gathered in front of the building this morning, and the air resounded with shouts for "Caskey" and "down with Ballentine." The janitor was the first sufferer. When he took out his key and attempted to put it in the keyhole of the door he discovered that every keyhole in the building was plugged with plaster of paris. The young Anarchists gathered on the opposite side of the street from the school and awaited the arrival of the new principal.

Mr. Ballentine appeared, accompanied by Director Alexander Adair, the Rev. Dr. Hunter, and Dr. Down, who had decided to hold a little celebration in honor of his assumption of office. Then came the explosion. "Down with Ballentine; he's no good. Caskey or nothing; give us Caskey," and similar shouts were emitted by the scholars. Controller Adair made a speech and received eggs and stones in reply. Policemen were sent for, and the children who refused to come in were driven off. In the afternoon the parents of the young Anarchists were appealed to and the children were driven into school.

Issued Warrant and Requisition.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The Governor today issued a warrant on the requisition of the Governor of Missouri for Frank Masonie, alias Fayneen, wanted in St. Louis for grand larceny and under arrest in Chicago; also a requisition on the Governor of California for John B. Tempe, wanted in Quincy for embezzlement and in custody at Salinas City, Cal.

Mortgages at Fort Scott, Kas.

FORT SCOTT, Kas., May 2.—[Special.]—Register of Deeds Inury issued his bulletin today, which shows that the farm mortgages released during the month of April, 1892, amount to $28,665; farm mortgages recorded, $19,809, 30 per cent of which is for purchase money; amount of city mortgages recorded, $25,680; city mortgages released, $15,272. Almost 40 per cent of the mortgages recorded on city property was for purchase money.

LOADS MADE LIGHT.

STRANGERS IN DISTRESS MADE GRATEFUL FOR NEEDED AID.

Unfortunate Wallace H. Betts on His Way to England and Mrs. Costigan, with Her Children Restored, Bound for Friends in the East—Her Letter of Thanks to Those Who Helped Her—Misery, Squalor, and Destitution in Several Chicago Homes—What Investigation Showed.

Wallace H. Betts, the Englishman who is afflicted with progressive blindness, and whose story was printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of April 17, has left for his home in England, where he has friends to care for him.

The story of Mr. Betts' life has been a sad one, and the possibilities in store for the future are now better. He had been in Chicago for three years in an attempt to retrieve his lost fortune, but the eye disease with which he suffered deprived him of the little business he had and made self-support impossible. He is a graduate of a German university and a son of a once wealthy Englishman, who was cheated out of his property during an enforced absence for business reasons. After the death of the father, which was thought to have been hastened by his misfortunes, Mr. Betts came to Chicago.

The story of his hopeless condition aroused the pity of many Englishmen resident in Chicago. The First National Bank offered to receive subscriptions to pay the expenses of his trip home to relatives, who are both willing and able to care for him. A sum sufficient to pay his passage and other expenses was secured and Mr. Betts was started on his journey yesterday, a grateful, and, for one so afflicted, a happy man.

Another Unfortunate Made Happy.

Mrs. Costigan is on her way East. Mrs. Costigan is the woman whose children were attacked with diphtheria two days after her arrival in Chicago from San Francisco. Mrs. Costigan arrived in Chicago five weeks ago with her four children, ranging in age from 6 months to 9 years. Her husband had died in California only a few weeks before and she had started for her old home in Brooklyn. She found, however, that her money would not be sufficient for the entire trip and so stopped in Chicago until she could receive a remittance from home. Before it could arrive three of her children were stricken with diphtheria. She was alone and penniless when THE TRIBUNE learned of her condition. The day following the publication of the story a large sum of money was sent by members of the Board of Trade to THE TRIBUNE office for her relief.

The Health Commissioner took cognizance of the cases of diphtheria and sent two of the children to the County Hospital. Dr. Lyston H. Montgomery took the other case in hand and soon had the little girl up. The two children at the hospital were carried safely through the crisis and were discharged cured last Friday.

The money sent to THE TRIBUNE paid all the expenses of the long illness and enough was left to take the mother and children East. Through the efforts of the County Agent's office reduced rates of passage were obtained over the Grand Trunk.

Her Letter of Thanks.

I was a stranger in your city and in my dark hour of trouble I was desolate, friendless, and penniless, and my children were lying at death's door. I felt that I soon would be childless as well as widowed. Though the money collected by you through your paper was of vital assistance, I feel my gratitude was intensified by the courteous treatment I received.

Now that my children are restored and our present trials ended (through your kind efforts on our behalf), I find no words to fully express the heartfelt gratitude I feel towards the Board of Trade members, the Health and County Agents' office, your reporters, and THE TRIBUNE.

MRS. H. COSTIGAN.

Amid the intense and reckless activity of Chicago there is idleness enforced, and amid its wealth and moneyed splendor there are squalor and destitution to harrow the heart. Little of it comes to light, for generally the sufferers who most need aid are either too helpless or ignorant or proud to make their conditions known. The following letters to THE TRIBUNE indicate the helplessness that suffers in silence:

CHICAGO, May 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—At No. 173 Liberty street, a few doors east of Halsted, there lives an elderly woman with her two grandchildren, whose misery has come to light by mere chance, as she has not begged. Thus far the neighbors have contributed to her support from time to time, and their fate is really little better than hers. The mother of the two little ones is at the Michael Reese Hospital, and they in their poor quarters are virtually without fuel or food or clothing. If any charitably-inclined parties would look into the matter the undersigned is sure that they would find it worthy of assistance. SUE C.

CHICAGO, May 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—At No. 334 Austin avenue there is a family that needs help, and if THE TRIBUNE asked for help in the case I am sure they will get it. The father has been paralyzed from the waist down for the last nine months. The mother and two boys 5 and 4 years old do not have enough to eat, as her earnings go to pay the rent. If THE TRIBUNE looks them up it will find a very deserving case of charity. S. W. C.

What an Investigation Showed.

A reporter was sent to investigate the stories and found them far more miserable than represented. He found other cases also that were equally, if not more, distressing.

At No. 173 Liberty street, in a rickety room in the rear of the second floor, was the grandmother, Mrs. Caplan, a wan and weak old woman, with her sick daughter's babe in her arms and a little girl by her side. There was no fire in the room and scarcely any furniture. The grandfather tried to earn bread for his wife and grandchildren, but age and sickness made the task a hopeless one many a day. The neighbors, most of whom have to struggle for the necessaries of life themselves, assisted the aged couple and helpless little ones all they could. It is a Jewish neighborhood, and none of them seemed to know that there was a County Agent who might give assistance.

Among the neighbors who have been most generous in aiding the Caplan and other destitute people on the street is Mrs. Jacob Cohen, whose hands are as helpful as her sympathies are strong, and she led the reporter to a place, No. [illegible] Liberty street, where he witnessed a scene of destitution much more pitiable than that of the Caplan family. It was in a cellar. A woman about 35 years old, and once handsome, was sitting on the side of a bed watching a babe about a week old. The mother was sick and despair was written on her features. The floor of the cellar was wet and the air dank, the rain of Sunday having flooded the floor. With the exception of the bed, a little, old fireless stove, and a chair there was no furniture in the room. This forlorn woman's name is Mrs. Sachs, and her story is a sad one. She is one of the victims of the present Russian persecution of her race. Lieut. Kelley of the Maxwell Street Station telephoned the County Agent and relief will be sent to the poor woman today.

The Austin Avenue Case.

The case in Austin avenue is almost as pitiable as the foregoing. Louis Klinkenberg lies paralyzed in bed with rheumatism in a basement room in the rear of No. 334. For nine months he has been helpless and suffering. His wife tries to support him and their three little children by washing, but she finds the task an unequal one. He has no physician, for he cannot pay one. They were yesterday without food or coal.

MINISTERS TALK OF STREET-CLEANING.

Interesting Meeting at the Belden Avenue Baptist Church.

Two hundred men, with a sprinkling of women, were present at the ministers' meeting at the Belden Avenue Baptist Church last night to consider the subject of cleaning the streets in the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-fifth Wards. The ministers present were: The Rev. J. M. Barbour, the Rev. R. D. White, the Rev. David Beaton, and the Rev. P. Krohn.

James M. Burke, Superintendent of Streets, made a speech, in the course of which he said:

"We have only $280,000 a year for cleaning the streets and that will not do it. They must be cleaned with funds raised by special assessment. The property of these wards will rent for enough more money to pay it. Streets north of North avenue are cleaned only four times a year. The pavement rots. Enough could be saved on paving alone to pay the assessments. It is impossible for any city officer to get assistance from the Aldermen. The citizens must see the Aldermen. The streets can be cleaned once every two days, leaving out three winter months, and sprinkled three times a day for $1.25 for twenty-five feet front a year. If the citizens will pay this by special assessment I will appoint such men to look after it as they may suggest. It now costs $23.50 a year a mile to clean the streets up here. The reason it is so costly is that the refuse has to be hauled so far. There is favoritism shown in the placing of the money, the down-town districts getting more than their share. The wards that have live Aldermen get what they want."

The Rev. Mr. Barbour told about a contractor who would clean the streets for 20 cents a front foot.

Several speakers scored the Health Department for not cleaning the garbage boxes in the alleys.

M. C. Robinson said that he did not think the street cleaning could be done legally by special assessment because such work did not come under the head of public improvement. The money would go down to the City Hall and that would be the last of it. His plan was to have the citizens collect the money and pay for the work themselves.

The ministers looked aghast as Mr. Burke replied to Mr. Robinson, saying:

"Great Scott! I know what I am talking about. The money can't go anywhere but for what the assessment calls."

The Rev. Mr. Beaton thought the city was on the border of a great municipal reform and that other wards would follow the lead of the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-fifth Wards.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we favor the special assessment plan for cleaning the streets in the Twentieth, Twenty-first, and Twenty-fifth Wards, and request our Aldermen to do all in their power to secure the passage of the pending ordinance relating to the matter and any other ordinance that may be necessary in the premises.

Resolved, That a committee of five from each of the wards named be appointed by the ministers to see that the resolutions are carried out, and such other reforms attended to as seem necessary.

TARRED AND FEATHERED THE WRITER.

Indignant Citizens of Oshkosh Meet at a Barber-Shop and Avenge Insults.

OSHKOSH, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—One of the most sensational incidents that has happened in this city in years occurred this evening. Frank J. Victoris, correspondent for a Chicago publication, was tarred and feathered. Several weeks ago this paper first made its appearance in this city. Its several editions since then have been filled with hints and charges of scandal against some of the best known and influential residents of the place, both men and women. Every effort was made to discover the correspondent. It was finally proved to be Victoris, a barber aged about 25 years. A number of aggrieved persons visited his shop this evening about 9 o'clock and accused him of having written the obnoxious letters. At first he denied it, but finally confessed. He was then stripped and the tar and feathers applied. The ringleaders were all business and professional men whose character had been attacked. The crowd numbered several hundred. The police did not interfere. Victoris was ordered to leave town immediately.

KILLED BY A BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

Alexander Melton Stricken Down and His Wife Paralyzed at Their Door.

LINCOLN, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—A remarkable and deadly bolt of lightning struck the home of Alexander Melton today in West Lincoln, killing Melton, injuring his wife so that she will die, and shocking Mrs. Perkins, sister of Mrs. Melton, and her husband. Isaac Perkins and Mr. and Mrs Melton were standing in an open doorway, Mrs. Melton's right arm resting on her husband's shoulder, his left arm around her waist. The bolt descended down the brick, knocked the plastering off the walls, scattered in four directions, and made apertures as large as a cannon ball would. Melton was burned from head to feet. His clothes were on fire when help reached him. Mrs. Melton is paralyzed on the right side, and her agony is awful to behold. Her death is momentarily expected. This is the worst destruction of life and property ever reported in Logan County.

BEDFORD, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—The residence of Riley Fodrill was entirely demolished and his wife fatally injured by lightning during a thunder-storm this afternoon.

MUSKEGON, Mich., May 2.—[Special.]—C. H. Hackley today donated $10,000 to the Methodists of Michigan to build an auditorium at their assembly grounds at Lake Harbor. Other citizens at a public meeting tonight gave $5,000 for the same purpose. The assembly will be planned after the Chautauqua and Bayview.

PROGRAM OF CULLOM'S FRIENDS.

[For list of delegates to the State Republican convention see eighth page.]

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—All the serious candidates for State offices have arrived and have opened headquarters, and the delegates are pouring in, the leaders coming first. The morning train from Chicago brought down George S. Willits, candidate for Congressman-at-large, who, with the unanimous indorsement of Chicago, appears to have a clear field. He is assured of the nomination on all sides, as one of the Congressmen-at-large is conceded to Chicago. Joel M. Longenecker, the residuary legatee of the Cullom boom, also came down this morning accompanied by some of those who were supporters of Judge Collins last week, and who are now singing the State's-Attorney's praises. These were followed in the afternoon by Dorsey, Patton, and Seth F. Crews of Hyde Park. They talked Longenecker in the Leland corridors in the afternoon, but did not find a large audience.

BASSETT'S BIG BOOM

BASSETT BRINGS IN HIS BOOM.

The nomination for Governor is conceded to Fifer; even the Cullom men have given up the fight against him. Attorney-General Hunt, who was never seriously in the race for Governor, announced his withdrawal this morning. As it was said that his delegates favored Fifer it was thought that Hunt would seek the aid of the Fifer men to make him one of the delegates-at-large. Overtures in that direction met with a chilly reception. But Hunt is out, and from the fact that Collins has given up the headquarters rented for him here and which are now occupied by young Dick Yates, candidate for Congressman-at-large, it is taken for granted that he (Collins) has followed the advice of Senator Humphrey and will not come to Springfield to urge his candidacy. Horace S. Clark is yet in the field, but does not seem encouraged.

MR. WILLITS ARRIVES EARLY IN THE MORNING.

Clark's Friends Considering a Stampede.

There was a rumor in the morning that Mr. Clark's friends, after the nomination of Fifer for Governor Wednesday or Thursday, would try to stampede the convention for his (Clark's) nomination for Congressman-at-large, as the Democratic convention was stampeded last week for Black and for Hunter.

HORACE CLARK AND GEN. HUNT IN CONCLAVE.

It was also intimated that Mr. Longenecker might profit by this line of policy. There is no doubt that such a plan was contemplated. It was disclosed too early, and there is now no possible chance to give it effect. Mr. Willits' nomination for Congressman-at-large is as well assured as that of Fifer for Governor.

There will hardly be any opposition worth mentioning, but for the second place there will be a sharp fight.

Mr. Yates is making an active canvass and is a favorite with the young men, who will be numerous in the convention. Gen. Rinaker's location is in his favor, and the old veterans of the party are working for him with a will. All of ex-Gov. Oglesby's former lieutenants are shouting for Rinaker, and the Cook County men feel very kindly toward him. This will probably decide it in favor of the older man. The nomination of Mr. Willits for Congressman-at-large will shut out Senator Fuller of Boone, who is, moreover, antagonized by some of the delegates from his own district.

Mr. Hertz arrived here this afternoon, accompanied by Sheriff Gilbert, William Lorimer, Senator Knopf, Ald. Bidwill, and immediately opened up headquarters on the second floor of the Leland.

Cannon May Be Chairman.

The Temporary Chairman of the convention will be Congressman Hopkins of the Fifth District. His name was suggested three or four months ago and was satisfactory at that time to all of the candidates for Governor then in the field. There is little doubt but the State Central committee will tender him this marked compliment, and the disposition appears to make him the Permanent Chairman as well. This will hardly occur, however, as ex-Congressman Cannon came in this afternoon and his appearance caused his friends to suggest his name for the Permanent Chairmanship. The idea seems to have met with general favor, although Congressman Cannon was similarly honored at a convention held in this city a few years ago. Possibly the fact that the Fifteenth District will have little or no representation on the State ticket, according to the drift of the tide, will turn the tide in Cannon's favor.

Nor will the Republicans follow the example of the Democrats and rush through the long routine of business before the convention in the hours intervening between 2 in the afternoon and midnight. The Democrats accomplished this feat, but did it in a bungling manner. Their platform was hastily considered, and Altgeld's friends were afraid that if an adjournment or recess until the following day was taken it would lead to the defeat of their candidate. The call for the Democratic convention was for two days, as is the case with that of the Republican. Everybody here seems to think that the convention will, after effecting a temporary organization and sending out its committees, take an adjournment over until Thursday morning, when it will complete its work in a leisurely, comprehensive, and decent manner. No ill-advised or hastily constructed platform will be indorsed by this convention, and the Committee on Resolutions will take a great deal of time for the consideration of the work before it.

What the Platform Will Contain.

The platform will in all probability declare in favor of the repeal of the Compulsory Education law, because it has been made in some portions of the State the instrument of injustice and prejudice, but it will at the same time declare in favor of the principle of compulsory education and the passage of an act embodying that principle.

The Administration of President Harrison will be enthusiastically indorsed. The firm and dignified course of the State Department in the Chilean and Bering Sea questions will be heartily commended. The doctrine and principles of reciprocity will be sustained. Their extension will be recommended and it will be urged that their scope be enlarged in the interest of commercial progress. An amendment of the Constitution permitting the reënactment of the laws in favor of the working people which Gov. Fifer approved last session and were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court will be recommended for submission to the people. The policy of protection as embodied in the McKinley bill, modified so as to favor the admission of raw material free where it will not conflict with American industrial enterprises, will be reaffirmed.

The enactment of a National eight-hour law and the creation of a Department of Labor with representation in the Cabinet will be urged. The Free-Wool bill of the Democracy will be condemned as partial in its effect and hurtful to an important industry of the State, and the Democratic Congress will be criticised for its failure to act on its platform declaration in favor of the repeal of the existing Tariff law or its serious modification. Gov. Fifer's Administration will be most heartily and emphatically indorsed in terms of the most unequivocal nature. There is every indication to believe that the course of Senator Cullom will also meet the hearty approval of the committee and of the convention as well. Nor will the actions of the Democracy, together with their allies Moore and Cockrell go unnoticed. A clause will probably be included in the platform arraigning in scathing language the "immortal 103" for their conduct during the last Senatorial fight.

Will Be a Large Gathering.

It will be the biggest convention the Republicans have held in this State since 1880. Twelve hundred delegates will be seated on the floor, and the crowd already coming into the city warrants the belief that no such convention as this was ever before seen in Illinois. The hotels are filling up already and hundreds of delegates and visitors must either be accommodated with sleeping apartments in private residences or lay out in the State House Park.

Cook County is represented by Sheriff Gilbert, Dr. Jamieson, Ald. Bidwill, James Pease, Chris Strassheim, Perry A. Hull, Dorsey Patton, O. W. Nash, and Billy Lorimer, while Sam B. Raymond, George B. Swift, and others will follow in the morning. Many of the leaders of the party from the State at large are already here. Gen. Rinaker came in at noon, as did also a delegation from Peoria, headed by Isaac Edwards, one of the brightest minds in the Republican League. The Egyptians always come early. J. J. Brown of Fayette and "Comrade" Barger of the Wabash got here by daylight this morning. John R. Tanner is on the ground, and will be on the floor of the convention at the head of the delegation from Clay County.

Gen. Pavey is gathering in his friends, particularly those from Jefferson County. He has reinforced himself with the Strattans—father and son—and is getting a good ready to maintain his stand at the public crib. George Prince and A. W. Berggren of Knox are here, and so is J. M. Truitt, Prince's rival candidate for the Attorney-Generalship. Richard Yates Jr. came in at noon-time and took the big parlor on the Leland floor immediately opposite the dining-room. Across the hall in front thereof is swung out a big banner with the inscription thereon, "Dick Yates' Headquarters." These are but a few of the many Republicans who have this early come to the city. Thousands of others will be on the late trains tonight and those of the early morning.

Where Cullom Will Come In.

The county conventions in the counties composing the Thirteenth Congressional District have instructed their delegates to the State convention to vote for and use their best efforts to secure the nomination of W. W. Tracy as one of the eight delegates-at-large. Now, however, the friends of Senator Cullom in this city and throughout the State propose that he shall be taken as a delegate-at-large. He resides in the Thirteenth District and his selection would probably mean the exclusion of Mr. Tracy.

Mr. Tracy's friends naturally object to the plans and policies of Mr. Cullom's friends. They will insist that the delegates from the Thirteenth District act in accordance with the instructions which appointed them. If they do there is little doubt that Mr. Tracy will be one of the national delegates-at-large and this may result in the defeat of Mr. Cullom's aspirations and the plans of the Federal office-holders who are trying to manipulate the convention in his behalf.

Pavey's Friends Are Disgruntled.

Some of the friends of Gen. Pavey are much disgruntled because there are friends of Gov. Fifer who prefer the nomination of Stassen for Auditor. These Pavey men are tonight threatening that they will support Longenecker for Governor. Seth Crews and Dorsey Patton, the Longenecker lieutenants, are much elated at these threats, but as a matter of fact Pavey has no votes that he can deliver to any candidate. Some of the delegates instructed for him are anxious to break away. They will if Pavey is not nominated on the first ballot and the chances are that he will not be.

The Fifer men are not in the least frightened by the threats of Charley Strattan and the other Pavey men. They have enough votes to nominate Fifer even if Pavey takes away his entire following. They have enough votes, too, to nominate Stassen for Auditor, and they may do that. Charles Allen of Vermilion is here tonight and announces that he is yet in the race for Auditor. His friends think he may be the lucky dark horse.

Bassett's Opposition to Hertz.

The opposition to Hertz is now centering around Senator Bassett, but there is hardly a doubt that Mr. Hertz will be nominated. A colored employé of the County Clerk's office has been here all day telling such of the delegates as have arrived that the colored people will not vote for Hertz because of the verdict of the Coroner's jury in the Lizzie Gaughan case about five years ago. No attention was paid to the colored man's harangues, and in the evening he desisted and went to the reception of the colored delegates. He made no impression against Hertz. Mr. Bassett does not as a consequence feel at all encouraged over his prospects. Hertz will have 75 per cent of the delegates in the convention.

The big fight will be over the Auditorship. Mr. H. H. Stassen, the Will County candidate for this office, arrived this afternoon, accompanied by Maj. Woods of Joliet, Capt. McIntosh, and Mr. Marshall, Chairman of the Will County delegation. They started in at once to boom Mr. Stassen and made many converts. Mr. Stassen is an excellent candidate. Though a German by birth, he talks English fluently, makes a good appearance, and comports himself like a gentleman. He is willing to accept the nomination and make the canvass, but on the distinct understanding that he will only take such salary as the law allows and will eschew all forms of fee-hooking. The farmer delegates here are impressed by Mr. Stassen.

Stassen Will Get Cook County Votes.

Most of the Cook County delegates will vote for him, though Charley Stratton, a nephew of Mr. Pavey, is trying to give a different impression. Stratton is a delegate from the Twenty-fourth Ward, but he was put on with the distinct understanding that he will vote as the majority of the delegates from the county decide. They will decide against Pavey and for Stassen. The North Side delegation will, in fact, be a unit for Stassen. Mr. Pavey has made no defense of the serious charges of salary-grabbing and fee-hooking made against him and the fact is seriously affecting his chances. If he succeeds it will be because he is more adept at wire-pulling and at making combinations than Mr. Stassen's friends. The opposition to the renomination of Pearson for Secretary of State has died out and will hardly be heard of again.

But there is no certainty about the Lieutenant-Governorship or the Attorney-Generalship. Both Mr. Ray and Mr. Prince appear to be in the lead, the former for Lieutenant-Governor and the latter for Attorney-General. But geographical and other considerations may affect their chances. Gen. Pavey's friends are trying to save their man by bringing out a German-American for Lieutenant-Governor. They talk of Gen. Kueffner for that office; also for the post of Attorney-General, but it is said that Kueffner would accept neither.

The fact is that Mr. Stassen is the only German-American candidate who has a considerable backing for any office. He is a representative man. It is conceded that his nomination would add strength to the ticket. If the convention wisely decides to give the German-Americans representation among the nominees Mr. Stassen will be one of them.

The Majority Is Too Confident.

One of the dangers of the situation here grows out of the fact that the majority is too confident, and that some of the candidates, assured of a nomination at this time, are too ready to yield everything after they are made the nominees in favor of surface harmony. The Fifer-Hertz-Willitts men will be three-fourths of the delegates to the convention. They can shape its course, its platform, and govern in the selection of the delegates-at-large. Will they utilize their opportunities or will they, following the example of the Palmer majority in the Democratic convention last week, allow themselves to be utilized by the minority captained by some Republican Goudy?

The minority set in the Republican convention will be the Cullom men. They are astute, active, tireless, unrelenting. Their Goudy is on the way from Chicago here. Many of his lieutenants are already on the ground plotting and planning for the capture of the Committee on Resolutions, the Committee on Permanent Organization, and the committee to select delegates-at-large to the national convention. They are willing to throw the other husks to the majority. They cannot defeat Fifer or Hertz or Willitts. They will vote for those candidates to disarm suspicion, to throw the majority off its guard, but will be all the time plotting and planning to obtain the best things in the gift of the convention. Through the manipulation of Long Jones and Secretary Partridge they will have the temporary organization of the convention, and, it may be, the permanent organization as well.

Program of the Cullom Men.

They are preparing to pack the Committee on Resolutions and on the selection of delegates with Cullom men. They want a Cullom platform to force on the convention, one that will laud Cullom's services; make a complimentary reference to Fifer's administration, and do such other things as the Federal office-holders under instructions from Washington will seek to have done. Mr. Cullom wants to head the Illinois delegation at Minneapolis. He will not be satisfied with a place among the delegates-at-large. He wants to appear in the rôle of boss and leader and deliverer of the Illinois delegation.

All the members of the Springfield regency are working actively, silently, assiduously, and as one man to secure Cullom's nomination for the leadership he seeks. They are utilizing some of Fifer's friends to this end.

They are confident that they will have a majority of the committee to select delegates-at-large and can do as they please. And the leaders of the majority seem to be strangely inert while the bosses of the minority are thus active.

The minority bosses already give it out that Cook County must not expect more than three of the eight delegates-at-large. If Cook County should be represented at Minneapolis on the basis of number of voters, it would be entitled to at least fourteen delegates. With four delegates-at-large, it will have only twelve delegates. It is proposed to reduce this number to eleven, in order that the Springfield regency may control the delegation as a whole.

There was a conference of the Fifer men tonight at which a plan of organization was agreed upon. There will be concert of action during the preliminary work and until the convention adjourns. What the policy is to be it is as yet too early to indicate. Ex-Gov. Oglesby seems to be the choice of the Fifer men in all parts of the State to lead the Illinois delegation in the National convention, and his selection is considered certain. The Longenecker men here claim to have had word from Chicago tonight to the effect that Judge Collins will not come here at all. Longenecker is therefore assuring himself that he will have the entire Collins following. It is also intimated that Asa Matthews and his friends are going to the support of Cook County's State's-Attorney. Longenecker and Matthews have had a conference this evening, and it now seems certain that the entire opposition to Fifer will go to Longenecker.

NORTHCOTE IS NOMINATED.

Republicans of the Eighteenth District Name Him—Are for Harrison.

ALTON, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The Republican Congressional convention here today placed W. A. Northcote of Bond County in nomination for Congressman from the Eighteenth District. The nomination was made on the first ballot, which stood—Northcote, 61; McCasland, 20. The delegates to the State and National conventions were instructed for President Harrison, whose administration was heartily indorsed. The resolutions also indorse the McKinley tariff law; oppose free silver coinage; favor the modification of the Compulsory School law and indorse Senator Cullom.

Mr. Northcote's speech at the close of the convention was a genuine surprise, keeping the house in roars of laughter and applause. The delegates chosen to the National convention are: J. T. McCasland of St. Clair, and Louis Krughoff of Washington.

Democratic Contest in the Fifth.

QUINCY, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The Democratic convention of this, the Twelfth, Congressional District, meets in Jerseyville tomorrow. There are four candidates, Congressman Scott Wike of Pike County, ex-Congressman George A. Anderson of Adams, J. M. Ward of Greene, and John McDonald of Brown. There will be seventy-five votes in the convention, divided as follows: Adams, 24; Brown, 6; Green, 11; Calhoun, 3; Scott, 4; Jersey, 7; Pike, 12; Cass, 7. Adams has instructed for Anderson, Greene for Ward, Brown for McDonald, and Calhoun for Scott, Jersey and Pike for Wike. Cass is uninstructed, but the delegates are for Wike. It will require 38 votes to nominate and as all four of the candidates are in the fight to stay the chances are good for a deadlock. Col. W. R. Morrison's hand is seen in an endeavor, in the event that Wike cannot be nominated, to make Ward his successor.

IS A CRITICAL WEEK.

ITS IMPORTANCE IN THE ELECTION OF DELEGATES.

Administration People Feel Anxious—Southern Contests Inaugurated—How Northern Delegates Are Necessary—Blaine Sentiment Checked Harrison Instructions in the Northwest—Crafts Says Palmer's Name Will Be Presented to the National Convention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Administration folks are getting disgusted with the evidences of an organized opposition to President Harrison's renomination. They have just found out that throughout the South, where Federal patronage has given them the delegates without much trouble, contests have been organized for the purpose of putting in anti-Harrison delegates. They say all this is a scheme to discredit the President's Southern support and to defeat his renomination on the ground that the great States like New York, which really elect Presidents, are not for him. It looks as though there was a guiding hand somewhere in the opposition movement in the Southern States. Republican conventions have never given much credit to Presidential candidates whose main support came from States in which there was no possibility of getting the Electoral vote. When he was nominated in 1888 Gen. Harrison had few supporters among the Southern delegates. His success was due to the strength he developed in the doubtful States of Indiana and New York. The plan of the opponents of the administration seems to be to show that, even if the President has an apparent majority of delegates, they come from the South, with an occasional addition like Nebraska or possibly Illinois. Against this they argue that the judgment of the delegates from the East and the Northwest will revolt, and that a candidate will be sought who can command the support of those sections of the country which are necessary to the election of a Republican President.

It may be said that the administration takes the view that something more than a majority of delegates is necessary. The President's supporters have no idea of going into the Minneapolis convention and forcing his nomination by a mere majority. They think it desirable that he should be nominated by at least two-thirds, or, better still, by acclamation.

The present is the critical week for the administration. The lack of positive support in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio has proven the great drawback. The administration had been hopeful of getting instructions in Minnesota. This seemed likely till the revival of the Blaine sentiment stopped the movement. The Northwestern States will not instruct for Harrison because they think it might turn out that Secretary Blaine will be a candidate.

The administration people are reasonably hopeful of clinching their hold on Illinois this week. They rely largely on Senator Cullom. Their argument is that as several of the district conventions in Illinois have instructed for Harrison it will be the right thing for the State convention to instruct the delegates-at-large. In that way, they say, the Illinois delegation would be compact and influential at Minneapolis. It is a long time since Indiana has shown so much regard for Illinois. Senator Cullom expects to head the delegation, though he will not go out to Springfield to attend the convention. He is openly favoring instructions for Harrison. Said the Senator this afternoon: "I withdrew because the sentiment of my State seemed to be for President Harrison's renomination. That being the sentiment, I do not see why the convention should not instruct for Harrison."

ILLINOIS WILL PRESENT PALMER.

Clayton E. Crafts Thinks It Will "Be Expedient to Come West."

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Delegate Clayton E. Crafts is in Washington. He says he is on his way to visit relatives in New Haven and merely stopped over in Washington to arrange a free-delivery service for his Town of Austin. He brings the first full report of the proceedings by which the Cleveland-Morrison combination crippled Palmer's boom and has given the idea to the politicians here that Cleveland will not have the support of the Illinois delegation; that in accordance with the language of the resolution it will be deemed expedient to go to the West for a candidate, and Palmer's name will be presented. The ground taken will be that, as Iowa puts forth Boies for the first place, this opens the field for Western candidates, and Illinois cannot afford to keep Palmer in the background. Delegate Crafts was asked today whether the Illinois delegation would give Grover Cleveland a vote. "I do not know that Cleveland's name will be presented to the convention," was his reply. Nevertheless it is believed that before he returns to Chicago Mr. Crafts will find his way to the office of the ex-President and have the satisfaction of a personal interview.

REVOLTING AGAINST RING RULE.

Probability That St. Paul Will Defeat the Democratic Municipal Nominees.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 2.—[Special.]—St. Paul is witnessing the hottest city political campaign in its history. It is a popular revolt against Democratic ring rule. The Democratic majority is from 2,500 to 3,000, but it is conceded that the ring cannot hold anywhere near its usual heavy vote. This is due to the fact that recent disclosures in the administration of city affairs have alienated nearly every Democrat of repute in St. Paul. The city debt has increased from $5,000,000 in 1885 to over $8,000,000 in 1892, and the administration has not been able to account for this increase of $3,000,000 except by pointing to costly and unnecessary public improvements. It is found, too, that bills have been approved and paid to the Azotine company for the removal and destruction of garbage, work that has not been performed as called for by contract. Then, too, it is charged that some of the city officials sustain scandalously intimate relations with the proprietors of saloons and gambling dens. The ring has padded the registration lists with between 2,000 and 3,000 fictitious names or names of persons with fictitious residences. The candidates for Mayor are the incumbent, Robert A. Smith, Democrat, and Col. Fred P. Wright, Republican and Citizens'; for Controller, Swan A. Ponthan, Democrat, and J. J. McCardy, Republican and Citizens'.

NO INSTRUCTIONS IN CONNECTICUT.

There Is, However, a Strong Feeling for Harrison—Senate Meets and Adjourns.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 2.—[Special.]—The Republican State convention to elect delegates to Minneapolis convenes in Hartford tomorrow. Joseph L. Barbour of Hartford will be Temporary Chairman, and the proceedings will be merely preparatory to the proceedings of Wednesday. Gen. Joseph R. Hawley will be Permanent Chairman. The delegates-at-large will be Gov. Bulkeley, who will head the delegation; James P. Platt of Meriden, son of United States Senator Platt; T. Earl Hopkins, a woolen manufacturer, of Killingley; and ex-Lieut.-Gov. Lorrin A. Cook of Barkhamsted. Among convention delegates there is a strong Harrison feeling, but it is understood an unpledged delegation will be sent.

After a recess extending from early in February the Connecticut Senate reassembled today and after a short session the Democratic majority forced an adjournment to June 22. They refused to consider a letter from Gov. Bulkeley calling attention to the crippled condition of the State judiciary, owing to the failure of the Legislature to approve Executive nominations for Judges. A resolution was presented proposing to investigate agricultural societies which, although receiving State aid, sell liquor and gambling privileges on their grounds.

REPUBLICANS WERE VICTORIOUS.

Result of Town Elections Held Throughout Indiana Yesterday.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—Reports from twenty small towns holding elections today show Republican victories in each and large Republican gains. West Indianapolis elected the five Republican candidates for the first time in four years. Charter elections will be held tomorrow all over the State. Republican victories were the result of the elections in Hope, Elizabethtown, Taylorsville, Newcastle, Scottsburg, Kentland, Rochester, and Hartford City. High license won at Mitchell, the People's party at Salem, and the Democratic majority at Auburn was cut down.

DE YOUNG AND FELTON FIGHTING.

Preliminary Skirmish to Go to the Minneapolis Convention.

STOCKTON, Cal., May 2.—[Special.]—The Republican State convention, with 552 delegates, will assemble here tomorrow to choose delegates and alternates to the Minneapolis convention. There are two contests which will doubtless lead to no end of discussion. One is the senatorial fight between M. H. De Young, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and Senator Charles N. Felton. This involves still another contest between the factions of the party in San Francisco. Both De Young and Felton are in the fight for election as delegate-at-large. De Young is backed by the Kelly-Crummens faction and Felton's supporters are the Federal brigade, led by D. M. Burns. It is said that De Young has offered to withdraw if Felton will do the same, taking the Senatorial contest out of this convention, but Felton's friends refuse. Rumors are heard that Felton will withdraw as soon as he is notified of the contest, and telegrams are hourly expected from him. Kelly has a majority of the San Francisco delegation, and with De Young has put forward for Chairman of the convention Railroad Commissioner Rea of Santa Clara. The Burns faction has entered the claims of Jacob Neff Placer. There are two contests from San Francisco. If Rea is chosen Chairman Editor De Young will go to Minneapolis as a delegate-at-large, and if Neff is elected Senator Felton may have that honor.

HIGH LICENSE TO RULE AT PARIS.

The New City Council Organizes and Grants Permits to Eight Saloons.

PARIS, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The City Council here tonight organized with the Aldermen recently elected and immediately granted license to the saloons, placing the license at $1,000 a year for each saloon. Eight applications were made at the meeting for license to sell whisky, and were granted. A resolution also passed appropriating this money for improvement in the way of sidewalks. One year ago the license question was submitted to the vote of the people and was defeated by a heavy vote. The question was not submitted at the election this spring.

H. K. Wheeler Nominated for Congress.

FAIRBURY, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The Republican convention for the Ninth Congressional district met here today. The nomination for Congressman was hotly contested, but all was harmonious, and the district will be united on H. K. Wheeler of Kankakee, who was nominated on the thirteenth ballot. Mr. Wheeler has been in the State Senate several terms. J. H. Collier of Ford County was nominated for member of the State Board of Equalization. Dr. E. A. Wilcox of Woodford County and W. A. Rankin of Iroquois were chosen delegates to the Republican convention, and James Wilson and C. F. H. Carruthers as alternates. They were instructed for President. E. L. Monser of Marshall County received the indorsement of the convention for elector.

The Women's Candidate Is Defeated.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—The new city School Board, two members of which were elected April 4, when 1,500 women voted, was organized tonight. The issue in the election of the two board members was whether or not Miss Sarah E. Raymond, for twenty years Superintendent of schools, should be retained, and the two candidates favoring the choice of a male Superintendent instead of continuing woman's rule in the schools were elected. Miss Raymond has also been Secretary of the Board of Education, and in organizing tonight R. B. Porter was elected Secretary, defeating Miss Raymond by one vote. This foreshadows the action of the board as to the election of a Superintendent.

W. E. Mason for Congress.

It was stated yesterday that William E. Mason's name would be presented to the Republican convention at Springfield Thursday as a candidate for the nomination of Congressman-at-large. This course, it is said, was agreed upon Saturday evening by a number of Mr. Mason's friends who had a conference. It is understood the recent supporters of Judge Collins are back of the movement.

Polk's Paper for the Third Party.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 2.—[Special.]—The Progressive Farmer, L. L. Polk's paper, comes out today for the third party. It says that the Alliance purposes to capture the Democratic conventions. It attacks Gov. Holt, who will most probably be the nominee of the Democrats for Governor, and says it will not support him. It denounces both the old parties, and says it would never vote for Hill or Cleveland, Harrison or Blaine.

Clarkson's Health Not So Poor.

NEW YORK, May 2.—A. S. Humphrey, Secretary of the National Republican League, of which J. S. Clarkson is President, said today that the alarming reports published about Mr. Clarkson's health are greatly exaggerated. Mr. Clarkson will be in New York, Mr. Humphrey says, May 15, and at the Minneapolis convention to perform his duties as Chairman of the Republican National committee.

Hope of Prof. Westcott's Friends.

Some of the friends of Prof. O. S. Westcott, principal of the North Division High School, are urging his nomination for one of the Trustees of the University of Illinois. Three Trustees will be nominated by the convention. Prof. Westcott is a graduate of Brown University.

Delegates Instructed for Harrison.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—Up to last evening the States which have instructed delegates as a body to vote for the renomination of President Harrison will send to the Minneapolis convention 154 delegates as follows: Florida, 8; North Carolina, 22; South Carolina, 18; Georgia, 26; Indiana, 30; Missouri, 34; Nebraska, 16.

Delegates Instructed for Harrison.

FAIRBURY, Ill., May 2.—In the Ninth District Republican convention today Hamilton K. Wheeler of Kankakee was nominated for Congress, with E. A. Wilcox of Woodford and W. A. Rankin of Iroquois as delegates to Minneapolis, instructed for Harrison. For Presidential Elector E. L. Monser of Marshall was chosen.

Door County, Wis., Delegates.

STURGEON BAY, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—The Door County Republican convention elected the following delegates to the State convention. They were instructed to vote for Harrison delegates to the National convention.

Secretary of the National Convention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Col. Charles W. Johnson of Minnesota, Chief Clerk of the United States Senate, will probably be made Secretary of the Republican National convention at Minneapolis.

Says Blaine Will Accept.

DETROIT, Mich., May 2.—[Special.]—Capt. Gavett, a personal friend of Blaine, says the Secretary will certainly accept the nomination if it is offered him. He says he has private assurances to this effect.

For State Senator in Wisconsin.

WATERTOWN, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—The Republican Senatorial convention today nominated George J. Kispert of Jefferson for State Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Greene.

NEW SILVER AND GOLD FIELDS.

Rich Discoveries Reported from New Points in the Colorado Districts.

DENVER, Colo., May 2.—Ten inches of mineral assaying 92 per cent silver is the latest discovery at Rico, in the San Juan country. Out of one mine was taken a four-pound solid silver nugget, which has been placed on exhibition. Those who have failed at Creede are now bound for Rico, where the mineral is richer than any heretofore discovered in Colorado.

Another tremendous gold excitement has been created by rich discoveries in the Orphan Boy mine at Copper Rock, about fifty miles from Denver. There ore assayed from $3,000 to $78,000. About 500 claims are located there, and the rush of prospectors has begun.

MEET IN CONFERENCE.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE METHODIST CHURCH IN OMAHA.

The Initial Session Opens in Boyd's Opera-House—Who Were Present and How the Guests of Honor Were Seated—Discussion as to the Placing of Churchmen and Laymen—The Latter Demand Their Rights and Declare That They Will Not Leave the Clergy.

OMAHA, Neb., May 2.—[Special.]—When the twenty-first session of the Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Church convened today at 9 o'clock at Boyd's Opera-House, 509 of the 522 delegates were in their seats. The body was called to order by Bishop Bowman, senior member of the representatives. A notable gathering of churchmen surrounded the presiding officer. The seats of honor appeared to be given the representatives of the church from the United Kingdom. The parquet and dress circle were reserved for the delegates and others having work to perform in the conference, while the visitors and spectators were seated in the balcony. The boxes were occupied by the wives of the Bishops and other prominent ladies of the church. At the right of the stage in the upper boxes were Mrs. Chaplain McCabe, Mrs. Payne, and some lady friends. In the lower boxes were Mrs. Bishop Merrill, Mrs. Elder Shank, and others. At the left of the stage, in the first lower boxes, sat Mrs. Bishop Ninde, Miss Ninde, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Chamberlain of Colorado; Mr. [illegible] and Mr. Palmer, Conference Commissioners. In the second lower box were Mrs. Bishop Newman, Mrs. M. A. Claflin, Mrs. Mendenhall, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Merrill, and ex-Gov. Evans of Colorado. The balcony was comfortably filled with visitors and citizens of Omaha, a large proportion of the number being ladies. About the lobby the official agents, prominent visitors, and editors of the church papers chatted and mingled in genial confusion for some time prior to the call to order. All the Bishops, with the exception of Taylor of Africa, were present on the stage.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Bishop Bowman announced that the hour had come for opening the session. Bishop Newman read from John Wesley's own Bible, which had his autograph on the page and which was presented by the Hon. S. D. Waddy of London, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord," where the words which struck the heart of the Bishop. After the opening hymn Dr. Pearne of Ohio invoked a blessing upon the conference, the President, the Governor, the subjects of the commonwealth, and the missions abroad and at home. Bishop Merrill read a Scripture lesson, and the entire congregation rose to sing a Methodist hymn with a heartiness of spirit that made the house ring. There was no organ; there was none needed. Every Methodist there was in good voice. It was a chill May morning, but the hearts had warmed to a point where "Glory" flowed freely from the lips in prayer and where song meant celebration. A blessing was then asked for the Federal and State Governments, and for the army and navy by Dr. Lanahan of Baltimore.

The Rev. D. S. Monroe, Secretary of the conference, then started the real work of the meeting at 9:30 by entering upon the roll-call. It was a long one and took considerable time, but most everybody was present. The lay delegates were scattered about in a jumble among the clergy.

Election of Officers.

Dr. Monroe was presented for continuance as Secretary and Dr. M. S. Hard of Wyoming Conference was likewise mentioned for the office. Brother Benton, Brother Edwards of Erie, Brother Sanford of Mississippi, Brother Beard of California, Brother Depau of Indiana, and Brother Murray were selected as tellers. The question of reserves voting in the absence of principals was settled by according that privilege. The roll-call was ordered to fill the places of absentees. Charles H. Maynard of Central Tennessee was one of the names of absentees called, and under his breath Dr. Monroe said: "He's dead, Mr. Chairman." "Here," lustily called Mr. Maynard. "Well, I guess a man with so strong a voice is sufficiently alive to sit here," quietly observed the Bishop.

While the roll-call was in progress Brother Maxfield, who is a man who knows his rights, suggested that the seating of these reserves meant the unseating of regular delegates, should they come tomorrow or within a day or two. "I submit, sir," said one of the Bishops, "that it is out of order to make a motion during roll-call." "Who's making a motion?" inquired Mr. Maxfield. After a time it was settled that the reserves should sit until the coming of the duly-elected brethren. Then rose the question as to whether or not the church would have to pay the expenses of both. That unsettled the already settled question. The matter was one of a good deal of importance. The motion to permit the coming brother to be seated when a reserve had taken his place was finally placed on the table and the roll-call went on.

Dr. Monroe was made Secretary by a unanimous vote, and the Secretary selected as his assistants Manley S. Hard of Wyoming and Charles G. Hudson of North Indiana. Following this announcement the manner of seating the conference was discussed. One of the ministers suggested a draft by lot for seats, and this was amended by one of the laymen, who asked that the lay delegates be seated on one side of the house and the ministers on the other. This was in pursuance of a resolution adopted Saturday night by a meeting of laymen. What the laymen wanted was to get out of the direct influence of the ministers, and also to get such seats as would give them a chance for recognition.

"I congratulate the laymen upon the request," Dr. Lanahan said, and as soon as he said it the laymen applauded heartily. Dr. Lanahan said he had seen during all his attendance at conferences that laymen were placed at a disadvantage. This was a modest request. If it were acceded to it would make the laymen better acquainted. The ministers ought to accede to it. Shinkle of Covington, Ky., a layman, took just the other stand. He did not think that laymen ought to be congratulated. He wanted to sit with the ministers. He wanted to know what trouble had come from such association. "Mr. Chairman, what are we here for?" he inquired, and then he said he didn't want to be set aside like the sheep from the goats. He reviewed his career as an old churchman. He wanted the advice of his ministers, and he wanted to give them a little advice once in a while. "At the meeting the other night," he said, "the opposition said they wanted the electric influence of the laymen to permeate the laymen. Well, I'd like to have that electric influence permeate the ministers. This is one church and should not have two congregations. Unless my ministers drive me out from among them I shall sit with them."

Appeal to the Ministers.

Mr. Shinkle earnestly appealed to the ministers not to seat the laymen aside in a corner. Judge Murray of Pennsylvania, one of the other division of the laymen, spoke briefly and earnestly on the side of the laity, in seeking a separation. There was no antagonism, no opposition to the ministers, but the resolution was born of a knowledge and an experience which proves the fact that 150 men scattered among 500 loose their individuality. The laymen had never heretofore been given an opportunity to confer together. It was now impossible for the laity to confer. The exercise even of a separate vote had been so incumbered that it had been far from satisfactory. There should be no obstruction to the laymen voting freely.

The laymen are united on this question, being three to one in favor of it. John Field, the Philadelphia Postmaster, followed Judge Murray with a business argument in favor of the division asked for. He wished to dissipate one possible opinion at once, that in relation to opposition to the ministers. "If this is not granted, this modest request of ours," he said, "I do not see what business we laymen have here. This conference is going to mark either a retreat or a forward movement in the church, and I favor the idea of rolling a share of the responsibility of the church upon the great hearts of the lay brethren. It is a necessity that we bring the laymen into closer connection with the work of the church. I hope the ministers will see the justice of our request and grant it."

The Rev. L. C. Queal of New York spoke many words of encouragement for the laity, as an old friend of laymen. "We are one of a church," he said. "I have been regretful whenever a suggestion has been made that there is a want of harmony in the church. In this question here before us I would ask what is to be gained, what wrong is to be righted? The laymen are not afraid about asking for their rights. I have always found them ready to speak when they have anything to say. I do not see that their interests are in peril. If they are not now fairly treated, if they are in any way wrongfully treated, let them put that forth plainly in their request. This is not a convention. This is not a congress with different sides. If we have two distinct forces here we are on the shores that will wreck us."

On a vote the two elements were separated by an overwhelming vote. A reception was tendered the delegates tonight at the Exposition by the municipal officials. Mayor Bemis welcomed the visitors and Bishop Bowman responded in behalf of the ministers.

KENTUCKY'S CROP OUTLOOK.

Reports Which Indicate that Wheat Is in Excellent Condition—Fruit Prospects.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 2.—[Special.]—Commissioner of Agriculture McDowell issued his monthly crop report today. From the information the Commissioner has received he reports wheat was never looking better at this season of the year. The several freezes which occurred about April 8, and continued cool weather up to the 25th did no damage. The amount of old wheat on hand is 8½ per cent. The report on acreage of corn estimates that commodity at 85 per cent, little being yet planted. Potatoes as compared with last year are estimated at 89 per cent, and tobacco at 85 per cent in point of acreage. Timothy and clover are rated at 100 per cent. From present indications apples will be abundant, the early frosts of this month not having effected them. Correspondents in some directions report the early peaches killed, but in other places they have not been damaged and the yield will be unusually large. The report closes with the following reference to stock: "All kinds of stock wintered well, except in some few counties sheep have not done well. The fall cattle market is fully $1 a hundred less than this time last year."

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 2.—[Special.]—The elevator corporations operating in Northern Minnesota and Northern Dakota received reports today from nearly 100 stations giving the present conditions of seeding operations. The condition in Northern Minnesota is, on the whole, favorable. The work has been delayed, but favorable weather this week will bring it out all right. In North Dakota the situation is less favorable. At some places no seeding has been done. The delay is caused by rain. Favorable weather this week would do much to help the work out, but the prospect is for a decreased average. In Minnesota there will be an increased average.

HURON, S. D., May 2.—Crop conditions in South Dakota the last week are: The summary being based upon reports from thirty counties. Many correspondents report wheat seeding practically completed, while others report that it is not more than half done. The whole State considered about three-fourths of the wheat is in the ground and about half the oats seeding completed. The general condition of sprouted grain is excellent, the stand good, and color deep. Many fields of wheat are so well advanced as to wave. Spring rye is mostly sown and much of it is growing finely.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 2.—[Special.]—The spring season, already two weeks late, has been further retarded by a severe rain-storm which commenced Sunday morning and has lasted with little intermission since. Tonight the heaviest rain of the season fell, flooding all the streets. The country roads in Iowa already in the mud are hopeless for another two weeks unless there is an immediate change. The conditions are becoming critical in many places where it is impossible to secure the necessaries of life on account of bad roads. Corn-planting will not be possible much before the middle of May, even under the most favorable weather from now on.

AGREEMENT ON THE EXCLUSION BILL.

Senate and House Conferrees Will Report the Anti-Chinese Measure Today.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—The conferrees on the Chinese Exclusion bill have reached an agreement. The bill is practically a reënactment for ten years of the existing law with the following additional provisions: No Chinese person is to be released on bail pending action on a writ of habeas corpus. All Chinese laborers now in the United States are to be compelled to obtain registration certificates, and all persons other than laborers may apply for such certificates, for which no charge is to be made. This feature of the law is to be carried out under the direction of the internal revenue bureau of the Treasury Department. Forging certificates will be punishable by imprisonment for five years. All Chinese persons who attempt to cross into the country unlawfully are to be imprisoned for one year and then remanded to China.

Senator Sherman and Representative Hitt did not sign the conference report, but it is understood that they agreed not to mak any fight against its adoption.

EX-ALD. APPLETON HAS ANOTHER FIGHT ON HAND NOW.

His Landlord Wants Him to Vacate His State Street Saloon to Make Room for New Tenants, but He Refuses to Be Ousted—Funeral of Fanchon Conyers and Sarah Goldman, Victims of the Philadelphia Theater Fire—Expert Johnson Predicts Severe Storms.

War is liable to break out at any minute in ex-Ald. James T. Appleton's saloon at Polk and State streets. Peter Bergman, the owner of the building, has leased the room to Hannah & Hogg, who want to put John McGraw in charge of a new saloon there. "Jim" Appleton and his brother and partner George had made other plans looking to remaining in their old stand, and so they refused to vacate.

Bergman is determined that the Appletons shall go. He claims that "Jim" Appleton is not satisfactory as a tenant for various reasons, and says that he thinks he has a right to rent his property to whom he chooses. The Appletons say that Bergman verbally agreed to continue their lease another year after May 1 and that they have witnesses to prove it. The attorneys for Hannah & Hogg notified the Appletons yesterday that they would bring suit against them to get possession of the premises if they did not leave peaceably. They do not purpose to leave peaceably or in any other way. "Jim" says that he is there to stay and that no amount of fighting can oust him.

THEATER FIRE VICTIMS BURIED.

Funeral Services of Fanchon Conyers and Sarah Goldman.

The funeral of Fanchon Conyers, the Chicago girl who lost her life in the Philadelphia theater fire April 25, was held at Prof. Martine's Academy, No. 52 Ada street, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. By request of Mr. Martine Dr. H. W. Thomas performed the funeral rites. Mr. and Mrs. Martine, Mr. and Mrs. George Fair of the Haymarket Theater, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Van Avery, sisters of Miss Conyers, and a few others were present. Interment was at Forest Home Cemetery.

Miss Sarah Goldman, who met death in the same fire, was buried from the residence of her father, A. Goldman, No. 751 West Van Buren street, yesterday afternoon. The body, which was accompanied from Philadelphia by Miss Regina Goldman, who was also a member of the "Devil's Auction" company, was received by friends at the Canal street station at 9:30 o'clock Sunday evening, and taken immediately to No. 751 West Van Buren street.

The funeral services yesterday were conducted by the Rev. Dr. A. J. Messing of the Hebrew Temple. There were many friends present, including Miss Victoria Walters of the "Devil's Auction" company and the Morris sisters of the "Sinbad" company. Manager Davis and Mr. Fair of the Haymarket Theater sent a beautiful bouquet of calla lilies, and Miss Walters a bouquet of lilies of the valley. A floral star and crescent was the gift of Miss Regina Goldman. The pall-bearers were Samuel Lowenthal, Ed. Eandall, Samuel Goldman, and L. Goldman. The interment was at Graceland.

PREDICTS MANY SEVERE STORMS.

Weather Prophet Johnson Out of a Job, but Still in the Business.

P. E. Johnson, the weather prophet, is still out of a situation. He said yesterday that if he did not get a job soon he would make the weather bad and that the sun would not shine till he was installed somewhere as a paid weather prophet. Said Mr. Johnson:

"Last Saturday night I asked my Heavenly Father for rain and Sunday the people saw the result. I have seen the Lord in dreams, and he has assured me that Chicago is going to suffer severely from storms before the World's Fair. The mercury in my bones tells me that this summer is to be one of great storms. I speak from years of experience with the mercury inside of me and my prediction will not fail."

IT MAY BE MRS. MILLER'S BODY.

The Identity of the Remains Found Sunday Not Positively Identified.

It is thought that the body of the woman taken from the river at the North avenue bridge Sunday night may be that of Mrs. Miller, who disappeared three weeks ago, after being falsely accused of having murdered her infant child and after leaving a note saying that she was determined to commit suicide. The body was found not far from the place where Mrs. Miller was last seen. It is that of a woman apparently 30 years of age, stout, five feet two inches in height, dark brown hair, thin and short, clothed in a tight-fitting black jersey jacket, black skirt, blue stockings, and black leather gaiter shoes.

There were no rings or ornaments of any kind nor papers that would lead to identification upon the body when found. Friends of the missing woman were notified and will be at the morgue this morning.

John Kline thought from the description that the body might be that of Kate Warne, whose brother-in-law, Peter Meyer, lives at No. 1308 West Polk street. She disappeared six weeks ago. Kline, however, was unable to identify the body.

PLAYED WITH "CHESS-CHILDREN."

The Novelty Introduced in a Tournament at a Playhouse.

Living chessmen are not an absolute novelty. They were seen in a spectacular production given under Augustin Daly's auspices a few years ago. To most amusement-seekers, however, the idea is as good as new, and Manager Haverly's living chess tournaments at the Casino are likely to prove attractive at that resort. The minstrels will disport every afternoon and evening while the games of chess will be the morning attraction.

Yesterday at 11 o'clock the children representing the red and white kings, queens, bishops, knights, castles, and pawns entered the Casino Hall singing the rather appropriate chorus, "Just Before the Battle, Mother." The floor is arranged in red and white squares, and the children drawn up in martial array made a pretty picture in their contrasting costumes.

Harry Hopkins, President of the Chicago Chess and Checker club, explained the game to those present. Two members of the club then met each other in the noble game. H. M. Johnson, who directed the white-clad children, won a victory over his opponent. The player, instead of moving a figure, calls out his move, and the children, who understand the game and its moves, follow the word of command.

THINK PILGRIM MAY BE DEAD.

What the Missing Real Estate Agent's Friends Say of Him.

Some of the real estate agent friends of Everett J. Pilgrim declare that there were circumstances connected with his mysterious disappearance a month ago which justify the theory that Pilgrim has met with foul play. Capt. Robbins, who occupied an office with him in the Chamer of Commerce, said yesterday: "Pilgrim of late drank, and when in liquor would pull out his money with a flourish for everybody to see. He went to many places and struck up an acquaintance with anybody. Sometimes he carried as much as $1,000 in his pocket."

Pilgrim's friends say that he had command of sufficient money to make good any shortage in his accounts.

CALUMET CLUB'S ANNUAL MEETING.

Officers Elected, the Directory Enlarged, and Other Business Transacted.

At the fourteenth annual meeting of the Calumet club, held at the club-house, at Twentieth street and Michigan avenue, last night, new officers were elected for the ensuing year and several important amendments were passed or proposed. The meeting was called to order by the retiring President, Moses J. Wentworth. 100 members being present. The annual report of Secretary John M. Cutter showed 476 members on the roll, while that of Treasurer Charles C. Adsit showed total receipts of $96,600 during the year and an expenditure of $96,000.

A communication from one of the largest clubs of London, asking that its members be received as temporary members of the Calumet club in good standing, during the World's Fair, was the subject of a favorable discussion. An amendment to the by-laws providing for a temporary exchange membership for such applicants was proposed and referred to the next directors' meeting, which will be held Saturday night. An amendment was passed increasing the Board of Directors from eleven to fourteen members, including as heretofore the President, First and Second Vice Presidents, and the Secretary as members ex-officio.

The following officers were elected without opposition, those marked in italics being re-elections:

President, Nathaniel K. Fairbank; First Vice-President, Osborne R. Keith; Second Vice-President, Charles Fargo; Secretary, John M. Cutter; Treasurer, Charles C. Adsit; Directors, Nelson P. Bigelow, Jacob B. Breese, Clinton Collier, Le Roy W. Fuller, John E. Jenkins, Charles Frederick Kimball, Charles P. McAvoy.

WAS A MODEL IN ITS DAY.

The Hawley Office Building Will Give Way to the Hartford Sky-Scraper.

Work of dismantling the building at the southwest corner of Dearborn and Madison streets was begun yesterday. What in 1872 was one of the finest office buildings in the city will be replaced by the Hartford office building. Twenty years ago the Hawley Building was regarded as being in advance of the times.

The Hartford Building will be fourteen stories high, of steel fireproof construction. The first four stories will be faced with stone, while the upper stories will be faced with brick and terra-cotta. A heavy cornice will extend around the building, just above the twelfth story. Another cornice, or coping, will surmount the building. Six tiers of bays will extend up through both fronts from the fifth to the twelfth story.

The building will have a Madison street frontage of fifty feet and a frontage on Dearborn street of ninety-two and one-half feet, and will cost between $300,000 and $400,000.

Lutheran Synod Proceedings.

The fourth day's session of the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Evangelical Church, which opened yesterday morning at St. Matthew's Church, Twenty-first street and Hoyne avenue, was devoted to the school question. In the morning the value of parochial schools in imparting Bible knowledge to the young up to the time of their confirmation, and the degree of leniency to be exercised in matters of faith and religion thereafter, were discussed at length. In the afternoon it was decided, after some discussion, to create a fund, by collections from the churches, for church extension and for the support of needy congregations. The report of the synodical Treasurer showed that $36,297 was collected during the last year for benevolent purposes.

Delegates Will Arrive Today.

Delegates to Victoria Woodhull-Martin's conference to prepare plans for a National convention next October to nominate candidates on the "Humanitarian" platform will reach Chicago today. Mrs. Martin was yesterday in receipt of letters and telegrams from women and men in sympathy with her ideas, and they will be in conference with Mrs. Martin and her sister, Lady Cook, at the Wellington today and tomorrow. Mrs. Martin said yesterday she expected that an address to 2,000,000 men and women would be sent out outlining the aims and objects of the movement and that the result would probably be a convention that would outrival any yet held.

Robbed by a Bold Thief.

A man entered Dr. Herman B. Kaufman's office, No. 271 Clark street, last night and asked the physician to come with him to his home, where a young woman was lying ill. Dr. Kaufman threw on his overcoat and stooped to pick up his medicine case. When he arose he looked into the barrel of a revolver. "You have a roll of bills in your pocket and I want them all," said the man, at the same time threatening to shoot the doctor if he resisted. The latter was compelled to give up his pocketbook, containing $76, and the thief backed out of the office, keeping Dr. Kaufman covered with the revolver until he reached the street and there escaped.

Dancing Master Arrested.

Obtaining money under false pretenses is the charge which L. J. Vanara, dancing-master at Engel's Opera Pavilion on North Clark street, will answer in Justice Kersten's court this morning. He was arrested last night on complaint of Gertie Lewis of No. 174 West Madison street. The girl is 14 years old and was given a week's instruction in dancing by Vanara for $7.50, with the understanding that she was to be regularly employed. At the end of the week, she alleges, Vanara asked her age, and when she told him he replied: "O, you're too young. We never employ girls under 18."

New Officers of the Irish-American Club.

At the annual meeting of the Irish-American club the following officers were elected: President, J. S. Cooke; Vice-President, N. J. Keans; Treasurer, P. Cavanaugh; Recording Secretary, E. P. Nerny; Corresponding Secretary, N. P. Farrell; Financial Secretary, James Conlan Jr.; Executive committee, J. M. Carroll, J. B. Lynch, P. McHugh, J. S. Hyland, E. H. Roche; House committee, M. F. Madden, D. J. Gallery, William Fogerty; Auditing committee, H. Wrightson, M. D. Laughlin, T. J. Darcy.

Abandoned the Old Method.

Government gaugers at all distilleries in the United States gave up their gauging-rods yesterday and began weighing spirits with specially designed scales furnished by the Internal Revenue Department. Few rectifiers and retail dealers seem to take kindly to the system, as they have to purchase goods billed to them on the government weight. This means a loss of several pounds of spirits by absorbtion into the wood. The new plan requires additions to the present force of gaugers.

A Fortune Invested in Vanilla Beans.

A consignment of vanilla beans valued at $160,000 has been received by a local flavoring extract company. This is one of the largest purchases ever made at one time. The beans come from Vera Cruz, Mexico, on the gulf. They are of a dark brown color and about ten inches long by one-third of an inch in diameter. They are tied up in packages weighing one pound and preserved in tin cases which are packed in long Mexican cedar boxes.

May Be a Murder.

Late last night Officer Monagan of the Maxwell Street Station heard a shot in the vicinity of Douglas Park. At the corner of California avenue and Twelfth street he found the dead body of a man with a bullet-hole in the right side of his head and a revolver lying at his side. In the man's pockets was ticket No. 66, issued by Chicago Union No. 18 of the National Union of United Brewery Workmen to Joseph Kraker. The remains were taken to the County Morgue.

Lives in Chicago Now.

E. B. Williston, Major of the Third Artillery, stationed at Fort Riley, reported at army headquarters for duty yesterday. Maj. Williston has been assigned as Inspector of Artillery for this department. New drill regulations have been adopted. Maj. Williston will be engaged for some time in inspecting the companies now drilling under these regulations.

Poor Children's Day, June 30.

Mayor Washburne yesterday issued a proclamation making June 30 Poor Children's day, and urging the public to aid in making the day one of joy for Chicago's waifs. The proclamation merely recognizes the annual outing in one of the city parks which the Waifs' Mission has given children of the poorer classes for several years.

Says the Story's All Gammon.

W. R. Sterling of the Illinois Steel company, speaking of the dispatch that the company proposed to erect a new plant at Joliet to cost $1,500,000, said: "It is the first I've heard of it. It's all gammon."

Items.

J. W. Burroughs, who was injured in the collision between the cable-car and carette Sunday, is suffering at Hotel Parker from a fractured collar-bone and two broken ribs.

Fire Marshal Murphy sent in a 2-11 alarm last evening for a fire at No. 643 Sixty-third street. The fire was caused by an overheated boiler in the Normal Park laundry. The loss will not exceed $1,000, and was fully insured.

Judge Anthony yesterday while sitting in the quasi Criminal Court mildly scored the Police Justices of the city for the custom of changing criminal charges to a charge of disorderly conduct. The matter came up in the case of the City vs. Annie Johnson.

Cook's Extra Dry Imperial Champagne is the pure juice of the grape naturally fermented. For bouquet it has no superior.

BULLETS FLEW FAST.

RECORD OF THE SHOOTING SCRAPES OF A SINGLE DAY.

How John B. Obermeyer's Life Was Saved from a Well-Directed Shot by a Roll of Bank Bills—Daniel O'Sullivan's Body, Riddled with Lead, Found in the Basement of a Saloon He Had Invaded—In Resisting Eviction Saloonkeeper Fenton Shoots a Deputy Constable.

Twice in his experience has John B. Obermeyer owed his life to the practice of carrying papers in his inside pocket.

The first time was on a battlefield in the War of the Rebellion. Then the muster roll of his company of the Eleventh Pennsylvania Volunteers stopped a musket ball fired at random from the enemy's lines. The second time was yesterday, when a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver, fired only six feet distant, and aimed deliberately at his breast, failed to penetrate an envelope filled with bank bills and a passbook in his inside vest pocket.

Mr. Obermeyer is President of the National Portrait company at No. 118 Ashland boulevard. He has been established there since 1868 and has made a fortune out of the business. The man who attempted to shoot him is J. D. Trafton. J. D. Trafton and Mark Trafton are just establishing themselves at No. 150 Ogden avenue as the Eagle Portrait company. It was there that the shooting occurred. Yesterday forenoon Mr. Obermeyer entered Trafton's office and asked Mr. Trafton to return some stationery which he claimed Trafton had taken without permission. He accused Trafton of using the envelopes marked with the name of the National Portrait company in his own business, in that way bringing discredit on the company. Trafton replied warmly and seized Obermeyer by the arm, but he was shaken off. Then he went to his desk, took out a revolver, and aiming at Obermeyer's breast, pulled the trigger.

Obermeyer, evidently to Trafton's surprise, did not fall, but stood still and looked him straight in the eye.

"Shoot again," he said, "if you are not too much of a coward. I think you are too great a coward to shoot again."

Trafton did not shoot. He stood for a moment irresolute, and, with his hand trembling, laid the revolver on his desk. Obermeyer walked across the street to a drug store. Then he unbuttoned his coat and vest. The bullet was found in an envelope, which contained a package of new $2 bills and a small passbook. The ball had cut through the bills and the passbook and then stopped. A policeman came up and began an investigation. Obermeyer recrossed the street and entered the saloon next to Trafton's place. At his request the officer brought Trafton in.

"Why did you tell him to shoot again?" asked a man who had heard Obermeyer say that to the man with the gun.

"Because I thought if I showed any fear and either advanced or retreated he would shoot. I called him a coward because I believed him to be one. Why did you shoot at me?" he asked, turning to Trafton.

"I did it in self-defense," answered Trafton.

Obermeyer served through the war and was mustered out with the brevet rank of Colonel. He is a member of George H. Thomas Post, G. A. R., and of the Illinois and La Salle clubs. Both he and Trafton belong to the Masonic order.

Shot a Constable's Deputy.

William Fenton's saloon in the Atlantic Hotel Building at Van Buren and Sherman streets was in a state of siege yesterday morning, and one of the besiegers, Deputy Constable Alexander J. Haskins of Justice Bradwell's court, received a bullet-wound in his left side. Fenton, the besieged, fired the shot. The trouble was over Fenton's refusal to vacate the place, which had been leased to Thomas Hurley by Cummings Bros., lessees of the Atlantic Hotel. Haskins was assisting his brother, Constable Haskins, in serving a writ. His wound is not serious.

The door leading from the hotel office to the saloon still bears the evidences of the battle. The panels are broken and the frame is battered to splinters in spots, but the lock still stands and Fenton holds the fort. The story of the trouble as told by Fenton is as follows:

"Some time ago Cummings Bros. assured me verbally that I could have a continuance of my lease after May 1. I supposed of course they meant what they said. But a week or so ago Frank Cummings came into my place with a man whom he introduced as Hurley, took some drinks, and incidentally remarked that Hurley was to have the saloon after May 1. I did not pay much attention to the remark, because I supposed the verbal contract of Cummings Bros. with me was final. I heard rumors to the effect that I was to be evicted, and Saturday night the Cummings Bros. sent for me and said they wanted to arbitrate with me. I went in to see them and they assured me that they did not intend to force me out of my place or use any violence. I kept the saloon closed Sunday. This morning at 6:30 o'clock I heard persons outside of the door leading from the hotel to my saloon. It sounded like quite a crowd. The door was locked as well as the front door because it was not time to open. Pretty soon a voice demanded that I should open the door. I made no reply. Suddenly, to my surprise, the mob in the hotel began to batter at the door with a plank. I told them to stop, but they would not. I then shot through the door. I found later that the constable had a writ which he was attempting to serve on me. However, I do not think he was justified in organizing a mob and bombarding my place. I considered the gang no better than burglars. I am determined to hold my ground here on the strength of my verbal agreement with Cummings Bros."

When Fenton fired his shot through the door Haskins fell to the floor and the warlike operations ceased. The wounded man was taken to the County Hospital. After his wound was dressed he walked home. Fenton was arrested and held in bonds of $1,000.

Frank Cummings said there had been no verbal agreement and that Fenton would have to get out.

Shot to Death in a Cellar.

Daniel O'Sullivan, a brother-in-law of Ald. Joseph Bidwill, was shot and killed early yesterday morning in the basement of his mother's house, No. 298 West Twelfth street, the first floor of which is occupied by Phillip Wolf and Albert Bernstein, saloonkeepers. Five bullets entered his body, four in the left leg and one in the groin. No one knows who fired the fatal shot, as the two saloonkeepers were shooting at the same time. Night Watchman William Lumbeck heard voices in the saloon, and thinking that burglars were at work, notified Wolf, who lives at No. 463 Union street, and his partner Bernstein, who resides at No. 140 Newberry avenue. The three men went to the saloon and found two partly filled beer glasses on the bar. These were not there when the proprietors closed up at midnight. Officer Michael Creed of the Maxwell Street Station passed by and seeing the three men in the doorway asked what was wrong. They made an explanation of the case to him and suggested that he aid them in the inspection. He thought it would be a good idea to examine the basement. Then Bernstein entered through a trap door and was followed by Wolf. Both had revolvers in their hands when they descended. They saw the form of a man leaning against the wall.

"Don't shoot," the man cried, "it's me." But the words had hardly left his mouth when both revolvers were discharged together. Both of the saloonkeepers emptied their revolvers, and when Policeman Creed went down to make an examination he found O'Sullivan's body riddled with lead. Beside him was John McKean of No. 82 Brown street, who was stupidly drunk. Creed placed Wolf, Bernstein, and McKean under arrest, pending an investigation by the Coroner. The body of O'Sullivan was taken up-stairs to his mother's rooms over the saloon. O'Sullivan was 21 years old and a carpenter by trade. McKean said yesterday in the station:

"Dan and I had been drinking all day. When near his home he asked me to have another drink and I told him that there was no place open at that hour.

"'Never mind,' he said, 'I am tending bar for a couple of fellows who rented my mother's store Saturday and I have a key to the front door.'

"He unlocked the door and we went inside. We had two glasses of beer and were just finishing the third, when Dan said:

"'Keep still. There's somebody coming. Quick, slide down that trap-door into the cellar. I wouldn't be caught in here for a good deal.'

"With that both of us jumped through the trap-door, and that's how we came to be there."

Stopped Pursuit with a Bullet.

George Perrin of No. 829 Jackson boulevard was shot in the leg by a pickpocket, whom he was chasing on Calumet avenue near Twenty-sixth street last night.

The man had snatched a pocketbook from the hand of Mrs. Cole of No. 2552 Prairie avenue, and when she screamed for help Perrin and H. W. Brock ran to her assistance and then started after the thief. The latter turned, stood at bay, and fired four shots at his pursuers, one of the bullets striking Perrin in the left leg. The wound is not serious. The thief escaped as the chase was abandoned.

La Montague an Ex-Convict.

A Coroner's jury yesterday investigated the shooting of Alphonse La Montague and declared Patrolman Michael Raftery, who fired the fatal shot, free from culpability. La Montague was shot Sunday while attempting to kill Detective Sergeant Howard, who was trying to place him under arrest. Edward La Montague, a brother of the dead man, testified that Alphonse was an ex-convict, having served terms in Joliet and Montreal.

KILLED IN AN ELEVATOR SHAFT.

John Murphy Meets Instant Death in the Unity Building.

John Murphy, No. 916 West Twelfth street, while putting in a soil-pipe in elevator shaft No. 6, in the Unity Building, was struck on the head by a descending car and instantly killed. Murphy was in the employ of M. J. Corboy.

The elevator car was on the first floor of the building and was in charge of Albert Volkert, who lowered and raised it according to orders given him by the plumber at work. C. Desmereaux, the foreman, was on top of the car and explained to him the work which he had to perform. "I warned Murphy," said Desmereaux, "not to put his head out in the adjoining shaft, and was still talking to him when elevator car No. 5, in charge of William Gaffney, came down and struck him on the head."

This is the second life lost in the Unity Building within a month, the first death being that of an elevator man, who was killed in the same manner.

Alfred Olson, janitor in the Chicago Opera House Block, fell from a ninth-story window to the roof of the Opera House proper, a distance of four stories. He was badly cut about the head, his right thigh was broken, and he was injured internally. He was removed to his home, No. 363 West Division street.

A. H. Hoover, a switch-engine conductor, was killed while making a running coupling in the Michigan Central yards at Kensington yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. In making the coupling he stumbled and fell, both wheels of a heavily loaded freight-car passing over his chest and killing him instantly. He was taken to the morgue at Pullman. He was a single man, 45 years old, and lived at No. 27 Kensington avenue.

A runaway which will probably result in the death of Fred Clomels occurred yesterday morning at Clybourn avenue and Town street. Clomels was driving a starch wagon for S. Steinhurst & Co. The team became frightened and ran away, throwing him under the wheels of the wagon, which passed over his body. He was taken to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, where it was found that two of his ribs were broken and that he had received serious internal injuries.

CONVENTION OF THE MACHINISTS.

Fourth Annual Session of Their International Association Begun.

The fourth annual convention of the International Association of Machinists was inaugurated in Bricklayers' Hall yesterday morning by an address of welcome by Chairman S. M. Dolan which terminated in the introduction of Mayor Washburne. After the cheers had subsided the Mayor welcomed the delegates to Chicago and congratulated them on having increased their membership from 1,000 to 23,000 in the four years of the association's existence. James J. Creamer, Grand Master Mechanic of the association, responded by thanking the Mayor and through him the City of Chicago for its cordial welcome. Then a committee on credentials was appointed. The Grand Master announced a "Press committee" consisting of Messrs. Downey, Ferguson, and McAllister, who alone should have the power of talking for publication. Members not on this committee were cautioned to remain silent on the proceedings of the convention, under the pain of expulsion.

The committee on credentials labored all afternoon, and about 5 o'clock reported that several hours would be required to complete its work. On this report the convention adjourned at 6 p. m., to meet again today at 9 a. m.

Important action is looked for today. The convention will be in session for the rest of the week. Most of the delegates are quartered at the Grand Pacific Hotel, which has been made the headquarters of the association. During the stay of the delegates they will be shown the World's Fair grounds and the principal points of interest. At Battery D tonight they and their wives will be given a reception.

The Crane Company Sustained.

Judge Blodgett, in a decision rendered yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, sustained four patents of the five claimed by the Crane Elevator company in its suit against the Standard Elevator company. These patents virtually include all the points of importance in hydraulic elevators made by the two companies, and the decision practically gives the Crane company a monopoly of the manufacture of elevators of this class. The principal point covered by the patents was the lever device which has supplanted the now obsolete method of operating elevators by pulling a cable rope by hand. A representative of the Standard company said last night there were five claims involved in the suit. As to four of these the Standard had not used them in six months and they were unimportant. On the only claim of importance, the stop or safety valve, the court, he said, decided in favor of the Standard company.

Was Determined to Die.

Abe Carleson, a Dane, made a determined effort to commit suicide by drowning late last night. He jumped into Illinois Central Slip C at 11:30 o'clock. Watchman Joseph Smith saw him and with a boathook fished him out. He was badly strangled with water and scarcely able to stand. The watchman started for a patrol-box to call the police ambulance. He had gone but a few rods when Carleson crawled to the water's edge and tumbled himself in again. Smith again came to the rescue with the boathook and soon landed the Dane. The patrol-wagon was then called and Carleson was taken to the Harrison Street Police Station.

SERIOUS WRECK ON THE WABASH ROAD.

Passengers Imprisoned Beneath the Cars of the Train.

A serious wreck to a west-bound train on the Wabash road occurred at an early hour yesterday morning near Crown Point. Details were brought to Chicago by World's Fair Commissioner George H. Barbour and his brother Edwin S. Barbour of Detroit, who arrived yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium. They escaped with their lives seemingly by a miracle, but both suffered painful injuries, E. S. Barbour being confined to his bed and under the constant care of Dr. Hamilton. The wreck was the result of a washout. The train jumped the track. The trucks of the rear sleeper stuck to the side of the embankment, but the car itself was wrenched from the trucks and rolled down for a distance of twenty-five feet. The passengers were imprisoned beneath the débris for nearly half an hour, but all were rescued alive. Had the car landed but a few feet west of where it did all would have been drowned.

EXPECT A BREAK IN THE DEADLOCK.

The Township Auditors of Lake May Succeed in Electing an Attorney Today.

A break is expected in the deadlock in the Board of Township Auditors of Lake when they meet to elect an attorney today. Just how it will be made is not known, but it is supposed that the office of assistant township clerk will be recreated and given to a Republican—Tim Hogan. In consideration of the act, which means $1,200 to Hogan, his friends will vote for T. A. Coffey or J. B. Thomas. Hogan has two votes and needs two more.

The office was abolished because it was said to be a sinecure, but not, however, until citizens threatened to have the board indicted if it were not done. The meeting today promises to be interesting, because on it hinge political slates in Lake for a year.

The Chicago Fire.

The wonderful reproduction of burning Chicago, the ante-fire street scenes, the acres of historic ruins, the frantic rush of the half-clad, half-crazed multitudes is a revelation to all beholders, a constant wonder and surprise. See Cyclorama Chicago Fire, Michigan avenue, between Madison and Monroe streets.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

WORLD'S FAIR WORKMEN LEAVE THE BUILDINGS.

Demands of Some of Them Granted by the Employers—May Day Procession Leaders Make Futile Efforts to Get Their Flags Back—Carpenters on the Ashland Block Quit Because They Do Not Like Their Foreman—Other News in the Industrial World.

Two hundred ironworkers climbed down from the lofty trusses of the Manufactures Building at Jackson Park yesterday and struck for higher wages. The eight men engaged on the Art Palace did the same thing. Twenty-nine men on Machinery Hall also struck. Altogether 237 quit work and are still out.

They were getting 30 cents an hour, but they demand 35 cents an hour and time and a half pay for overwork.

The demands of the men upon Machinery Hall were conceded, but out of the fifty-three employed only twenty-four continued at work, while the remaining twenty-nine left the grounds. Contractor Gottlieb, who has the iron work for the Art Palace, immediately granted the demands of his force, which subsequently concluded to quit work. Supt. Hall, representing the Edgemore Bridge company, which has the iron work for the Manufactures Building, declined to grant the demand of the men, and the action of the other strikers after getting what they asked was due to sympathy with the unsuccessful strikers. Twenty-five men, however, kept at work, and were engaged yesterday afternoon in putting iron in place along the floor, which will be rushed up as soon as a new force is secured.

Several officials of the Edgemore company will be in the city today and a compromise may be made with the strikers. Mr. Hall declined to entertain the proposition because they wanted him to sign an agreement that no ironworker should be discharged in the future unless such action be approved by a Grievance committee to be appointed by the men. Supt. Geraldine, who has charge of all the work on the grounds, said no delay of serious moment would be occasioned by the strike.

"I have been anticipating these spring strikes for a long time and am prepared for every emergency," he said. "If Mr. Hall doesn't wish to take the men back I will see that he gets others on short notice."

All the striking ironworkers left the grounds. The rule has been adopted by Supt. Geraldine that when a man quits work he must get off the premises.

One hundred and fifty of the carpenters employed by the Smith, Crimp, and Eastman company struck for higher wages, they asking 40 cents an hour, which the firm refuses to pay. These men have been getting 35 cents an hour. Finding that the firm would not accede to their demands some of the men have already returned to work and others will resume work today.

TRYING TO GET THEIR FLAGS BACK.

Leaders of Sunday's Procession Get Scant Satisfaction from McClaughry.

A delegation of participants in the Sunday May-day parade called on Chief McClaughry yesterday to recover the three red flags taken from the procession. William Urban, business manager of the Arbeiter-Zeitung, Adam Bach, chief marshal of the parade, John Simpson, a division marshal, and the three color-bearers composed the delegation. A lengthy discussion took place between the Chief and the delegation as to the right of the police to take the flags. The Chief justified the action. The delegates insisted that the police should have first asked the chief marshal to remove the emblems if they were obnoxious. The Chief intimated that the chief marshal had not sense enough to do so, whereat Marshal Bach suggested that he had as much sense as any of McClaughry's policemen. The Chief insisted that red flags were the symbols of anarchy the world over and they would not be tolerated on Chicago's streets.

After further discussion McClaughry said: "I will probably return you the flags bearing inscriptions. You may replevin the red letterless flag and we will have the matter as to the right of the police to tear it from your ranks settled in the courts."

That flag will be replevined this morning.

Corporation Counsel Miller said: "The seizure of those flags was lawful. Sec. 2222 of the municipal code, known as the disorderly conduct section, applies to the case. If it means anything the red flag incites to violence. The liberty cap, if it has any significance, means revolution. There is only one flag for this country and that is the Stars and Stripes. I was glad to see that wherever there marched true laboring men who work with their arms and not with their mouths there was a profusion of American flags."

After the interview with Chief McClaughry the delegates said: "We will carry that case to the Supreme Court. We will beat the city. Then we will sue the city for damages. The law will protect us in carrying the flag."

THEY DIDN'T LIKE THEIR FOREMAN.

Strike of Carpenters on the Ashland Block—Other Labor Troubles.

One hundred and thirty carpenters struck yesterday on the Ashland Block because they did not like their foreman. George A. Fuller, the contractor, will replace them by other men today.

Several German printers reached the city last night from New York, St. Louis, and other cities to take the places of the strikers on the three German dailies. The jobs are almost all taken.

The projected strike of the Pullman Palm House, Calumet avenue and Eighteenth street, due yesterday, did not take place. It was postponed until the Central Labor bodies could take further action on it.

The Gravel Roofers' Union was granted its demand yesterday of eight hours and a minimum rate of wages, and so there was no strike.

The threatened trouble with the longshoremen was quieted by the various steamship lines paying them off directly from the offices instead of having them paid by Contractor McRae, whose method of paying by having his cashier go around among the men was not satisfactory. This arrangement is only temporary and until the contractor opens an office. Lake freights are being handled on time.

The Coopers' Union is fighting the convict-made cooper work which is used extensively in the Stock-Yards. It will send delegates to the Republican convention at Springfield to ask the party to place itself on record against this prison work coming in competition with honest labor. Of the 1,[illegible] berths for coopers in Chicago only 250 are occupied—that is to say, three-fourths of the cooper work formerly done exclusively by workmen in Chicago is now the output from various penitentiaries.

The Architectural Ironworkers' Union instead of striking yesterday for eight hours and a 35-cent minimum wage rate referred the matter to the Arbitration committee, with power to act. Conferences are being held, and it is probable that the differences will be amicably adjusted.

Printers in the book, job, and weekly newspaper offices received answers yesterday from employers as to their demand of five cents an hour and from 35 to 40 cents a 1,000 ems. All the union offices granted the demands. Two of the largest mixed offices—where both union and non-union men are employed—voluntarily advanced the wages. Several offices have not yet granted the demand.

The bakers decided yesterday to postpone their strike until June [illegible]. There are 1,200 bakers in the unions. If the demands are not granted they will strike shop by shop.

Machine molders have notified their employers that after May 16 their minimum wage rate must be for floor molders $2.75 and bench molders $2.50, with a ten-hour working day, and time and a half for overtime.

GENERAL STRIKE OF CARPENTERS.

They Go Out Because Schedules Are Not Signed.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The United German and English carpenters went on strike today because of the failure of the master framers and carpenters to sign an agreement fixing a schedule of prices for labor. This agreement has been made every year but this year when it was presented only eighteen out of the forty-five bosses signed. By noon, however, the bosses came to terms and all signed the agreement but six.

BALTIMORE, Md., May [illegible]—About 400 house carpenters are on strike here to enforce acceptance of their demand for eight hours to constitute a day's work, the wages to be as heretofore. Eighteen of the employing carpenters here have accepted the decree.

CAIRO, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—With few exceptions the carpenters of Cairo are out on a strike. Several weeks ago their union notified contractors that after May 1 they would work only nine hours a day for ten hours' pay. The contractors refused to accede to the demand. Probably 100 carpenters are out.

GALESBURG, Ill., May 2.—[Special.]—A number of carpenters quit work today because the contractors would not grant the request of the union for a nine-hour day. The union considers the subject tomorrow night and may order a general strike.

STRIKING BOILERMAKERS MEET.

An Exciting Session Held in Bricklayers' Hall Last Night.

Branch No. 1 of the International Association of Boilermakers met yesterday in one of the halls of the Bricklayers' Building, Monroe and Peoria streets. The question of the meeting was the strike which was on to secure $2.75 for a nine-hour day for all workmen who are now employed for less than that amount, and no reduction for such employés as are receiving more. Twelve hundred members were present and the meeting was an exciting one. John Ryan, the Vice-President, presided. The strikers from Chicago and South Chicago were present in great numbers, and their feelings were expressed by the following resolution, adopted by a viva voce vote:

Resolved, That any boilermaker who goes back to work before his boss signs the new schedule of wages will be branded as a non-unionist and he and his children will be branded with the mark of Cain and be forever considered as outcasts by this association.

This resolution was proposed by the committee, which reported that twenty-four out of the twenty-five branches in the association had reported that they would hold out against the contractors if it took all summer.

Pledges of financial support were received from a number of organizations in other cities.

Stonemen Quit Work Yesterday.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 2.—The general strike of the granite-cutters in the Cape Ann quarries was inaugurated today. When the hour for work arrived the sound of the whistle met no response from the men. Notice was sent to the workingmen at Rock Point and at Pigeon Cove some 2,000 men are idle. The demand is for 25 cents an hour and nine hours instead of ten.

Work was suspended in all the quarries at Quincy today until May 4. That day if no satisfactory list is agreed upon the strike will begin in earnest. At present there are 390 members in the Quarrymen's Union in this city who are idle today.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2.—Five hundred quarrymen and stonecutters at Stony Creek and Leetes Island went out on a strike today because their demands were not acceded to by owners. They also wanted a reduction of one hour on Saturdays.

Indianapolis Cigarmakers on Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—The cigarmakers struck today, affecting thirty-nine shops and 300 journeymen. The latter struck for $1, which manufacturers claim they are unable to give. The manufacturers met today and offered to concede the demand on one kind of cigars and made a showing why they cannot concede the demand in all. They also voted to keep the shops closed until the demand is withdrawn. There is little immediate prospect of compromise.

Street-Car Laborers Walk Out.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—One hundred and fifty laborers employed by the Villard syndicate in transforming their horse-car lines into electric systems struck today. They ask for an increase from $1.35 to $1.50 and fare to and from home.

Members of the Lathers' Union to the number of 150 also struck today for an advance of five cents an hour.

Minneapolis Steamfitters Strike.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 2.—[Special.]—The journeymen steamfitters and helpers struck today. They made a number of demands which were not complied with so fully as desired. The employers granted ten hours' pay for nine hours' work, but objected paying everybody alike, as all men are not equally efficient. The controversy about hiring only union men also enters in the contest.

Section Men Join the Strikers.

CINCINNATI, O., May 2.—Two hundred men on the Kentucky Central and Louisville and Nashville roads, including transfer hands, switchmen, yardmen, section hands, and laborers, have struck on account of a reduction in wages from $1.45 to $1.25 a day.

Quarrymen's Union Votes to Suspend.

QUINCY, Mass., May 2.—The Quarrymen's Union has voted to suspend work until a scale of prices was agreed upon by the Granite Manufacturers' Association. This affects, indirectly, the entire granite industry of New England and may result in a general lockout.

To close out Andrews' "Rugby" folding beds, they're offered at about half price. 215 Wabash avenue.

TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1892.

NINE THOUSAND pounds of butter were sold on the Elgin Board of Trade yesterday at 20 cents.

A DISPATCH from Los Angeles, Cal., describes what is said to be the first Buddhist funeral ceremony performed according to the Oriental rites of cremation upon the remains of Byron Adonis, an expert theosophist. The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "The description is correct enough, but the late Mr. Adonis must not think too highly of his originality. The premier American Buddhist whose ashes were scattered to the four winds was, if we are not mistaken, the late Baron de Palm." It is a matter of little consequence. Both Byron Adonis and the Baron de Palm in the flesh were well-known residents of this city, as numerous existing creditors can attest. So wherever in space their astral bodies may be floating, Chicago is ahead as usual.

THE New York stock market was excessively dull Monday and without significant changes in quotations. The local market was fairly active and a shade heavy in some spots. Sterling rates were unchanged. New York exchange sold at a premium. The demand of money coming with the first of the month was rather better than was generally looked for, but it is still far below the supply.—The leading markets were moderately active and unsettled. Influences were conflicting and prices irregular in action. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day July wheat closed 1 cent lower, May corn ¼ cent lower, oats ⅛ cent lower, cash rye ¼ cent higher, barley steady, flax ½ cent higher, July pork 2½ cents higher, lard 7½ cents lower, and ribs steady.

THE New York Voice is trying to force St. John upon the Prohibition Presidential ticket. It says:

> We know how St. John himself fought against the nomination in 1884, and no man in the country had any assurance beforehand from him that year that he could be prevailed upon to accept. The convention went ahead without any assurance, and a wiser thing never was done in politics. He meant his refusal then, he means it now; but now, as then, when he hears the voice of God Almighty speaking to him on the mountain top, he knows that all other voices must become silent, and that refusal will no longer be possible.

O, nonsense! What is the use of compelling St. John to come down from the summits of the delectable mountain and drag himself through another hopeless campaign? Besides, is it fair to Dressmaker Demorest, who already has been selected and is down in the valley all ready to run?

THE stocks of grain in Chicago elevators last Saturday evening were 7,940,000 bushels of wheat, 1,786,000 bushels of corn, 754,000 bushels of oats, 366,000 bushels of rye, and 18,000 bushels of barley. Total, 10,864,000 bushels of all kinds of grain, against 7,543,287 bushels a year ago. For the same date the Secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade states the visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada as 37,936,000 bushels of wheat, 5,956,000 bushels of corn, 3,622,000 bushels of oats, 791,000 bushels of rye, and 536,000 bushels of barley. These figures are smaller than the corresponding ones a week ago by 1,213,000 in wheat and 1,385,000 in corn. The visible supply of wheat for the corresponding week a year ago decreased 1,363,199 bushels.

MR. BARTHOLOMEW, one of the speakers Sunday, asked the question: "Has not the workingman a right to strike, or in other words refuse to sell his labor at too low a price?" If by "strike" is meant refusing to work because the pay does not suit unquestionably the workingman has that right. Outsiders may think he is unwise to do it or may think he is asking too much for his services, but they do not deny that he has a right to leave one place whenever he pleases, unless bound by contract, and go to another or to quit working altogether. But if by "strike" is meant refusing to work for a man unless he pays the wages demanded, at the same time hindering others from working for him for a lower rate of pay if they see fit, the answer is that that sort of a strike is illegal and no one has a right to indulge in it. A man has a right to leave a place, but not the right to leave it and keep others who want to work out of it till the employer has been forced to give the higher pay. A man has a right to refuse to buy something in a store because the price seems to him to be too high, but he has no right to stand near the door and knock down another man who is willing to pay full price for the article.

"IF you like the red flag you had better go to a country where it waves," is the way in which Chief of Police McClaughry replied to a committee which demanded from him the return of the red flags captured Sunday from the men who bore them in procession. The Chief did right to refuse them, and he drew a highly proper distinction between demonstrations in favor of labor and those in which the anarchical element predominates. A member of the delegation made the disingenuous attempt to show that one color is no worse than another. He omitted to say that the red is used by those who adopt it as the express symbol of anarchy and opposition to law. In that sense it should not be tolerated in any civilized community. It is not objected to when used by the auctioneer as a sign that a sale is in progress. It is the intent that constitutes the wrong, and those few organizations of workingmen who have been seduced into adopting the red flag well know it is intended to be carried as a sign of opposition to the law. If they want to live under that kind of a flag they should go to some country where it waves. The people of the United States do not want it, and the citizens of Chicago will duly appreciate the fact that they have a Chief of Police whose "head is level" on the subject. The red flag must not go through the streets of this city.

THE LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATIONS.

The dreaded May day has come and gone without any of the anarchistic outbreaks which were apprehended so seriously. In Paris a man who attempted to place a bomb in a china shop was discovered and driven off by the people themselves. At Tours an Anarchist blew his own hand off with a bomb. Some cartridges were found at Lyons. There were explosions at Ancona and Liege and an infernal machine was discovered near the Woolwich arsenal in London. The value of property destroyed, however, was very slight and no persons were hurt except two of the dynamiters themselves. The organized outbreaks which were expected did not occur. The meetings as a rule were orderly and the speeches not of an inflammatory character. Both in England and Ireland, where there were many meetings, the good sense of the workingmen seems to have been superior to the criminal passions of the Anarchists, and the outcome in every case was the demand for eight hours. The crowd at Hyde Park, London, was immense, and although a few Anarchists sought to incite to violence, the great labor leader, John Burns, who appears to have recovered his influence with the workingmen, completely controlled them and induced them to listen to his wise and pacific counsels. In France, Belgium, Spain, and Italy the Anarchist element asserted itself more aggressively, but the complete police and military preparations to put down any outbreak kept it in subjection. In Germany the demonstration was socialistic rather than anarchistic and took the form of social gatherings, picnics, singing, beer drinking, and gemüthlichkeit. Both in Italy and Germany the sovereigns drove freely through the crowded streets and in France the Prince of Wales paid a public visit to President Carnot, driving through the boulevards as he might have done on the quietest day of the year. All this is gratifying. It is not to be argued because of this quiet and good order, however, that the anarchist assassins will cease plying their secret and murderous avocation, but it shows that they are few in number and that the vast majority of workingmen have no sympathy with them and will seek to secure the reforms for which they are agitating by pacific and moral agencies and by placing their grievances before the public in such manner as will secure the sympathy of society.

In our own city there was the same feeling of good order and, with some trifling exceptions, a disposition to abide by the law and to trust to argument and the ballot rather than to violence and the bomb for the redress of grievances. The procession was not as large as was anticipated by ten or twelve thousand. This was due in part to the withdrawal from the line of some of the unions which were disgusted with the mottoes and red flags of one section composed of alien sympathizers with anarchy. Before the parade was over this section was deprived of its red rags by the police, as the carrying of them was in deliberate violation of the instructions of the civil authorities. Except for this incident the demonstration was without special interest as a pageant. The procession marched in silence. No applause greeted it from the thousands of spectators. At the park the speeches in the main were respectful, argumentative, and in no sense inflammatory, and they were made to small groups at three or four different spots, not half of the unions remaining to hear the speakers when they had reached the end of the tiresome line of march. Evidently the most interested auditors were the police themselves. The precautions taken by the authorities were complete and well carried out. There was no disturbance of the peace in any part of the city during the day and, as it came to a close the deluge of rain put an effectual quietus upon the celebration of Labor day.

The general significance of the event is that the workingmen are beginning to discover that agitation and not revolution is the panacea for their grievances and that the sooner they repudiate the murderous wretches who have crept into their unions and who are continually seeking to incite them to violence, the sooner they will be likely to accomplish their reforms. In this great peaceful labor revolution which is gathering all over the world there is no room for assassins. In this country there is no place for these alien wretches whose only idea of reform is to kill and mutilate with bombs, to destroy property, to throttle the law, and to overturn society. The sooner, therefore, the workingmen not only condemn the doctrines taught by these murderous ruffians of the Most and Ravachol sort, but kick them out of their organizations and put them under police surveillance, the sooner will they command public attention and secure public investigation of their grievances.

"THE GLORY OF THE FAIR."

Under this caption the New York World of last Sunday has a highly appreciative article in regard to the management of the preparations for the World's Fair, and the prospects of success for the great exhibit. "There may have been some faults in the management, but errors in such an enterprise are unavoidable" is the least commendatory sentence in the article, which concedes that the foundations have been laid for an exhibition greater in every admirable way than any that has ever been held in the world, and that probably few Americans dream of the magnitude of the exhibition to be made, or of its magnificence.

It was often said a year ago that in the hands of Chicago the Exhibition would be dominated by the materialistic spirit. The result promises precisely the reverse of this. In the Art Building there is a mile and a half of wall space for pictures, and every inch of it will be occupied. France alone has asked for 88,000 square feet, and every country which has a reputation in art has asked for three or four times more space than even this liberal provision will allow. The World thinks it is safe to say that there will be at Chicago next year the greatest collection of modern works of art ever brought together in any place, and that the artistic impulse which will go out from the display will be the most notable and effective influence of its kind that has yet stimulated endeavor in America. In the matter of machinery the showing promises to be equally extraordinary. It was thought at the outset that American exhibiters would require about three times as much space as was provided at Philadelphia. But they have already applied for six times as much, "and the end is not yet." Foreign exhibiters have applied for two or three times the space occupied by machinery in any former international fair, and the promise is for a display which will astonish even those whose expectations were a few months ago regarded as too extravagant for realization.

The article states that the buildings themselves will constitute a show worth going a thousand miles to see. There is one of them that measures a mile and a half in circuit, and those which do not cover more than an acre and a quarter are deemed insignificant, while the architectural value of the structures is worthy of their size. In regard to the international character of the display it is said that the entries already made show that with the single exception of France every foreign nation will be much more largely represented than it was at Paris. The space already applied for by foreign exhibiters is more than double that which they occupied at the French capital. This outlook and situation reflect the greatest credit upon Chicago, and "securely promise the most abundant honor to the country." The World gracefully adds that it will be gratifying in the highest degree to every patriotic mind thus to know that the World's Fair is certain to be the most notable exhibition ever made.

These editorial utterances of appreciation may well be commended to the attention of the few carpers on the seaboard who still affect to believe that the Fair will not be worthy of the Nation and its history during the four centuries that have elapsed since the event the Fair is designed to commemorate. They are the result of a candid and careful survey of the situation, and cannot but be indorsed by any unprejudiced person who will take the trouble to ascertain what has been done, the way it has been performed, and the extent of the arrangements already made by foreigners, as well as citizens of the United States, to share in the gigantic display. The World is entitled to thanks for its discriminative candor in regard to the Columbian Fair.

RANCHERS AND RUSTLERS.

Later news from Johnson County, Wyo., confirms the worst fears in regard to the terrible conditions that have prevailed there for two or three years past. The rustlers, or cattle thieves, appear to have done pretty much as they liked, acting as if they were masters of the country. It became a question with the large stockmen whether to take their cattle elsewhere or adopt vigorous measures which would render such a step unnecessary. They may not have acted with commendable prudence. It is admitted that the cattlemen killed four of the rustlers in the last four months, without any personal loss to their own number. The intimation by the other side that the cattlemen "ought to be satisfied" with this, carrying with it the inference that those who have sympathized with the rustlers will also be satisfied if the quarrel is allowed to drop, itself tells a fearful story. It indicates that there must have been a horrible insecurity for life and property in that part of the world, and justifies the suspicion that "bad men" form an important part of the community.

Yet the existence of a silver lining to this dark cloud is shown by the proposition to compromise the "difficulty." It is evident the people other than the big cattlemen and the rustlers do not all sympathize with the latter, as has been alleged. Many of them have joined in making overtures of peace. These are signed officially by the County Commissioners, the County Attorney, and the Sheriff, but it is plain there is a powerful popular pressure behind them. The people who have thus incited the authorities are quoted as admitting the presence of thieves in great numbers, but they say they believe those outlaws will now be suppressed. "Many of them will leave, and those who remain can be handled." The official circular invites all owners of cattle, including those who personally or by representatives have participated in the recent uprising, to send suitable persons to their ranches to attend to the rounding-up and preservation of their property. It pledges to them the resources of the county in the protection of their interests there, and suggests that good men stand ready to work and help round-up the cattle during the coming season.

It is true some of the cattlemen profess to fear these Greeks, though bearing the olive branch. One of the number says the Sheriff has rarely attempted to secure evidence against a thief and has been the firm friend of rustlers, the attorney is the only man to whom the thieves will take their business, and every member of the board has been openly with the thieves for the last four years. But this neither proves that the overture will be rejected nor that it is not made in good faith. Something may be conceded to the violence of feeling on the one side, and on the other to a conviction that the people want to see cattle-stealing on a wholesale scale put a stop to in Johnson County as the only way in which they can expect to retain the large interest of the ranchers among them. The last named appears to be the most important spur to the proposal for peace, as it was said at the conference that if there be no reform a large part of the taxable wealth of the county in the shape of herds will soon be driven off to Montana by the owners. There is room to hope that the trouble will soon be ended, and deeds of violence either to person or property will be comparatively rare in Johnson County in the future.

DEFENSE OF A SALARY-GRABBER.

C. W. Pavey, the salary-grabbing State Auditor, is not wise in permitting his relatives and hyphenated henchmen to rush into print for the purpose of setting up a technical but untenable defense against one of the minor and the least important of the charges preferred against him. Such a course directs further attention to the graver charge that Mr. Pavey has annually grabbed $5,000 of insurance fees in defiance of the law and the Constitution. It also tends to bring into notice his secondary grab of $325 each year from the State Board of Equalization.

The technical defense set up by Mr. Pavey is that he reported the insurance fees collected by him and that he turned over a certain sum as fees to the State Treasurer. That is admitted. But he did not report the fees as required by law, and he held out—grabbed, hooked, fobbed, whatever he chooses to call it—$5,000 of these fees for his own private use. Mere pettifogging by the salary-grabber's organ cannot meet the accusation.

Does Mr. Pavey deny that he hooked the $5,000? Does he deny that he collected fees as ex-officio member of the State Board of Equalization contrary to the law and the Constitution? Does he deny that he resorted to lobbying, to wirepulling, and to more reprehensible methods to defeat the bill recommended to the General Assembly last year by Gov. Fifer which was intended to prevent the mismanagement of the Auditor's office by Mr. Pavey and the illegal grabbing by him of fees and other perquisites?

These are the questions that Mr. Pavey will have to answer in order to obtain the hearty support of the Republicans of this State for reëlection.

It would be criminal folly on the part of the Republican convention which meets this week at Springfield to nominate Mr. Pavey until he has refuted the grave charges preferred against him. The convention cannot afford to load down the ticket with the name of a law-defying, Constitution-ignoring salary-grabber. It cannot afford to nominate a Republican State officer who sought the aid of a Democratic committee Chairman to protect him in his misappropriation of the public funds and in defeating a necessary legislative bill recommended by the Governor of the State. It would be ridiculous to place the name of Pavey on the same ticket with that of Joseph W. Fifer, for the latter can be quoted from every Democratic platform in condemnation of the methods of the former.

The Republican convention is not called together to continue salary-grabbers in office, but to nominate honest, capable, law-abiding, faithful men for State officers. It is its duty to condemn salary-grabbing and to repudiate salary-grabbers. There ought to be no place on the ticket for Mr. Pavey. He may drag it all down to defeat if he gets on it; for the ticket will be no stronger than its weakest; and if the convention renominates Pavey it will be in the position of apologizing for and excusing this salary grab.

AFRAID TO TELL THE TRUTH.

The orators who held forth on the Lake-Front Sunday to the throngs of workingmen assembled there informed their hearers that they were suffering from the oppression of capital and that they ought to free themselves from it. The workingmen in question did not show any symptoms of acute suffering at the hands of any one. They were well dressed and looked well fed. They seemed to enjoy life and were not at all cast down by the information that they were groaning beneath the yoke of a tyrant.

But while many of the speakers were profuse in their denunciations of the alleged injuries inflicted on labor by capital they had not a word to say about the wrongs inflicted on labor by itself. Not one of them delicately hinted to his hearers that if they were to cut down the amount spent by them yearly for liquor their expenses would not be so great and their ability to earn would be increased. If any one of these orators had put side by side the total amount of additional yearly wages which the workingmen of Chicago would like to get and the total amount of their yearly drink bill there would not have been very much difference in size between the two items.

If a labor leader were to talk prohibition of course no one would listen to him, but if he were to point out to his people what they would gain by substituting moderate for immoderate drinking they might heed him. If the Lake-Front speakers had seen fit they might have told their audiences that many of them had impaired the value of the labor commodity they have for sale by too much drinking, thus lowering their wages themselves, and that they had suffered more at their own hands and those of the saloonkeeper than those of the capitalist. If the orators had chosen they might have said that the working classes had spent a great many millions for drink, while if they had used half that amount to buy land instead of liquor it would have been much better. No one ventured to dwell on this subject from fear that it would not be popular. The labor agitator knows mankind, and is well aware that people do not like to have their own faults pointed out and prefer to be regaled with accounts of the misdeeds of others. Some English labor leaders have spoken out boldly; those of this country appear to be afraid to do so.

It was stated on the Lake-Front that the workingmen want shorter hours and better pay. So do all men. No wish can be more commendable or natural, but the best way to get those things is to make one's labor more efficient. Whoever does that sooner or later gets the better pay and the shorter hours. Organization often expedites the process, but organization could accomplish nothing permanent unless the organized labor were more efficient. When one of the speakers said, addressing his foreign-born hearers, that their children should learn English, he had in view their increased efficiency if they knew the language of the country. It is a pity that he did not go a step farther and ask each man present to count up on his fingers the number of persons he knew who had made their labor inefficient and almost destitute of value through excessive drinking. That would be practical talk, much superior to these hackneyed harangues about the "capitalistic press," the "capitalistic police," and the approaching day when the world will be turned upside down.

If the workingmen had advisers who dealt more in truth and less in flattery they might be much better off. But perhaps they prefer to be humbugged and to be told that they are the victims of intolerable oppression.

DR. KITTO'S REMEDY FOR DIPSOMANIA.

There is printed elsewhere in this issue an interesting interview with Dr. Robert A. Kitto of Racine, Wis., who has reason to believe he has discovered an absolutely reliable specific for dipsomania. Like Dr. Keeley, he asserts that dipsomania is a disease and that it can be cured by his specific. He does not engage to cure a man's nature nor to make him invulnerable to whisky after he is cured, but it is a great point gained to check the disease and give the patient a fresh and strong position for battling against the evil. Dr. Kitto has two remedies which he uses, one including an hypodermic injection and internal remedy, the other being simply an internal remedy. The formula of the latter he has given to the world and any druggist can prepare it. It is as follows:

Ichthyol ammon sulpho	2 drachms
Hydrastis sulphate	1 drachm
Tr nux vomic	2 drachms
Resorcine	2 drachms
Tr. columbo (non-alcoholic)	3 ounces
Liq. ammon. acetate, q. s.	3 ounces

Two teaspoonfuls every three hours for three weeks.

Directions to druggists how to compound the medicine: The Columbo must be a non-alcoholic tincture. Evaporate the alcohol, then supply the volume left by evaporation of the alcohol by an equal volume of water, otherwise an insoluble precipitate will be had.

As the result of long continued experiments with this treatment Dr. Kitto says: "I can safely say that if followed carefully and with a desire on the part of the person taking it to be cured, it will prove effective in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred." In any event here is the formula. Any druggist can compound it. Any doctor can prescribe it. If Dr. Kitto has given the world a cheap and successful cure for dipsomania that fact should be demonstrated by the profession. Any doctor can try it who wishes to, and it should be tried thoroughly in justice to the discoverer and the profession, and in mercy to the victims of this almost universal disease. It can be prepared at a minimum of cost, and it can be taken without interfering with a man's business. Dr. Kitto also gives his formula for the treatment of the morphine, opium, or tobacco habit, and the same suggestions apply to it also. If these formulas will not do what is claimed for them it can easily be shown. If on the other hand they will cure, as he claims, let them be given a fair trial. Dr. Keeley's remedy meanwhile will continue to be used according to its proven merits and durability. His fame already is secure as the original discoverer of a cure for drunkenness. If Dr. Kitto has found a better remedy it easily can and ought to be demonstrated.

A LABOR orator says:

> The qualities we dislike and fear are those which insure financial success under the present social order—shrewdness, hardness of heart, the spirit to trample on the weak. We love the qualities that send men to the poorhouse—generosity, pity, sympathy, and the love of helping the weak.

With the exception of shrewdness he has not stated correctly the essentials of financial success on a large or a small scale. Economy and industry are the primary essential qualities. Hardness of heart is not necessary, but an abhorrence of wastefulness is. Furthermore the man who achieves financial success is not generally the one who addles his brain and weakens his mind by excessive drink. It cannot be assumed that the advisers of the workingmen are opposed to economy and industry. It cannot be that they find fault with the man who invests his savings in a building association instead of spending them in a saloon. Nor are generosity, pity, and sympathy the qualities which send men to the poorhouse. Self-indulgence, laziness, and wastefulness which gives pleasure to the waster and to no one else are the qualities which fill the poorhouse. There is a large institution of that kind at Jefferson. An inquiry will show that shiftlessness, laziness, liquor, and extravagance filled it and not generosity or aiding the weak.

THE big brewers are reported to have resolved to put down the price of beer to $2 per barrel. They admit the article "cannot be made for the money," which includes the government tax, but say that is the only way in which they can prevent the whole business from going to smash under the intense competition due to high profits in the past. Time was when the thing was such a bonanza that the brewers could feel like saying they cared not who made the laws for the people so long as they were allowed to brew their beer, but these halcyon days are gone by, perhaps never to return. There are too many houses the proprietors of which are anxious to make beer, and even if those men should effect a compromise, which is more than probable, the agreement will have to include the care of the establishments that must lie idle while the rest are at work. That is the trouble with all trust arrangements, and the fact may yet prove to be an efficient cause for their overthrow, independently of government interference. It is a question how much the consumption of beer will be increased by the cut-throat policy of the brewers, and it is an interesting one for the temperance people as well as for the practical philanthropist who is not prepared to join the ranks of the prohibitionists.

Ex-Councilman Robert Thomas of Germantown, Pa., is old enough to remember the reception to Lafayette in Germantown in 1824. Of a story sometimes circulated that there were two receptions, one for the plain people and another for society leaders, Mr. Thomas says: "No, that isn't true, and I'll tell you why. My two uncles were out in the field at work, and when they heard the music they threw down their scythes and passed through the hall at the Chew House with the rest of the throng who had come to do honor to the Marquis. They were in their shirt-sleeves, and one of them had his horn sharpening his scythe stuck in his belt. Lafayette grasped them both heartily by the hand and assured them that he was glad to see them."

The Grand Duke of Hesse is about to dispatch his uncle, Prince William of Hesse, to Berlin to bear to the Kaiser the news of his father's death and his own succession. The proceedings at the German Court on such occasions are very quaint. In fact there is almost as much mummery about them as there is about a funeral oration in Congress. The Emperor and his court, all in deep mourning, receive the envoy in a room hung with black. The envoy enters with a lugubrious air, and dejectedly announces the demise of his sovereign, while the Emperor deplores the loss and makes a suitable eulogy of the departed one. Then an hour later the Emperor and court, all in gala dress, receive the envoy again, there is much jubilation and joy, and the old adage about "the king is dead; long live the king," gets a new confirmation.

Lawrence Hutton, in a recent article in the Forum, draws in his review a striking parallel of the bruiser Sullivan going through the Southern States upon a professional tour lodged in the best apartments of the best hotels, riding in parlor cars, and of Frederick Douglass traveling over the same roads and visiting the same towns but a few days later and compelled to accept second-class accommodations (upon a first-class ticket) and to dine, like a leper, in a pen set apart for a contaminated and contaminating race. Mr. Hutton calls the former "the incarnation of brutality," the latter "a talented, educated, and refined gentleman, whose name will grow in the history of the Nation as a heroic figure, but his mother was black, while the other will only be known for a short time after his demise as a drunkard, ruffian, slugger," who knocked out for money several other professional bruisers.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

In "The Check-Book" Mr. Charles Coghlan has written a bright and entertaining comic play. The piece is a combination of the elements of farce and pure comedy. Some of the incidents and several of the characters belong to the realm of farce. Other characters and incidents, as well as most of the dialogue, suggest a modernization of Boucicault's early manner, while here and there is a glimpse at dialogue writing which recalls the style of W. S. Gilbert in "Engaged" and "Tom Cobb." But, comedy or farce, "The Check-Book" is enjoyable. The author and his talented sister presented it before a large and brilliant audience at McVicker's last evening and the impression created was distinctly favorable.

The first act seemed lethargic at first, and the primary impression was that there was too much talk for the action. The latter portion of the act is animated, however, and a deftly contrived incident brings down the curtain. The second act contains several well written scenes. One of these is capitally acted by Miss Coghlan and Thomas Whiffen. Another was very effective in the hands of the author and Miss Coghlan. A droll incident caps the comic climax near the close of this act, and the situation at its close was received with a spontaneous burst of laughter which set the seal of approval upon "The Check-Book."

The plot of the piece is trivial. Lottie Pringle (Miss Coghlan), a wealthy young woman who imagines herself to be "strong-minded," marries her cousin, Tom Pringle, a comically weak and impecunious fellow, played by Mr. Coghlan. She gives him an allowance and possesses a check-book which has a magnetic quality. When she needs Tom she draws forth the check-book, and he is certain to hover near, attentive and expectant. Stopping at the same hotel in Havre are Col. Simcox and his wife. The Colonel pretends to be an American and is fond of letting the bird of freedom scream with a cockney accent. Mr. Thomas Hunter gives a well-studied impersonation of this eccentric impostor. Mrs. Simcox is a pretty young woman, who has been obliged to marry this elderly impostor for money, which, however, she does not get. The Colonel denies her the luxuries dear to feminine hearts, and she and Pringle, both kept on short commons, become kindred souls. From sheer kind-heartedness Pringle obtains little presents for Mrs. Simcox, with whom he has a very mild flirtation. Mrs. Pringle's check-book pays for these. At last Tom sends a new gown to Mrs. Simcox. It is sent to his hotel apartments and Mrs. Pringle thinks it is a present for her from her husband, and that he has saved his allowance to buy it for her. This leads to the most amusing incident in the play, that which concludes the second act. The revelation of the real affection of Mr. and Mrs. Pringle for each other, awakened by mutual jealousy, is a pleasing element in the comedy.

Mr. Coghlan deserves high praise for the crisp brightness of his dialogue. His writing is never dull and is sometimes witty. His materials are all original, it is believed, and this can be said of few plays produced at the present time. The cast is strong. Miss Coghlan and her brother are delightful in comedy of this kind, and the support is admirable. The stage settings are handsome. "The Check-Book" deserves popularity.

A brilliant audience at Hooley's greeted the return to Chicago of the freshest and sweetest of American plays—Alabama. Augustus Thomas wrote it with sympathy and simplicity, never imagining that it would win him both fame and fortune, but hoping that at the most it would please the New York patrons of Mr. A. M. Palmer's company. The play has united North and South in its tender pathos and gentle humor; and while other dramas dealing with the Civil War have existed by flattering partisan prejudices, this one by appealing to the highest sentiments of universal humanity has succeeded in making "the whole world kin." "Alabama" was written with the ease of one of Burns' poems, and like them it is assured of a graceful immortality. More elaborate pieces have been written on American subjects, but not one so flower-like as this in its growth and fragrance.

There are few changes in the cast since the play was given in this city. Miss Jennie A. Eustace plays Mrs. Page, the part that originally fell to Mrs. Agnes Booth. Mr. E. M. Holland retains the character of the courteous Col. Moberly, which is polished to the highest degree both in manner and in art. Equally perfect on a lower plane is the 'Squire Tucker of Charles L. Harris—a creation taken in its conception by the author and its execution by the actor as original as a new Falstaff. Mr. J. H. Stoddart is still the conservative old planter; Mr. Maurice Barrymore is the liberal and progressive son; and Miss Agnes Miller, who, by the way, is an English girl, gives an ideal picture of Southern maidenhood. Other names, like those of Edward Bell, Walden Ramsay, and other favorites, continue to grace a cast which could hardly be bettered.

Bloomington Leader: The Democrats are opposed to compulsory education, to voluntary education, and to education in every and any form. They vote the ticket because their fathers voted it and they are content to live in the "good old times before the wah."

Streator Free Press: To make Altgeld Governor would be to place the corrupt elements in power. Altgeld is a demagogue of the worst stripe, who panders to the most vicious, dangerous, and corrupt elements in Chicago. Himself a capitalist who does not hesitate to use his money for doubtful political purposes he denounces the accumulation of vast wealth by others.

Quincy Whig: It is estimated that State Treasurer Wilson will pocket $150,000 of interest on the State funds during his two years' term, and it is probably not an exaggeration to say that the interest on the various public moneys in Illinois, State, county, city, and school district, aggregates not less than a million dollars a year. This interest belongs to the people, not to the officeholders in whose hands it is intrusted, and they look to the Republican party to secure it to them.

Joliet Republican: The people of this State want a candidate for Governor to have some other recommendation than the fact that he is rich. They want brains and character and Americanism, and these, too, without demagogism, anarchism, or any other detestableism which is so often resorted to by small-calibered politicians. These characteristics they have in Gov. Fifer, and with these things in his favor and the lack of them in his opponent we expect to see Fifer elected by a large majority.

Charleston News (Dem.): Since Altgeld is now regularly nominated a sort of horse bill ought to be issued and sent broadcast over the State, stating exactly who he is, what he drinks, where he goes to church, the length and shade of his whiskers, the depth of his purse, his nativity, what his line is in professional foreignisms, and in short what he is here for.—If Judge Altgeld knows his business, and we anticipate that he does, that barrel will not be trusted to the hands of the Cook County Marching club or the State Central committee of saloonkeepers. The barrel should be in the hands of its friends.

Davenport (Ia.) Democrat (Dem.): The Republicans of the Seventh Illinois Congressional District met yesterday and renominated T. J. Henderson for Congressman. The Democrat opposes Mr. Henderson politically, but it isn't mean about it. If the Republicans must elect the Congressman from that district we want that man to be the Hon. Thomas J. Henderson. He has worked early and late for the interests of Illinois and Iowa in working for the Hennepin Canal; not with a brass band and loud mouthings of his influence and importance, but quietly, decently, and effectually. We honor him for what he has done for the welfare of his State and constituents; admire him for his clean record as a statesman and a gentleman, and love him for the good he has done for us.

NOT FOR HARRISON.

SIGNIFICANCE OF NEW YORK AND PENNSYLVANIA CONVENTIONS.

The Minneapolis Convention Is Not to Be a Ratification Meeting—A Strong Drift in the Direction of Some New Candidate—Will It Be John Sherman or the Magnetic Man from Maine?—The Biggest States Decide to Send Unpledged Delegations.

Buffalo (N. Y.) Express (Rep.): Yesterday's convention at Albany showed two things. The vote of New York will not be given for Harrison, and the Republican party must make up its mind to go through another campaign under command of Thomas C. Platt. The out-and-out Harrison men were scarce yesterday. Only forty-eight of the 777 delegates were instructed for the President and they made no impression on the convention. This decisive opposition from the State in which the battle must be fought will have more effect at Minneapolis than the hearty support of a dozen sure-Republican States. No politician could be so insane as to seek to nominate a man whom the doubtful States do not want.

Mr. Harrison will be about the hardest candidate to elect of any the Republicans can name. We believe the people of Northern New York think so, too, judging by the fact that they have indorsed only his past acts and have not instructed their delegates to work for his renomination.

No Nomination on the First Ballot.

Detroit (Mich.) Tribune (Rep.): The Republican National convention will not nominate the Republican candidate for President on the first ballot this year—unless it shall nominate James G. Blaine. The Republican conventions in New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio have settled that. This is not of necessity an indication that President Harrison is not to be renominated at Minneapolis, but it is a guarantee that the action of the convention will be so careful and deliberate that whoever shall be nominated will be triumphantly elected, and this is a feature of the Presidential canvass which the Republicans of the Nation should view with profound satisfaction.

And that is what—and it is all—the impartial and loyal Republicans other than those advocating the renomination of President Harrison have been contending for. They have simply desired such action by the National convention as would arouse the party enthusiasm and insure victory at the polls in November. They have desired to provide against a hasty decision and possible error in the selection of a candidate. They have been as anxious in behalf of the reëlection of the President, if he should be nominated, as they have been for the selection of some leader bound somewhat closer to them than the President by ties of locality or of personal acquaintance. They have acted in undoubted loyalty to the party, independently of any and all of the available candidates for the Presidential nomination.

Upon this result of the preliminary conventions of the several States the Republican party in general is to be warmly congratulated. The Republicans of Michigan have especial reason for gratification also, for it insures earnest consideration of the strength and availability of the candidate from this State—as well as all others whose names may be presented—and whatever the result of the National convention they will return to their homes when it is over with enthusiastic determination to carry Michigan for the nominee.

The Republican party is getting ready for another great national victory.

Knives Coming Out of Political Boot-Legs.

Milwaukee (Wis.) Journal (Rep.): Every day appears to increase the opposition to Harrison within his party, while the reverse is true as to Cleveland's strength in the Democratic party. Early in the campaign the opponents of Harrison hoped for the nomination of Blaine. Disappointed in that because their Plumed Knight has not sufficient vigor to lead them to the fight, they have as yet failed to concentrate upon a successor to him, but still they hope to defeat the nomination of Harrison. The opposition to the President appears to be very strong in the Senate, and as each Republican Senator has influence in his own bailiwick the plan of uninstructed delegations has few obstacles in many States. In the South the Federal officials constitute the main part of the party. Of course their work is all for their chief, but the experience of Arthur in 1884 shows how little such votes are to be relied upon when boodle comes to the fore and visions of the loaded wagon before the test of another candidate are seen.

A month ago it appeared as though nobody would contest the nomination with Mr. Harrison. Today there are more delegates pointed toward Minneapolis without instructions than with orders to vote for him. The combination may fail to materialize, but it is certainly true that if Harrison wins now it will be because his opponents cannot agree upon whom to set up in his place. The knives that have been reposing in political boot-legs are flashing in the air all over the country and their glitter is ominous.

Leaving the Field Open.

New York World (Ind. Dem.): The failure of the Republican conventions to instruct their national delegates—particularly those of Maine, Pennsylvania, and New York—means that Mr. Harrison is not yet certain of a renomination. The probability is that he will be nominated by reason of an inability of the leaders to agree on anybody else. But there is no enthusiasm for the President in the ranks of the party, and he is disliked by the stalwarts of the West and distrusted by the bosses of the East. At the best he is simply accepted as inevitable, and will be given a perfunctory nomination.

Cheers for Blaine and Fassett.

New York Times (Ind.): The convention gave little comfort, solace, or encouragement to the President.

It carried as much enthusiasm as a machine-built and a machine-run convention could, but none of the enthusiasm was thrown upon Harrison, but, on the contrary, was showered over his Secretary of State, James G. Blaine; J. Sloat Fassett, and Chauncey M. Depew.

As a matter of fact, Blaine and Fassett were its idols.

The mention of the name of either, at any time, by any speaker, precipitated a downpour of rapturous and uproarious applause.

Two Republicans were treated with marked and studied contempt.

One was Harrison, the other was the only Republican United States Senator from New York, Frank Hiscock, who sat glowing among the Onondaga delegation, unnoticed, uncared for, and neglected.

The President and His Party.

New York Herald (Ind.): The Republican convention at Albany did not instruct its delegates to make a strong fight for Mr. Harrison at Minneapolis. If you look the country over rather carefully you will discover, but not to your surprise if you have been watching the drift of events, that the enthusiasm for Mr. Harrison is as solidly frozen as the northeast corner of an iceberg. The party as a party wants Blaine, because in the matter of personal magnetism and the ability to arouse the people to the exploding point he is to Mr. Harrison about what a blazing fire is to a burnt cinder. If Mr. Blaine were ten years younger, or in spite of his sixty-odd years were in reasonably robust health, he would probably afford us a series of very interesting spectacles between now and November. But time and physical ailments, the latter more than the former, have made him disinclined to run any great risks. Mr. Harrison, therefore, congratulates himself that he has the right-of-way, but he must accept the doleful fact that the National convention will regard him as a sort of last resort. "We don't like him, but"—said a delegate at Albany. The word "but," accompanied by a shrug of the shoulders, defines the situation about as clearly as it can be done without the aid of a diagram.

NEAR HIS LAST DITCH.

REVOLUTIONARY FORCES OF VENEZUELA ENCOMPASSING PALACIO.

He Can Make No Strong Resistance to Their Increasing Power—Swift Vengeance Would Follow the Putting to Death of Crespo's Son—Insurgents Will Soon Cut Off Communication Between Caracas and Victoria—Palacio Issues a Circular to Venezuelans.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

BARQUISIMETO, Venezuela, May 2.—Dictator Palacio's threat to kill the 23-year-old son of Gen. Crespo as soon as the last named comes within a league of Caracas has reached the head followers of the revolutionists and excited great indignation. Gen. Crespo declares if his son be put to death Palacio will will be burned at the stake in the plaza in front of the Casa Amarilla.

Gen. Crespo is getting dangerously near to Caracas, but he is not prepared to attack it. He will not descend on the capital until Victoria has fallen. Crespo has completely outgeneraled Palacio's officers. Masked by the mountainous country between Caracas and San Sebastian, he has honeycombed the passes and advantageous positions with men, and Guerre, who, with Alayon and others, has rendered Casañas helpless on the prairies in and around Calabozo, has been ordered up to the investment of Victoria. Since Saturday night Guerre has been making forced marches from the prairie country. Once he gets across the mountain the slender connection between the capital and Victoria, the only stronghold upon which the dictator's hopes rest, is likely to be cut in twain at any moment. When this is done a deathblow will have been given to Palacio's cause. This information comes direct from Gen. Crespo.

Crespo's camp until lately was between Cagua and Cura. He has left that point and made a tour with a body of 3,000 infantry and 1,200 horse, well equipped and drilled. The men are picked men of previous wars. One of the aides of the old commander sends me these lines, addressed to the Venezuelans in the United States who are in sympathy with the insurgents, and asked me to send it in behalf of the "cause of constitutionality":

Joy. I congratulate you. Success is crowning our arms. Casañas is down. Mora, Guerre, and Crespo are facing toward Caracas. What else do you want? Expect complete triumph soon.

CARRIE.

President Palacio has just issued a circular to the people of Venezuela. In it he says that at the conclusion of the war, whether it results in a victory for the government or submission to the rebels, the different states will be called upon to elect representatives to the Assembly, which will consider the question of the reformed constitution. To this Assembly he will hand in his resignation from public power, which for no human consideration would he retain for a longer period. He concludes by declaring that he has no personal pretensions to continue in power, but retains his high office only in obedience to the law of the existing constitution, which prohibits retirement until a successor shall have been legally placed in authority.

DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT.

Boys as British Soldiers—Labouchere Amused the House of Commons.

LONDON, May 2.—In the House of Commons today Mr. James Lowther, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, stated in reply to questions that the government had no official news of an outbreak in Venezuela. Two British warships had, however, been ordered to La Guayra.

The Right Hon. Sir Edward Stanhope, Secretary of State for War, said he had inquired into the statements that the Connaught draft of troops sent abroad in 1891 was the youngest ever seen; that they had written home that it was expected that half of them would die, and that this expectation had been realized. Mr. Stanhope said that he had found this statement erroneous. Only ten of the 154 soldiers sent abroad had died.

Mr. Henry Labouchere asked whether, when Mrs. Montagu, now serving a one year's sentence in the Londonderry Prison for causing the death of her 3-year-old daughter Helen, came out of prison protection would be secured for her children. The Right Hon. D. H. Madden, Attorney-General for Ireland, responded that he was glad to see that Mr. Labouchere did not expect any change in the government until after April, 1893, when Mrs. Moutagu's sentence expires. If Mr. Labouchere would repeat his question then he would be glad to answer him. The Attorney-General's response caused laughter.

British Victory in West Africa.

A telegram from the British West African colony of Gambia received at the War Office says that a British force, consisting of fifty marines of 300 troops, has captured Toniatabia. During the engagement Capt. Roberts of the First West India Regiment was so severely wounded that he died the same night. Three others of the British force were also severely wounded. The enemy's loss was heavy.

[The colony of Gambia is named from the River Gambia, which rises in the mountains at the back of Sierra Leone; the river flows first towards the north, and then turning towards the west empties itself into the Atlantic about 100 miles south of Cape Verde. The chief town of the colony, Bathurst, is situated on an island at the mouth of the river. The Gambia is the only West African river which is navigable by ocean going steamers. It has twenty-six feet of water on the bar at low tide. Vessels drawing ten feet can go up it for 250 miles. The river was recognized as British in 1783 by the treaty of Versailles. At the census of 1881 the colony had forty white inhabitants. The climate is as unhealthy as that of any other part of West Africa during the rainy season—viz.: from June to October; but during the rest of the year it is fairly healthy. Special inducements are held out to huntsmen, who are promised hippopotami, antelope, monkey, alligator, and other delicacies. The chief export is ground-nuts. They are sent chiefly to Marseilles, where the oil is extracted and used for the same purposes as olive oil. The government is that of a crown colony of Great Britain. Capt. Roberts' expedition is against the natives in the interior.]

Swarms of Locusts in South Africa.

John Burns Set It All Right.

John Burns today succeeded in averting what threatened to become a serious disturbance. A wagon about to enter Hyde Park was stopped at the entrance by the police. The occupants of the vehicle, however, insisted upon their right to enter the park and declined to turn off in obedience to the policeman's orders. The crowd in the rear then began pushing the vehicle forward, and would certainly have overpowered the police in a few moments and provoked a conflict. Just then John Burns came up, and, seizing the horses' heads, turned them off in the direction indicated by the police.

FRENCH MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Strong Gains for the Republicans, Who Probably Have 191 Out of 204 Councils.

PARIS, May 2.—M. Loubet, Prime Minister and Minister of the Interior, today informed the members of the Cabinet that the returns of the municipal elections show a continued increase in the number of Republican candidates elected. The opinion is now that out of the 204 councils elected the Republicans will have a majority in 191. The Republicans head the poll at Fourmies, the Conservatives are next, and the Socialists last.

Leo's Attitude Toward American Schools.

LONDON, May 3.—The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle says: The Pope has confirmed the decision of the propaganda in favor of the plan advocated by Archbishop Ireland of allowing American Catholic schools to be taught by State teachers, religious instruction to be given after school hours, the object being to relieve Catholics of the burden of the expense of separate schools.

COLLIDED IN THE FOG ON LAKE ERIE.

The Iron Steamer Russia Crashes Into and Sinks the Celtic.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., May 2.—A collision resulting in the sinking of two steamers and the loss of one life, so far as known, occurred at 6 o'clock last night during a dense fog on Lake Erie. The iron steamer Russia of the Lackawanna line, with coal and merchandise from Buffalo for Chicago, and the Canadian steamer Celtic, with wheat and package freight from Port Arthur for Canadian ports, came together fifteen miles off Round Eau Piers. Both craft were under good headway of steam and the shock was terrific. The Celtic was cut through and sank almost immediately, the crew being rescued with the greatest difficulty. The cook, a woman named Margaret Strand, was drowned. The Russia's double iron bow was stove in.

The master headed her for the beach at the nearest point and ordered on a full head of steam. The shore was reached one mile east of Round Eau lighthouse. Here the steamer now lies, full of water in the forward compartments. The crews were saved.

The Russia measures 1,335 tons, was built in 1872, is rated at A1½, and is valued at $100,000. The Celtic was built in 1871, measured 413 tons, was rated A2, and was valued at $20,000. Both cargo and boat are insured.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 2.—The steamer Russia is insured as follows: Western of Toronto, $13,333; Standard and British and Foreign, each $10,000; St. Paul, London, North America, and Detroit Fire and Marine, each $5,000; Michigan Fire and Marine, $6,333; Greenwich, $7,500. The coal cargo is insured for $5,200 in St. Paul and Greenwich. Capt. Drake, manager of the Lackawanna Line, and George McLeod, for the underwriters, go to the wreck tonight.

FREIGHT-TRAIN BURIED IN THE MUD.

Goes Through a Broken Bridge Near Michigan City, Ind.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—A disastrous freight wreck in which three men lost their lives occurred this morning at 12:30 on the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago railway, six miles south of here, at a point near Otis. The dead are:

BOWEN, JAMES, fireman, a young unmarried man of Lafayette, Ind.

BROWN, ELMER, brakeman, 21 years old, Michigan City.

MURRAY, JOHN C., engineer, 35 years old, Michigan City.

The train on which they were killed was an extra, north-bound, in charge of Conductor J. B. Litky of this city. The accident was caused by a washout. Near the track was a milldam which fed a small stream spanned by a high bridge supported by piling. During the heavy rain of last night the dam gave way, carrying with it the sawmill and many heavy pieces of timber, which struck the piling and left the rails and upper woodwork without support.

About midnight the freight-train struck the bridge, when the structure fell, carrying down the locomotive. The terrible force of the rushing train soon buried the engine out of sight in the mud to the depth of eight feet, while across the engine a car loaded with pig-iron fell. As the remaining cars came to the bridge they toppled over on the wreck below until nine cars were piled on top of one another.

The bodies of the men have not yet been found. Mr. Murray leaves a wife and two children. Brown was a new man on the road, having taken the place temporarily of one of the trainmen who is taking a vacation. As soon as word could be sent to Michigan City an engine with laborers and some of the road officials was dispatched to the scene of the wreck, but in the darkness little could be done and nothing ascertained as to the extent of the damage.

WON'T BUY SAFETY APPLIANCES.

Jay Gould More Anxious for the Repeal of Western Laws than His Men's Safety.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 2.—[Special.]—"The railway men be d——d," is the substance of Jay Gould's utterance, from the mouth of his son, on the question of safety appliances as reported by the Hon. L. G. Coffin, the apostle of that reform. Mr. Coffin addressed a union meeting of railway men at Fort Dodge, Ia., and stated that of the 175,000 miles of railway in this country, 125,000 are included in the systems which are putting safety appliances on all new equipments. The one great railway system which will give no encouragement to the movement is the Gould system. Mr. Coffin called on George Gould, hoping to receive some encouragement. Gould brought his fist down on the table and declared his road would not spend a dollar for safety appliances until the Western States had repealed their railway laws.

SHOULD INDICT THE LYNCHERS.

Judge Ridley's Instructions to the Grand Jury in the Grizzard Hanging.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 2.—[Special.]—The May term of the Criminal Court opened today. Judge Ridley, after his usual charge to the grand jury, spoke of the mob of Friday night and Saturday. He said that all the men who participated in the hanging of Grizzard, or were present, or aiding or abetting, or were present ready and willing to aid and abet in the killing, were guilty of murder. He said also that all those who participated in breaking, or attempting to break, open the jail, or aided and abetted in such attempt, were guilty of a felony. He told the grand jury it was their duty to investigate as to both matters and to find indictments against all parties found to have been participants. Charles Rear, who was wounded during the firing at the jail Friday night, died today.

DEEMING IS GUILTY.

CONDEMNED TO DIE FOR THE MURDER AT WINDSOR.

The Jury Added That It Did Not Believe Deeming Insane—Dr. Springthorp Tells the Prisoner's Explanation of How His Wives Had Disappeared—Deeming's Plea for Himself—He Confesses to Mental Disease—Dynamite Explosion at Liege, Belgium—Socialism and Anarchy.

MELBOURNE, Victoria, May 2.—Frederick Bailey Deeming was today found guilty by the jury which tried him for the murder of his wife at Windsor. The jury in addition to the verdict proper stated that it did not consider the prisoner insane.

When today's proceedings began Dr. Springthorp was called to the stand. He related Deeming's explanation of how his wives had disappeared. Deeming said that while he and his first wife were living at Rainhill, near Liverpool, a man named Ben Young had told him that his (Deeming's) wife would leave him for $250. He paid the money and his wife left him. He supposed that Young had killed her while he (Deeming) was coming to Melbourne with his second wife (Miss Mather), for whose murder he is now on trial. His second wife, Deeming said, confessed that she was already married, and she left him in Melbourne because she was afraid of being implicated in the murder of his first wife.

Deeming is noted for being a notorious liar, and the above is a specimen of his ability in that line.

The fact is that the Rainhill murder was known to no one save Deeming until after it was known that he had killed his wife. It was the discovery of the latter crime that led the police here to notify the Liverpool police of their suspicions that Deeming had murdered his wife and children at Rainhill. It will therefore be seen that his statement relative to his second wife leaving him for fear of being implicated in the Rainhill murders is without a single grain of truth. After some further testimony by Dr. Springthorp that did not in any way clear the prisoner of the crime preferred against him the defense announced that its case was closed.

After the evidence was all in Deeming's counsel appealed to the jury to give the prisoner the benefit of any doubt that they might entertain as to his sanity.

The Crown counsel contended that there was not a particle of evidence of the insanity of the prisoner, and he said that the jury ought to dismiss all such nonsense from their minds.

Deeming's Plea for Himself.

At this point Deeming interrupted the Crown counsel. It was not the law, he said, but the press that was trying him. If he could bring himself to believe that he committed murder he would plead guilty rather than submit to the gaze of the people in the court—the ugliest race he had ever seen. Some of the witnesses against him had deliberately lied. Whatever he could say would be disbelieved. His witnesses had been kept out of the way. People had sworn to seeing him whom he had never seen in his life. No time had been allowed him to communicate with his witnesses in England and India. It was not pleasant to confess to disease, mental or other, but he had determined to do so in justice to himself and the community. For weeks together he had suffered lapses of memory. In his own mind he knew he was not guilty. As long as Emily Mather had been his wife he had dealt with her as gently and as affectionately as it was possible for any man to do.

The prisoner, continuing his remarks, said:

> I remember no incident which would lead to this awful crime with which I am charged. I know that the people of Melbourne are so infuriated against me that they would lynch me if they had a chance. That, however, would not settle the question of my guilt or innocence. The statement that the body found in this city was that of Emily Mather is a lie. The newspapers have ruined my life forever. If I were freed tonight I would drown myself. I have fought the blacks on the Zambesi and have encountered lions single-handed. I do not fear death. I do not expect justice from the Judge, the jury, or the public. Instead of the trial being postponed so as to enable my counsel to collect evidence showing my innocence of the horrible crime for which I am being tried for my life, it was fixed to occur when the public was enraged against me.

Verdict of Guilty Would Be a Relief.

Deeming minutely criticised the evidence and declared that a verdict of guilty would be the greatest relief to him. He said that his use of assumed names was a fad with him.

After the verdict was announced Deeming asked the Judge to refrain from the usual exhortation. The Judge complied with the prisoner's wish, and simply announced the sentence of death. Deeming composedly responded "Thank you."

When the sentence of death had been pronounced Deeming said that after his death the public would soon know his real history. It was better that the law should destroy him than that he should destroy himself. He would only like to know that Miss Rounseville believed him innocent. In a strong voice he continued to ramble in a similar strain for a long time. Reaching the rails for support he concluded by swearing that he was innocent. He spoke altogether an hour, giving no sign of hesitation or nervousness. The Judge's summing up was strongly against the prisoner.

While Deeming was speaking the scene was a weird one. Owing to the fading of daylight gas and candles had to be lighted. The verdict was given at nearly 9 o'clock.

Outside of the court-house a large crowd assembled, and they were clamorously impatient for the verdict. They finally became so demonstrative and noisy that the police were forced to clear the streets. The announcement of the verdict was greeted with expressions of general satisfaction, for no one believes there is a particle of doubt as to Deeming's guilt, not only of the murder here but of those committed at Rainhill, near Liverpool.

Another Hope for Deeming.

LONDON, May 2.—Deeming can delay execution by an appeal from the verdict in the colonies, which appeal must be heard by the Judicial committee of the Privy Council. If the Judges accede to the petition to rehear a further inquiry will occur. The last instance of the kind was the case of the Canadian rebel, Louis Riel.

BLOWING UP HOUSES IN LIEGE.

Two Buildings Partially Wrecked—The Effort Probably Aimed at Gen. Loudon.

LIEGE, Belgium, May 2.—A dynamite cartridge exploded on the threshold of a house in the Boulevard Sauveniere this evening. The house and a building adjoining were partially wrecked, the flagstones were torn up, and all the windows were smashed. The cartridge, which, it is calculated, contained a pound of dynamite, or, according to artillery Captains who visited the spot, forcite, was deposited under the grating of Count Minette's residence, adjoining the house of Gen. Loudon of the Civic Guard. It is thought probable that the miscreants had intended to blow up Gen. Loudon's residence, but selected the wrong house. The pavement was deeply excavated, the door was smashed, the ceiling of the corridor fell, the marble steps were torn up, and the contents of the rooms were more or less smashed.

A servant in the next house was thrown down by the shock. All the windows within a radius of two hundred yards were damaged. A German who fled from the scene just after the explosion was arrested, but he denied that he was the author. Count Minette was out at the time. The Countess was just about to enter the house when the explosion occurred.

SOCIALISM AND ANARCHY.

Gladstone's Letter to Workingmen's Delegates—May Day Comment.

LONDON, May 2.—At a meeting of workingmen's delegates held in this city last night letters were read from Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour saying that they could not promise to receive a deputation to set forth their claims for the establishment of an eight-hour day. A letter was also read from Mr. Gladstone. In it he said that he would carefully consider the statement of the views of the Trades Union Council, but he considered that the question was not ripe and he hoped to be excused from a conversation from which no advantage could at present be derived. After the reading of Mr. Gladstone's letter one of the delegates proposed that it be consigned to the waste-basket.

BERLIN, May 2.—The North-German Gazette protests against newspapers serving the ends of Socialist agitators by reporting yearly the smallest details of their annual decoration play. It says: "If an American reporter interviews Herr Bebel and sends all manner of insane and misunderstood utterances to his paper, serious German papers ought to be too well aware of the valuelessness of such things to lend themselves to the reproduction of such utterances, thereby clothing the Bebelites with the glamor of celebrities and cynosures."

A court martial has been ordered in the case of the soldiers stationed at Halle in whose possession was recently found a quantity of socialistic literature. The discovery of the objectionable documents was made during an unexpected search of the barracks by officers of the garrison.

PARIS, May 2.—In commenting on the celebrations Figaro today says that despite the peaceful character of yesterday's events the people must not shut their eyes to the fact that the Workingmen's International Union revived yesterday's demonstrations to show that the workingmen are masters of the situation.

The Journal des Debats says: "The negative results of the manifestations ought not to inspire us too readily to a confidence which may prove misleading. There is nothing to justify the idea that we have heard the last of anarchism."

The Republique Francaise says: "We must be prepared to face more serious trials and commotions in the future than those that occurred during the last week. The government should now recognize the calm attitude of the workingmen by studying their demands with a sincere desire to arrive at an equitable solution of the questions involved."

A dispatch received today from Alby, capital of the Department of Tern, states that a dynamite cartridge exploded in a by-street in that city last night. The damage done was trifling.

THE HAGUE, May 2.—The only important disturbance that marred the peaceful character of May day in Holland occurred in Leeuwarden, seventy miles northeast of Amsterdam. Here a conflict occurred between the police and a number of workingmen as the latter were leaving a meeting. The rioters stoned the police and finally the cavalry was called upon to assist in restoring order. The soldiers found no difficulty in dispersing the rioters.

HAVANA, Cuba, May 2.—Perfect quiet prevailed here today. The masons and carpenters went on strike this morning to enforce their demand for an eight-hour day, but they are very peaceable and no one fears that any disturbance will grow out of the strike. The painters and stonecutters also struck for a reduction in their working hours. Thus nearly all the building operations have been brought to a standstill.

MADRID, Spain, May 2.—It is the custom of the Queen Regent to drive nearly every day outside the city. Yesterday, May day, she drove through the city park in an open carriage without any escort, and her action did much to give courage to those who feared almost to leave the shelter of their homes.

CATTLEMEN SUED OUT AN INJUNCTION.

Wyoming Petitioners Urge That Only State Roundups Be Held.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 2.—[Special.]—Tonight United States Circuit Judge Riner received the petition of the cattlemen praying for an injunction to restrain the "rustlers" from participating in any roundups other than the ones appointed by the State Live-Stock Commission. Writs are asked for against the following: Jack Flag, Martin Tisdale, alias Al Allison; Lew Webb, Billy Hill, Tom Gardner, Charles Taylor, Sanford Thompson, alias "Zang" Thomson; Ed Cherpillod, alias "One-Eyed Tex"; Jack Hill, Ed Tway, alias "Eat-'Em-Up-Jake"; John E. Smith, Gus Johnson, alias "Frank Smith"; Henry Smith, Jim Huff, Johnson Lone, Peterson, alias "Chips" Z. Lee Donahue; Al Smith, son of John J. George; George Jordon, John Jones, H. T. McKensie, alias "Jumbo"; Jerry Thomson, Thad Cole, Billy Burnett, Terrance Smith, alias "Coyote Smith"; Billy Wallace, Frank Fisher, Alex. Stewart, Robert Foote, Mike Mitchell, Billy Long. It is expected that a sufficient showing has been made to guarantee the issuing of a temporary restraining order this morning.

United States Marshal Rankin and deputies will leave for Buffalo either tomorrow night or early Wednesday morning. The men upon whom the injunction will be served are located in Johnson County east of the Big Horne range, Western, Crook, and Weston Counties, Southern Sheridan and Northern Converse and Natrona Counties. The Marshal will have a hard time executing his papers even if he meets with no overt demonstration. The Board of Live-Stock Commissioners of the State this afternoon issued a circular changing the roundup dates of Districts Nos. 13 and 16, and making the date of starting in the former May 15 and in the latter May 25. In the place of Commissioners D. R. Tisdale and A. J. Clark, now under arrest at Fort Russell, the commission appointed J. T. Craig and W. P. Ricketts.

CONDITIONS ARE BECOMING CRITICAL.

The Storms of the Northwest the Worst Ever Known—Great Loss.

CRESTON, Ia., May 2.—[Special.]—Saturday night's rain storm was the most disastrous one that has ever been known in this section. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, south from Creston, suffered a severe loss from Conway to Hopkins, a distance of twenty miles. The roadbed is entirely submerged. Heavy washouts have occurred in numerous places between Lenox and Bedford. There is not a county bridge left. Crops on rolling ground are badly damaged if not entirely washed out. The loss will exceed $100,000.

ADRIAN, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—The severest storm known for many years prevailed through this county last night. The house of John Backof in this city was badly damaged by lightning. Many highway bridges are swept away and fields and lowlands in all directions are inundated. At Hudson, west of here, a large factory reservoir broke away, ruining corporation bridges and causing much damage to private property. The loss has been confined to property and live stock.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 2.—A terrible wind and rain storm swept over Holt, Nodaway, and Atchison Counties in Missouri and the southern tier of Iowa counties yesterday. The damage will reach many thousands of dollars, and loss of life is reported in the vicinity of Fairfax, Mo. The Creston branch of the Burlington was washed out for a distance of a mile and a half south of Conway, Ia. The water at this point rose nine inches in an hour.

MAKING HIS FIRST TRIP WEST.

George W. Childs to Attend the Opening of the Printers' Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—George W. Childs, accompanied by F. Percival Farrar, a son of Canon Farrar of Westminster Abbey, and P. H. McCarter, left here at 4:55 this afternoon over the Pennsylvania railroad in a special car for the West, where he goes to attend the opening of the Childs-Drexel Home for Union Printers at Colorado Springs May 12. Mr. Childs has not been a great traveler, and this is his first visit West. Mr. Childs will go as far West as San Francisco, and will go up the Pacific slope as far as Victoria, B. C., stopping on his way at the Cities of Portland, Tacoma, and Seattle.

A committee of Typographical Union No. 16 will meet George W. Childs of the Philadelphia Ledger at the Union Depot at 3:15 p. m. today and escort him to the Herald Building. There Mr. Childs will receive the union printers of Chicago from 4 to 6 p. m. Then an address will be presented him on behalf of the union printers of the city. Thursday evening, from 9 to 11 o'clock, the Press club will hold a reception for Mr. Childs.

THINK THE CITIZENS TOO BACKWARD.

Residents of Milwaukee Coming to Chicago to See the World's Fair Grounds.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Board of World's Fair Managers met tonight at the Plankinton House with a large number of local manufacturers to discuss Milwaukee's exhibit at the Columbian Exposition. Executive Commissioner Kirkland said that the people of Wisconsin were not as enthusiastic in the matter as they should be, but he found this to be largely due to the general impression that there was still plenty of time to make application for space and prepare for exhibit. Considering the number of its manufacturers, Milwaukee was particularly backward. Thus far but fifteen or twenty manufacturers of this city had applied for space.

An Indiana Elopement.

WABASH, Ind., May 2.—[Special.]—Frank Bullard, a druggist of this city, and Miss Nannie Murphy, a handsome Wabash girl, eloped Friday and were married by the pastor of a Presbyterian Church at Lafayette, Ind., Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Bullard have returned to Wabash.

JOHN MOST MUZZLED.

NOT ALLOWED TO SPEAK BEFORE CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

His Friends Create Disturbance and the Police Have to Interfere—He Delivers a Characteristic Harangue at Clarendon Hall and Again Declares Himself a Revolutionist—Successful Opening of the Actors' Fund Fair—Dr. Briggs Wins a Victory in the New York Presbytery.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—John Most did not speak tonight at the mass-meeting of the Central Labor Union in Union Square, called to "boom" the eight-hour movement, but his friends were on hand. The leaders of the Central Labor Union did not invite Most to speak, and before the convening of tonight's meeting publicly announced that should the anarchist attempt to push himself forward as a speaker they would hand him over to the police. One man was speaking when the crowd called loudly for Most. At this point George K. Lloyd, Secretary of the Central Labor Union, said: "We want no Anarchists here. We——" That was as far as he got, for the crowd charged on him, and serious trouble would probably have ensued but for the interference of the police. Most's friends were for the time in practical possession of the field. Miss Goldman, one of Most's friends, in a torrent of German denounced God and governments, while the crowd cheered her to the echo.

Another meeting was held at Clarendon Hall, where Most was invited to the platform. His utterances were of the usual character, beginning with the cry, "Viva Anarchia, Viva Revoluzzione." He then went on to abuse the men who had failed to invite him to speak at Union Square. "I am a revolutionist," he said, "and as such I say all Anarchists ought to go out, unsheath the sword, and mow these men down."

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF THE FAIR.

A Large Crowd Hears Edwin Booth and Joseph Jefferson.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—The Actors' Fund fair was formally opened at the Madison Square Garden tonight. A large crowd of people witnessed the ceremonies. A. M. Palmer, Chairman of the Fair committee, thanked the workers and contributors in a few plain words, and introduced the "two foremost men in our profession, Edwin Booth and Joseph Jefferson." Mr. Booth rose, smiled, and bowed over the railing of the little pavilion constituting the headquarters of the women's Executive committee. Mr. Jefferson made a brief and mainly humorous speech. Mrs. A. M. Palmer, President of the women's Executive committee, waved a little flag, the band burst forth with the "Star Spangled Banner," and the weary, though hearty, work of months of preparation was done.

DR. BRIGGS SCORES A VICTORY.

Substitute for Dr. Nightingale's Resolution Passed by the New York Presbytery.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—The questions of the formation of a new creed and the alleged laxity in discussing heretical writings in theological seminaries caused lively debate at the meeting of the Presbytery of New York this afternoon. The disciples of the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Briggs and his opponents met again in battle array and fought over the old topics, the outcome of which may yet split the church. Dr. Briggs' faction gained a decided victory. The resolution introduced by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Nightingale at the last meeting stated that in view of the "crude and dangerous utterances of many secular and religious papers and some of the pulpits of the land, resulting from the introduction and prevalence of German mysticism, higher criticism, philosophical speculation, and so-called scientific evolution, and the alarming departure from the faith of the gospel in this country and abroad, and which seriously threatens our own beloved church," it would be well "to solemnly warn all who give instruction in seminaries against inculcating views which may tend to unsettle faith." The Rev. Dr. Thomas L. McWilliams offered this substitution for Dr. Nightingale's resolution:

Resolved, That this presbytery, having had its attention called to the deliverances of the General Assembly in 1882 and [illegible], reaffirmed in 1891, with reference to instruction in our theological seminaries, gives the same attention and respect due the supreme court of the church, but does not deem it necessary to take further action in the matter.

The substitute resolution was carried with but a few dissenting votes. Dr. Briggs then said that he hoped the overture from the New York Presbytery to the General Assembly, offered at the last meeting by Dr. W. L. Thompson, would not be considered, as Dr. Thompson was ill. By a vote of 44 to 27 it was voted that the presbytery deems it unwise to take action on this overture at the present time.

GENERAL METROPOLITAN NEWS.

Detective Leonard Bound Over for Shadowing the Baroness Blanc.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—Gilbert Leonard, the man who was arrested Saturday for shadowing the Baroness Blanc, was before Justice Ryan today and was held in $500 bonds to keep the peace. Leonard intimated when arrested that the Baroness' husband was at the bottom of the private detective business. Baron Blanc refused to explain why he had set a watch upon his wife. The Baroness would have nothing whatever to say. She was originally Miss Elizabeth Nicholson of Philadelphia. The Baron is a cousin of Frederick Gebhard and Mrs. Fred Neilson. He was ordered out of the apartment occupied by him and his young American wife at the Albemarle Hotel Sunday. On her return from the police court that day his wife bade him depart, bag and baggage, and told him never to show his face there again. He obeyed her command.

ACTUAL tests show the Royal Baking Powder to be 27 per cent. stronger than any other brand on the market. If another baking powder is forced upon you by the grocer, see that you are charged the correspondingly lower price.

Bread, biscuit, cakes and muffins are only known in most delicate and perfect quality where Royal Baking Powder is used.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Changes in Buoys.

Capt. Nicoll Ludlow, in charge of this lighthouse district, has returned from his annual cruise replacing buoys on Lake Michigan and Green Bay. He found that contractors at several places were so far behind with their work of putting buoys in position that he will recommend no further appropriations for this work, but will do it himself next season. Last fall when the heavy November gales came the crews of the lightships on the dangerous reefs in the Straits of Macinac deserted their posts of duty. "I have men this year," Capt. Ludlow said, "who will not run away when the wind blows. I picked up crews right at Cheboygan, and no storm will throw them into a panic."

Many changes in the buoys were made. The most important is the placing of new marks on the channel through Poverty Island passage. The water was very clear in early spring down there, and Capt. Ludlow was able to trace the sharp limestone reef, directly across the path of vessels. It runs three-quarters of a mile south by east from the buoy on the fifteen-foot shoal. The end of this reef was marked by a red non-buoy, and the buoy on the seventeen-foot shoal was changed to a black can. There is at least twenty feet of water between these two marks.

Capt. Ludlow says that it is a mistake to suppose there is deep water in the Strawberry Island passage, for it is not there. He placed a red spar buoy at the south end of Strawberry shoal in thirteen feet of water and another red buoy on the north end. The buoy at the Horseshoe has been moved a half mile further east and painted red. Boats going slowly and hugging these buoys can get sixteen feet of water.

At the north end of Squaw Island he placed a black iron buoy in twenty-three feet of water and a red and black spar buoy on Garden Island shoals in fifteen feet of water, also a red buoy in seventeen feet at the south end of Whisky Island Shoals.

On the dangerous reef off Racine Capt. Ludlow found with difficulty a small buoy, which he immediately replaced with one thirty-five feet long in nineteen feet of water. It was on this spot that the steamer Jay Gould recently fetched up in a northeast gale.

The Condition of the Snowdrop.

The crew of the schooner Snowdrop, wrecked on the rocks of Milwaukee North Point, arrived in Chicago yesterday. Capt. Shippers remained in Milwaukee. The cargo of cedar posts (9,000, worth 10 cents each) is consigned to the Ford River Lumber company of Chicago and is uninsured. Capt. William Walsh left here yesterday to look after the saving of the cargo. The Snowdrop was built in 1853, but was recently rebuilt. John Tholan of South Chicago is the owner of the vessel, and is also uninsured.

It was late at night when the Snowdrop stranded, and a heavy sea was running. After two attempts the tug Starke succeeded in towing the lifeboat out to the vessel, and the lifesavers, with great risk, succeeded in rescuing the crew—Capt. Henry Shippers, Mate N. Schultz, John Buss, Charles Ostbing, Martin Nelson, Charles Ericson, and John Schneppel, seamen, all of Chicago. The men give the highest praise to Capt. Driscoll of the Starke and the life-saving crew. The latter was in charge of Peter Nelson, Capt. Peterson being sick.

Reports from the scene of the disaster yesterday say the Snowdrop is full of water and that holes have doubtless been stove in her bottom. The deckload had not been washed off to any extent, and can nearly all be saved.

Insurance, Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO, May 2.—The Chicago Board of Marine Underwriters adopted the following rates on grain cargoes yesterday, to go into effect at once, per $100: To ports on Lake Michigan, 30 cents; Lake Superior, 50 cents; Lake Huron, Sarnia, and Detroit River, 35 cents; Georgian Bay and Lake Erie, 40 cents; Lake Ontario, Ogdensburg, and Montreal, 50 cents. The Montreal rate is remarkably low and it is intended to meet the competition of Canadian firms insuring grain from the shippers directly.

It was a stand-off between shippers and skippers on grain freights yesterday. There was but little demand and there was little or no Buffalo tonnage offered. Line steamers took wheat to Buffalo at 2¼ cents and corn at 2 cents. The Kingston rate advanced to 3½ cents. Charters—To Port Huron: Ida Keith, corn; Homer, oats; Adirondac, corn. To Kingston—Escanaba, corn. Lumber freights were firm. From Menominee the rate is $1.62½.

CLEVELAND, O.—Ore freights are strong, but no further advances have been secured. Brokers were offered 3½ cents for boats to load wheat at Duluth, and some tonnage was placed at that figure. Coal freights are steady and unchanged, with fair demand for tonnage. Charters—Ore—Tuttle, Queen City, from Escanaba, 70 cents. Wheat—Henry Johnson, Duluth to Buffalo, 3½. Coal—Henry Richards, Cleveland to St. Ignace. Red White and Blue takes ties, Chenaux Bay to Chicago, at 7 cents.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Coal freights were more active. Charters—Progress, Tokio, Milwaukee, 40 cents; Clyde, Robert Packer, Florida, Paris, Quito, Britannic, Nebraska, Niko, Churchill, Law, Chicago, 40 cents; Tice, Kingfisher, Little Wissahickon, Portage, 50 cents; Knapp, Marquette, 50 cents; Olympia, Gladstone, Contract, Kate Kelley, Toledo, 25 cents; Andrews, Detroit, 25 cents. Canal freights dull and lower. Corn 3¾ cents to New York.

BEGIN TO THINK IT A HUMBUG.

Another Rain-Making Test Proves a Failure—People Losing Faith.

LAREDO, Tex., May 2.—The rainmakers have been at work again, and in an hour after using a large amount of explosives not a cloud was visible. Those who formerly were firm believers in the theory that the method for producing artificial rain are beginning to believe it is a humbug.

Rain prevented the Brooklyn-Pittsburg and New York-Cincinnati championship games yesterday. Three pair of teams played, and only Chicago upheld the honor of the West, Cleveland and St. Louis being beaten at home. Bad weather has already made such inroads into the games of the first half of the schedule that some of the teams can never play their complement of games.

ANSON GOT A HUNCH IN CHURCH.

Out of It Came New Life and the Colts Beat Boston.

Good, Christian gentleman as Uncle Adrian Anson is, he shook himself loose from his bed-covering, made a hasty toilet, and hied himself to divine service Sunday morning. As the pastor mounted into the pulpit Uncle folded himself into a corner of the pew, and the slow settling of the lids over his pale blue eyes indicated that, however inspired the words of the preacher might be, they would be lost on one denizen at least of this mundane sphere.

Uncle might have dozed on in peace but for an unexpected incident. The text was from the twentieth chapter of St. Matthew, verse 16, and as the inspired words, "So the last shall be first and the first last," resounded from the arched roof the speaker unconsciously looked down Uncle's way.

The old man started and his face was radiant with a new-born hope as he straightened up and drank in the sermon to the end. "I don't often pay much attention to sermons," he was telling one of his players yesterday, "and I thought the preacher was trying to 'jolly' me at first when he told me the last would be first, but he was so earnest about it that I think he meant what he said, and I'm going at Boston today full of business from the start."

Anson's Hunch Was Good.

And Uncle kept his word. There was a mixing up in the first inning; Boston got the worst of it, and from that time on the game was a procession, with the Colts out in front and Boston struggling desperately to keep in sight of them.

Wilmot bunted and went floundering through the mud safely to first base in the eventful inning. Dahlen bunted and went floundering, too, but not safely, although Wilmot reached second. Ryan hit the ball down too hot for Herman Long to handle and Wilmot brought up at third. Then came Uncle. Bang! the ball went splashing through the quagmire in which Stovey was roaming and Wilmot scored, while Ryan reached third and the old man second. Dungan's sacrifice enabled Ryan to reach the coveted plate, and when Canavan's line drive crawled through Duffy's hands to bury itself in the sticky mud Uncle himself crossed the rubber slab.

That was enough to win, but just as a clincher the Colts picked up a run in the eighth. Gumbert's high fly got away from Stovey and the batter reached second. After Wilmot had gone out Gumbert advanced on Dahlen's sacrifice and scored on Ryan's single.

Boston earned its solitary run in the third inning. Quinn picked up a lucky two-bagger to left center and scored on Clarkson's single. That was about all there was to Boston's game.

The efforts of its nine able-bodied men to locate the shoots and curves handed up by Gumbert were laughable. Ad was in superb form, and three hits were all the Bean-Eaters could get.

Clarkson, on the other hand, was hit freely, and his support was none too good.

An Ansonian Shot at Umpire Hurst.

Uncle had his accustomed argument with the umpire, and worsted that individual, for when crossed the old man can upbraid with no measured invective. Big Bill Schriver, he of the rich crimson neck, was at the bat in the fourth inning, and one of his efforts was a sharp grounder outside first base.

"Foul ball," shouted Adrian from the coacher's box before Hurst could open his mouth.

"That will do up there, Anson; I'll make my own decisions."

"I can't have my men tiring themselves out for nothing; make your decisions quicker."

"I'll take care of my part of the game, you mind your own."

"Don't talk back or I'll have you put off the field, Tim," was Anson's final shot.

This rather staggered Tim, and while he glared fiercely over at the old man, he seemed content to let the argument drop.

During the rest of the game he looked expectantly at Uncle as though begging him to come at him again. But there was a "that will cost you $25" look in Tim's face that Anson was not slow to note. He maintained a discreet silence the balance of the day. The score:

Notes of the Game.

Nash was sick yesterday, but will resume his place today.

President Brush of the Cincinnati club was an interested spectator of the game.

In the sixth inning Long hit into short right, and Canavan, going back, pulled down the hit with his left hand.

Chicago had three men on bases in the second inning, with nobody out, and a man on second and one on first in the third inning, with no one out, but failed to score a run in either inning.

In the third, with Clarkson on first, Long drove a hard liner at Dahlen. The ball struck the fielder's hands and bounded into the air, but was quickly recovered and a double play effected. Dahlen's fielding was easily the feature of the game.

The Bostons play their last game today at 3:45. The teams will be placed as follows:

Boston.	Position.	Chicago.

Anson's Point to Be Again Raised.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 2.—[Special.]—There is likely to be trouble at the Pittsburg Ball Park tomorrow afternoon. Rain today prevented the scheduled game. The local club has therefore advertised two games for tomorrow and notified the Brooklyn club to that effect. Manager John Ward will refuse to play two games, but the Pittsburgs will report at 2 o'clock and ask that the umpire award the first game to them by default. They say like Anson that the rules demand that postponed games be played off the next day.

JOE MURPHY'S STAKE.

ED CORRIGAN'S GOOD COLT WINS THE RICH MELBOURNE.

He Beat the Western Cracks and Is of Home Breeding—The Ruddys' Good-Bye Wins a Fine Race at Nashville—St. Louis' Common Racing—Results at Washington, Guttenberg, and Gloucester—Jockeys Licensed—Californians Start East—High Prices for Aretinos.

Lexington, Ky., May 2.—[Special.]—The weather was perfect, the attendance 4,000, and the sport excellent over a good track here this afternoon. The Legislature adjourned to see the races and attended in a body. The feature of the day was the Melbourne Stud Stake, for 2-year-olds, worth to the winner $6,550. Eight of the most highly regarded 2-year-olds in the West started. After Ferrier and Halcyon led into the stretch Ed Corrigan's slashing big bay colt Joe Murphy, by Isaac Murphy, dam Hattie Harris, and bred by Mr. Corrigan, came through and won in a grand style by two lengths, although he got off last; Mayor Davidson's bay filly Lollie, by imp. Rossington, dam Lady Frank, in the place a length before W. S. Barnes' filly Halcyon, by Hindoo, dam imp. Prairie Queen, third.

Joe Murphy won his first race at Memphis and was heavily backed in his next, the Turf Exchange Stakes. In the latter race Brennan was killed and some of the other animals were retarded and interfered with, Murphy being one of these, and he finished about sixth. He is by Isaac Murphy and a grand looking youngster, the best 2-year-old in Corrigan's stables.

The other events were well contested, the second race being won by a head by Engarita from Forward. Outsiders won the first, second and fifth races and second choices the other two. The summaries follow:

First race, selling, purse $400, for 3-year-olds and upwards, six furlongs—Tenny Jr., 99 pounds (Perkinson), 6 to 1, won; Hopeful, 117 (E. Jones), 6 to 5, second; Modesta, 105 (Gwynn), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:17¾. Barnes, five furlongs—Joe Murphy, 118 pounds (Overton), 3 to 1, won; Lollie, 115 (Porter), 50 to 1, second; Halcyon, 115 (Taral), third. Time, 1:03¼. Ferrier, 118 (I. NASHVILLE'S DAY OF PURSES.

J. T., Ed Eshelby, Dolly McCone, Good Bye, Gov. Brown, and Borealis Won.

Nashville, Tenn., May 2.—[Special.]—All the events today were purses, but the racing was pretty good, only two of the six favorites going to the front. On public form the favorite in the last should have been One Dime, as he made a show of Borealis the last day at Memphis. Today it was Borealis' turn and in accordance with the betting indications, Borealis won and One Dime was beaten off. The Judges took cognizance of the riding on One Dime, but no action was taken.

Dolly McCone, in the Kendall Stable, on her first appearance this year, won a good race, hands down, defeating some fair 3-year-olds.

Argenta, in the second race, indulged in his customary sulks and was beaten off. Vigorous riding on Robin Hood would have landed the latter the winner, but the long shot, Ed. Eshelby, beat him out. Bob Jacobs, a patched-up horse at best, pulled up very lame after the last race.

The Ruddy Bros.' Good Bye was in fine form, as he won a fast race handily, leaving some good ones behind him.

Gov. Brown, winner of the two-year-old event, is a strapping big youngster by Ecuador, and he made up a lot of ground on the stretch, after swerving to the outside. Hoggett rode two winners. The weather was fine, but the attendance barely numbered 2,000.

Six started in the opening dash; Knott In It (H. Barnes) being at 2½ to 1, Abandon (Griffin) 3 to 1, J. T. (Hoggett) 5 to 1.

Knott In It was the leader until half way down the home stretch, when J. T. and Abandon made play, and a driving finish resulted in a neck victory for J. T., Knott In It half a length before Abandon. Time, 1:16.

Only three started in the second race, one mile and seventy yards, with Robin Hood (Griffin) backed down to even money, Argenta (Thorpe) 8 to 5, and Ed Eshelby (Clayton) 3½ to 1.

Ed Eshelby led the entire journey and won by a head, Robin Hood five lengths before Argenta. Time, 1:52.

The third race at seven furlongs was for 3-year-olds, and Dolly McCone (Thorpe) was at 9 to 5, Lord Willowbrook (Griffin), 11 to 5; Blaze Duke (DeLong) and Springaway (Fox), 5 to 1 each.

Dolly McCone and Lord Willowbrook had it all to themselves until the head of the homestretch was reached, where Dolly drew away and won a good race as she liked by two lengths, Springaway beating Lord Willowbrook a nose. Time, 1:29.

Ceverton, Redlight, and Clark were scratched in the mile handicap, leaving six starters. Sull Ross (G. Williams) was backed down to 2 to 1; Van Zandt (Slaughter) was 3½ to 1; Good Bye (Fox) and First Lap (Hoggett), 5 to 1 each.

Good Bye maintained a slight lead all the way to the first turn, where he increased his advantage, and after that he galloped down the homestretch and won a good race by a length, Sull Ross a length before Van Zandt. Time, 1:43¾.

In the fifth race, four and one-half furlongs for 2-year-olds, Revenue (Hoggett) was 6 to 5, Gov. Brown (Delong) 3 to 1, Laura Abrahams (Clayton) 6 to 1, and long odds the others.

Abrahams led by three lengths until half way down the homestretch, where she began to tire, while Gov. Brown came with a great burst of speed on the extreme outside and beat her out by a neck. Leona H. was a close third. Time, 57¾.

The last race, six furlongs, had six starters, with Borealis (Hoggett), 7 to 5, One Dime (Slaughter) 2½ to 1, Bob Jacobs (Delong) 4 to 1, Sly Lisbon (Jones) 7 to 1.

After Cronel had led for half the journey Borealis went to the front and won as she liked, Sly Lisbon two lengths before One Dime. Time, 1:16.

Californians Start for the East.

San Francisco, Cal., May 2.—The California stables are beginning to leave for the Eastern journey. L. J. Rose left today for Brooklyn, and Charles Kerr started for Chicago. Matt Storn will leave for Denver in the early part of the week, and "White Hat" McCarty will leave for Chicago May 8. Nearly all the smaller stables will stop at Denver for the Overland Park meeting, where some rich purses are offered.

Matt Storn purchased from F. E. De Lopez the imported Goldsborough horse Merriwa, paying $6,000 for him. Storn will take the horse East and race him this season, and afterwards use him as a stock animal. By many horsemen he is considered the best horse in De Lopez's last importation. He has done some preliminary work at Sacramento and has shown a great turn of speed.

Joe Narvaez left for Brooklyn today. Foxhall Keene telegraphed him last Tuesday that he might ride the week out here.

THE WANDERERS' ANNUAL MEETING.

Officers Elected for the Year—Playing Program of the Club.

The annual meeting of the Wanderers' Cricket and Athletic club was held last night at the Cortland Hotel. The officers elected for the present season were: President, F. A. Sansome; Vice-President, W. T. Nash; Secretary, J. H. Warriner, No. 5427 Jackson avenue; Treasurer, R. H. McCullough; Executive committee, Messrs. Lennon, Fraser, and Manning; Tennis Captain, T. Skinner.

The Rev. Fraser was chosen to captain the first eleven and J. S. Warren will officiate as captain of the second eleven. This year the club will not devote any attention to track athletics, but a special feature will be made of tennis, and a large increase in membership is expected. The club will play at present on their old grounds at Thirty-seventh street and Indiana avenue, but are still negotiating for a new ground on the Southwest Side.

Friday evening next the club will hold its annual supper at the Cortland Hotel at 8 p. m. A large delegation of cricketers will be present. Messrs. Aiken and Bellew, two of the club's crack players, will sail for England shortly, but expect to be back and play about Aug.

Harvard's '94 Class Won Easily.

Cambridge, Mass., May 2.—[Special.]—The Harvard class boat races were rowed this afternoon on the Charles River and resulted in a great surprise. The crews rowed well, and the winners won by two lengths and covered the distance, two miles, in 11 minutes 5 seconds. The crews finished in the following order: '94, '95, '93, '92.

O'CONNOR AND STANSBURY TO ROW.

The American Champion in Chicago and Eager for a Match.

Champion oarsman William O'Connor and ex-champion Ned Hanlan arrived in the city yesterday. With them was Fred Moss, who at times has backed both men. They are at W. Bingham's hotel, 262 South Clark street, Canadian headquarters in Chicago.

O'Connor was considerably elated when he heard that Stansbury had defended his title to the sculling championship successfully, as the latter has promised to at once sail for this country and meet the Canadian for $2,500 a side and the world's championship.

Ever since his defeats in Australia O'Connor has contended that no matter how skillful a man was he could never defeat an Australian over the winding old Parramatta course and under the burning suns of the antipodes. He maintains that he can defeat Stansbury on any course in America. If he and the Australian meet the race may serve to revive interest in a sport practically dead.

It is the intention of the club to spare no expense or trouble to make this the greatest athletic event of the season. Prizes will be on exhibition at A. G. Spalding's about May 10. Entries close Tuesday, May 24.

The Annual Pike County Tour.

Chicago will undoubtedly send a pretty good delegation of scorchers to St. Louis for the annual Pike County tour. Van Sicklen, Munger, Barrett, Thorne, and about 150 will take part, going to Louisiana by a special steamer which leaves St. Louis next Saturday night. A delegation of ladies will go with the cyclists, and there will be dancing on the boat. The trip to and from St. Louis will cost $4. There is apt to be a lively little scorch between Chicago's best riders and those of St. Louis. Last season there was one over the De Soto road, over which there has been much discussion regarding who came in first. Because of this some one will certainly start a scorch, and then they will have it out.

Stansbury Is Still Sculling Champion.

Sydney, N. S. W., May 2.—The sculling match between James Stansbury and Thomas Sullivan for $1,000 a side and the championship of the world took place today on the Parramatta River, and was won by Stansbury.

[The race was for the championship and was rowed over the new Parramatta course, scant three miles, the first quarter mile of the old course being left off. The reason for this was that the old sheltered inside course gave the winner of the race too great an advantage in the first quarter.]

Ives Averages 31¼ in 500 Points.

Frank Ives played a good practice game against Gregory at his hall last night and averaged 31¼ in 500 points. His score was:

Ives—0, 4, 1, 1, 17, 13, 63, 91, 0, 75, 0, 67, 108, 27, 11—500. Average, 31¼.
Gregory—Total, 74. Average, 5 4-15.

General Sporting Notes.

Frank Ehret says Clarendon will run the first mile in the Brooklyn in 1:40 if necessary.

Some California bets have been made on Joe McAuliffe to whip Goddard, who is to arrive next Wednesday.

THE ENEMY ROUTED

B. F. McManus, the popular constable at Washington Heights, although until a short time ago confined to his bed with rheumatism, is as vigorous and active as in years past. He says: "I am glad of this opportunity of stating what I know of the Cosmopolitan Dispensary. I have been a cripple from rheumatism for four years. From four to six months in each year I could not attend to my business and was laid up in the house. From the 1st of last December until Jan. 15 I was confined to my bedroom, in bed most of the time. I suffered intense pain in the upper and lower back, groins, and left limb. I began treatment at the Cosmopolitan Dispensary Jan. 15, and Jan. 25 I returned to my work feeling benefited from the first treatment. I improved steadily, until now I can do a good day's work, and feel stronger and better than I have in years. All the pain is gone and my appetite and strength are increasing daily."

THE COSMOPOLITAN DISPENSARY is a medical and surgical institute founded with a staff of eminent specialists for the cure of all diseases and deformities. "Nervous debility," lack of youthful vigor in men, the result of excesses, overwork, or dissipation, positively cured. Charges are very low. Medicines furnished.

TO PAY UP ITS BONDS.

HOW THE ALTON WILL CANCEL ITS FIRST MORTGAGE DEBT.

Over $2,000,000 Will Be Payable Jan. 1—Plan to Raise Money by Offering for Sale New Shares of Common Stock—Eastbound Freight Shipments Growing Lighter—Efforts to Make a Satisfactory Arrangement—What Is Going On in the Railway World—Notes.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chicago and Alton railroad company held in this city yesterday the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The first mortgage bonds of this company now outstanding, amounting to $2,383,000, will be due and payable Jan. 1, 1893.

In making provision for the payment of said bonds at maturity it is of the utmost importance—while duly considering the present as well as the future interest of the shareholders of this company—to adopt a financial plan for that purpose which will under no circumstances impair the security of investments in its shares of capital stock.

It is deemed best that such plan shall not so change the present capitalization of the company as to increase the aggregate amount thereof, or require increased earnings to enable the company to pay the interest on the remainder of its bonded debt, and such dividends hereafter as have been heretofore paid on its shares.

The maturity of said bonds affords an opportunity, not only for reducing the bonded debt of the company, as has heretofore been done when its bonds have become due and payable, but also for reducing in some degree the aggregate amount of its bonds and stock, of which advantage should be taken pursuant to the policy of this company to, at all times, avail of favorable conditions for increasing the security and intrinsic value of its shares and the security for future dividends thereon.

It is in the judgment of this board consistent with the conditions above stated, and will best promote the security and interest of the shareholders of this company, to issue and offer for sale to them a certain number of new shares of common stock for a price which will provide the money needed for the redemption of the first mortgage bonds referred to, and which number of new shares, upon the basis of the average rate of annual dividends paid for the last twenty-nine years (being a fraction more than 8 per centum per annum), will require substantially the same amount of money annually for dividends thereon, as has heretofore been paid for interest on the first mortgage bonds to be paid and canceled.

Resolved, That the President of this company be and is hereby directed to issue a circular to each shareholder of this company advising them of the action of this board relative to the proposed issue of new shares, and respectfully requesting them to forward to the Secretary of this company their written consent to an increased issue of new shares of its common capital stock, which new issue shall not exceed 22,000 shares.

That in case the written consent of such number of shareholders as the charter requires in such cases shall be received by the Secretary of this company at an early day, the shareholders of this company registered on its transfer books at the close of business Oct. 1, 1892, shall have the privilege of purchasing the new common stock at the rate of 12½ per centum, or one new share for each eight shares of stock, both common and preferred, then registered in their names respectively, provided that in all cases in which the rate of 12½ percentum shall give the shareholder the privilege of purchasing fractions of a share, such fractions may, at his or her option, be purchased subject to the conditions hereinafter stated.

Payment for such new shares and fractions of a share, if any, must be made to the financial agents of this company between Nov. 15 and Dec. 15, 1892, at the price of $114 for each full share of such new stock.

Certificates of common stock in the usual form will be issued for full shares, and delivered as soon as practicable after payment for same has been made, and receipts for payments made on account of fraction of shares will be issued, which shall pass by delivery, and which at any time before July 1, 1893 (except when the books of transfers are closed), shall be exchangeable for certificates of common stock when presented to the agents of the company in amounts which shall represent fractions equal to one or more full shares. No dividends will accrue upon the fractions of shares, and no interest will be paid on money received by the company on account thereof.

In all cases in which such receipts are not exchanged for certificates of stock as above provided, upon the surrender of the same to the agents of this company above named, the money for which the receipts were issued, or such part thereof as may not be represented by stock issued therefor, will be returned to the bearer thereof without interest.

In case the number of new shares when issued and sold, as herein proposed, shall be found greater than is needed to produce an amount of money equal to the principal of the first mortgage bonds falling due Jan. 1, 1893, the remainder of the proceeds of such sales will be invested in other bonds of this company, which, when purchased, will be canceled, or in additional property which may be needed in providing for the traffic of its railroad.

SHIPMENTS GETTING LIGHTER.

Chicago Lines Will Adopt the Twenty-Cent Rate on Grain, Etc.

East-bound freight shipments by the all-rail lines from Chicago are continually growing lighter. Unless the Chicago east-bound roads soon meet the rates put in effect by the St. Louis and Peoria lines but little business will hereafter come via Chicago from the West. A meeting of the Chicago east-bound committee was held in "The Rookery" yesterday to consider what action should be taken regarding the reduction in sixth-class rates from St. Louis and Peoria. Upon the suggestion of Chairman Blanchard action was postponed until today, as he is trying to induce the St. Louis and Peoria lines to confine the 20-cent rate to grain and products of grain only, instead of applying it to all articles in sixth-class, which includes iron and numerous other articles. In any event, however, it is the intention of the Chicago lines to meet the rates from St. Louis and Peoria, as they cannot afford to charge correspondingly higher rates than are made from those points.

The shipments of flour, grain, and provisions from Chicago through to seaboard points and for export by the various Central Traffic Association roads for the week ending last Saturday amounted to 20,179 tons, against 27,547 tons for the week previous and 23,100 tons for the corresponding week last year. Flour shipments last week were 2,192 tons, against 2,543 tons last year; grain, 12,408 tons, against 15,706 tons; provisions, 5,579 tons, against 4,851 tons. The percentages carried by the various roads were as follows: Chicago and Grand Trunk, 13.9; Michigan Central, 16.2; Lake Shore, 17.3; Fort Wayne, 20; Pan-Handle, 11.8; Baltimore and Ohio, 9.5; Nickel-Plate, 11.3.

The total shipments of all kinds of freight except live stock from Chicago to through and local points in the East by the various east-bound roads during the last week amounted to 57,912 tons, against 65,054 tons for the week previous and 52,989 tons for the corresponding week last year.

The lake lines during the last week took out from Chicago 47,106 tons of freight.

DECISION IN THE SALT CASES.

An Opinion by Inter-State Commerce Commissioner McDill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission today in an opinion by Commissioner McDill announced its decision in the cases brought by the Anthony Salt company and other Kansas salt manufacturers against the Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, St. Louis and San Francisco, Chicago, Santa Fé and California, and Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fé railway companies, on complaints of relatively unreasonable and discriminating rates on salt from Kansas fields to various points as compared with rates to the same points from the salt fields of Michigan. It is held that any advantages which inures to Michigan salt manufacturers from rates to points in Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, and Nebraska are advantages arising from natural situation, and that the low rate to Missouri River points is influenced by conditions which are beyond the defendants' control and existed before Kansas salt was discovered. As to these rates the complaints are dismissed without prejudice. It is held further that rates on salt to points south and southwest of Hutchinson, Kas., and St. Louis, Mo., do constitute undue preference in favor of Michigan and against Kansas salt, and that they should be readjusted by the Santa Fé system, and that while observing the law as to the long and short haul the advantage of distance belonging to the Kansas salt fields shall be given to them in any territory supplied by lines which lie as near or nearer to Hutchinson than St. Louis.

Again Submitted to a Vote.

A day or two ago General Passenger Agent Lord of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City informed Chairman Finley that the Chicago Railroad Association will issue a new supplement to the Chicago joint rate sheet, taking effect May 10, 1892, and in which will appear the special first-class limited rates tendered by the Chicago-Ohio River lines from Chicago—namely: $3.50 to Indianapolis and $5.50 to Ohio River points. As those rates have the sanction of the Chicago Railroad Association, of which Western Passenger Association lines are members, Mr. Lord desires Mr. Finley again to submit the proposition to the effect that those rates be used for basing purposes from Western Passenger Association territory, as he does not see how his company can legally decline to use them as such. In accordance with the foregoing Mr. Finley has again submitted to the vote of the association roads the proposition to accept the named rates.

New Minnesota Roads.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 2.—A company has been organized here for the construction of a railroad from Ely, a town in the heart of the iron country in the northeastern corner of the State to the international boundary. The new road will be known as the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western of Minnesota, and it will connect at the boundary with the Port Arthur, Duluth and Western of Canada. While primarily for the shipment of iron ore eastward for lake shipment at Port Arthur, the road, when finished, will connect the railroads centering at Duluth with the Canadian Pacific at Port Arthur via the Iron Range road, thus forming a new route to the East from the Northwest. The incorporators are: James Conmee of Port Arthur, John Paulson of Duluth, K. Koertgaard, Matt Walsh, Louis A. Reed, and Freeman P. Lane of this city. Work will begin next week at the boundary.

The Famous Vestibule Case.

The famous vestibule case, involving the patents for vestibule passenger-cars, was up before Judge Blodgett yesterday. The fight is between the Pullman Palace-Car company against the Wagner Palace-Car company and the Lake Shore and Michigan Central roads. A year ago the Pullman company got a favorable decision from an Eastern court, and the suits in the court here have been hanging fire ever since. The attorney for the defendants found several days ago that no testimony had been taken here and he filed a motion to have the case dismissed for want of prosecution. Yesterday, however, the motion was withdrawn, it being stipulated that the testimony taken in the East would be used in the suits now pending. The cases will come up for final disposition next fall.

Vanderbilt and Depew Inspecting.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—Cornelius Vanderbilt and President Chauncey M. Depew started this morning on their annual tour of inspection of the Vanderbilt lines between here and Chicago. They were accompanied by John De Koven, who is a director of the Lake Shore road, and John Hone. Third Vice-President Webb of the New York Central went with the party as far as Buffalo. Vanderbilt, Depew, and De Koven will stop in Cleveland to attend the annual meetings of the Lake Shore and the Nickel Plate roads. They go from there to Cincinnati and thence to Chicago. Returning over the Michigan Central they will stop at Detroit and attend the annual meeting of that company. From Buffalo they will come to New York over the West Shore road. The trip will consume seven or eight days.

New Michigan Central Trains.

The Michigan Central will change time May 15, and at that date put on a new train, to be known as the "Thousand Islands Limited." It will leave Chicago at 5 p. m., carrying Buffalo sleeping-cars. Returning will leave Buffalo at 8 p. m. and arrive at Chicago at 9:50 the next morning. The company will also, June 15, put sleeping-cars for Mackinaw on its train leaving here at 3:10 p. m., arriving at Mackinaw early next morning. There will be put on June 15 sleeping-cars for Portland, Me., leaving Chicago at 9:20 p. m. and passing through the White Mountains.

Railroad Notes.

President of the Canadian Pacific Van Horne emphatically denied the rumors suggesting closer relations between his road and the Grand Trunk.

The directors of the Chicago and Alton at their meeting in this city yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of $2 a share, payable June 1, on stock of record May 10.

H. D. Gould, formerly General Freight Agent of the Toledo, Peoria and Western, and one of the best known railway officials in the country, died in this city yesterday at the age of 53 years.

A. J. Hitt has been appointed Superintendent of the Eastern Division of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, vice W. H. Stillwell, transferred to Iowa Division lines east of the Missouri River.

The Columbian Passenger committee will meet at the Auditorium in this city May 12 to consider the question of reduced rates on account of dedicatory ceremonies in October, 1892, and also rates during the Columbian Exposition next year.

It is reported that George C. Smith, Assistant General Manager of the Missouri Pacific, will succeed S. H. H. Clark as First Vice-President and General Manager when the latter resigns to assume the duties of President of the Union Pacific system.

The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railway company yesterday declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable in cash, clear of State taxes, on and after May 31, 1892. There was no talk of an allotment of stock at the meeting.

The Chicago and Erie road laid off its entire force of shop hands at Huntington, Ind., May 1, also 200 section men and three work trains. Today the whole force was placed at work again. Seven hundred men were affected. There is enough work in the shops now to keep every man busy for many months.

Joseph Keavy has been appointed General Agent of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, and St. Louis railway company, with headquarters at Grand Rapids, Mich. F. D. Wheeler will continue to act as agent for this company at East Saginaw, Mich., reporting to Mr. Keavy.

The new fast limited train placed in service by the Rock Island Sunday last leaves Chicago at 10:45 a. m. and arrives at Denver at 5:45 p. m. the following day. The train which leaves Denver at 9 a. m. arrives at Chicago at 4:15 p. m. next day. The time of these trains is so fast and the connections they have to make so close that it will be impossible for the company to attach thereto any special cars.

Chairman Finley has directed General Passenger Agent Heafford of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway to divert to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad the west-bound immigrant business from the Atlantic seaboard, destined via Chicago to and through St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., which may be ticketed via the Milwaukee and St. Paul on through tickets or on so-called split orders.

The lines in the Western Passenger Association have agreed upon the following arrangements for the General Assembly, Presbyterian Church, Portland, Ore., May 19 to June 2: One tourist first-class standard fare (differential rates not to be recognized) from association points to Portland and return, tickets to be sold May 9 to 14 inclusive, final limit ninety days from date of sale, going limit until May 19, inclusive.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railways have canceled their freight transfer contracts with the Union Pacific, having come to the conclusion that it would be advantageous to transfer their own freight instead of turning it over to the latter road. The Northwestern and Wabash will continue under the present arrangement.

NEW TRAIN DEMANDED.

The People Must Have It.

The "Great Rock Island route" on account of its popularity as a Colorado line, will on May 1 put on a new train called the "Rocky Mountain Limited." It leaves Chicago at 10:45 a. m. daily; has brand new equipment; is but one night out, and arrives at Denver early the next evening, ahead of all competitive lines.

The popular train called the "Big Five" leaves daily at 10 p. m., as usual, and only one day out, delivers passengers at Denver at 7:00 a. m. Both these trains are vestibuled, and carry the "Rock Island's" excellent dining-car service, and run via the Omaha short line.

His California colony will reach Chicago this morning. Dr. Teed has been in Chicago for the last two months.

Washington Heights people have not given up the idea of preventing him from taking possession. They are receiving encouragement in this direction from men all over the country whose homes have been broken up by the influence of Koresh, the disciple vulgarly known as Teed. One such man, a Chicagoan of prominence, who is styled "the devil" by the Koreshans because, it is claimed, he has foiled Teed in his scheme to get hold of the Economite millions, said yesterday:

"If the people of Washington Heights mean business, as I hope they do, I will be on hand to help them, with fifteen able-bodied men. If they knew Teed as I do, they would not for a moment think of tolerating him in their midst. His only means of support is the money that he bleeds from his dupes. He has broken up my home and transformed my once lovable wife to a creature who will beg and lie in order to get money for her new master. Now is the time for the people down there to act, for if they ever permit Teed to take possession, I doubt if they can get him out by any legal means in their power. No matter how much trouble he makes; no matter how many families he disrupts; no matter how many hearts he breaks, he always falls back on the claim that he is the prophet of a new religion, and that, as such, the Constitution of the United States gives him immunity from persecution."

IN THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

Some Important Transfers in the Residence and Manufacturing Districts.

W. D. Kerfoot & Co. have sold for the estate of Jerome I. Case of Racine, Wis., 286 feet on Orchard street, south of Wrightwood avenue, and 572 feet on Burling street, south of Wrightwood avenue, for $68,[illegible]0. They also sold twenty-seven lots at the corner of Sixteenth street and Western avenue for the Perin and Gaff estates of Cincinnati, O., for $25,000, to an Eastern manufacturing concern, which will commence the erection of shops at once. The same firm reports the following sales: Sixteen and two-thirds acres north of Forty-third street, between Blanchard and Kinkaid avenues, for Isaac P. Shelby of Lexington, Ky., for $26,656, to be subdivided at once. Nineteen lots at Thirty-fourth street and Archer avenue for E. P. Shelby to George A. Seaverns for $10,000, and twenty-five feet on Grand boulevard, east front, between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets, for Mrs. A. G. Soutter, for $7,500.

John H. Walker has leased 23½ feet on Plymouth place, west front, 2[illegible] feet north of Harrison street, at an annual rental of $2,115 to James Connelly. A building which is to be erected by the lessee will cost $40,000, and will be used for storage purposes.

Mark T. Leonard has sold for O. C. De Souchet to P. O'Brien, for $95 per foot, east front property on Drexel avenue, between Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets. Mr. O'Brien intends to erect a hotel for use during the World's Fair. L. A. Gilbert and W. A. Weaver have sold for L. W. and W. F. Reynolds to W. A. Marshall three blocks in the Columbian addition to Oak Park for $60,000.

WORLD'S FAIR HOTEL PROJECTS.

Two Large Temporary Structures to Be Erected in Englewood.

Two projects are under way for World's Fair hotels in Englewood. One is matured and provides for the erection of an 800 to 1,000 room building on State street near Sixty-first, on land owned by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad company. A company has been formed by George F. Child to lease a State street frontage of 450 feet for two years at a term rental of $10,000. The property runs back 180 feet.

A temporary building three stories high and arranged in wings around a central court will be erected. The building is planned for the special purpose of catering to visitors of moderate means. It will be built of frame construction and will be removed in two years. It is stated that all of a capital stock of $250,000 has been subscribed. The idea of the promoters is to interest members of the Christian Church and control the patronage of visitors of this denomination.

Another large vacant holding in the same general vicinity is being negotiated for by an Eastern syndicate. It lies between Maple and Sixtieth streets and runs through from Wentworth avenue to La Salle street. It has a frontage on each of these streets of 500 feet. This land is to be leased for two or three years as a site for a big temporary hotel.

PART TWO.

TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1892—TWELVE PAGES.

FREE BINDING TWINE.

THE BRYAN BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

The Vote Was 183 to 47, Party Lines Being Closely Drawn with a Few Exceptions—National Finances for Ten Months Make a Satisfactory Showing to Secretary Foster—Expenses $24,000,000 Less than Last Year and Receipts Decreased $46,000,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—There was for the first time this session an air of weariness apparent in the House. Various measures were permitted to go through which would ordinarily give rise to serious opposition. The rules were suspended and the following bills passed:

To pension survivors of the Black Hawk, Cherokee, Creek, and Seminole wars.

To ratify an agreement with the Colville band of Indians in Washington.

Appropriating $100,000 for the establishment of a military post at or near Helena, Mont.

Mr. Bryan of Nebraska moved to suspend the rules and pass the Free Binding Twine bill.

Mr. Burrows inquired whether it was the gentleman's intention to pass the bill in this way without having given notice to the minority of that intention.

Mr. Bryan replied that it was his intention to pass the bill.

Mr. Burrows demanded a second, and objected to Mr. Bryan's request that a second be considered as ordered. Messrs. Burrows and Bryan were appointed tellers, but no Republican passed between them. After a brief wait, however, the Democrats managed to muster a quorum and the second was ordered.

After a brief debate the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was agreed to—yeas, 183; nays, 47. Mr. Covert of New York, Mr. Coburn of Wisconsin, and Mr. Cadmus of New Jersey, Democrats, voted in the negative; and Messrs. Broderick of Kansas and Pickler and Jolley of South Dakota, Republicans, in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Blount of Georgia the rules were suspended and a bill was passed appropriating $150,000 to enable the President to fulfill the stipulations contained in the treaty between the United States and Great Britain, signed Feb. 29 and April 18, 1892, in regard to tribunals of arbitration at Paris. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill, but without action upon it the committee rose and the House adjourned.

PLEASED WITH NATIONAL FINANCES.

Satisfactory Showing for Ten Months—Bankruptcy Not Imminent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Secretary Foster is well pleased with the condition of the public finances. The close of the fiscal year is only two months off and the Treasury is able to estimate pretty accurately for these two months. The Democratic prophets of disaster who were predicting that the Treasury would be bankrupt before the end of the fiscal year have nothing to do now. The monthly public debt statement shows an increase in the aggregate of the debt last month amounting to $602,358. There was an increase of $400 in the interest-bearing debt, a decrease of $1,380,723 in the surplus cash in the Treasury, and a decrease of $778,775 in the non-interest bearing debt. The total debt today, less $31,518,160 net cash balance in the Treasury and the $100,000,000 gold greenback redemption fund, is $838,729,993. Of this amount, $585,029,030 is interest bearing debt made up of $559,664,530, 4 per cent, and $25,364,500, 2 per cent bonds. National depository banks today hold $17,378,363 of the Treasury surplus, a decrease of $1,500,000 since April 1. Treasury gold coin and bullion assets today aggregate $273,625,455, or $7,500,000 less than a month ago. Silver assets aggregate $439,013,987, an increase of $4,500,000 during the last month. Against these coin and bullion assets there are $175,644,879 in gold certificates, $330,499,002 in silver certificates, and $93,228,690 in silver Treasury notes outstanding or in circulation. Government receipts from all sources in April aggregated $27,388,354, against $26,045,831 in April, 1891. Customs receipts last month were $13,709,989, or nearly $1,250,000 more than in April a year ago; and internal revenue receipts were $12,048,622, an increase of $1,250,000 over April, 1891. Customs receipts for the ten months of the current fiscal year were $150,022,176, against $194,276,139 for the corresponding ten months of the preceding fiscal year; while internal revenue receipts for the last ten months were $125,329,455, or $6,250,000 more than in the corresponding ten months of the preceding year. Expenditures during the last ten months were $299,652,557, or nearly $24,000,000 less than for the corresponding ten months of the preceding fiscal year. The receipts and expenditures of the government during the last ten months of the current fiscal year, compared with the corresponding months of the preceding year, are shown in detail by the following table:

PAYMENTS IN CONFEDERATE MONEY.

Some Made During the War Declared Valid by the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—In 1856 H. L. Opie sold for $41,000 a tract of farm land in Jefferson County, then Virginia and now West Virginia, to Henry W. Castleman. Payments which fell due between 1861 and 1864 Castleman paid in Confederate money and Virginia bank notes. Mrs. Opie accepted the money and in 1865 the trustees executed a deed of release. About fifteen years afterward suit was brought against Castleman and the point made that the payments in Confederate money did not constitute a payment in lawful money as required by the terms of sale. The United States District Court of West Virginia gave judgment against Castleman, but the United States Supreme Court today, in an opinion by Justice Harlan, reversed that judgment, holding that the action on the part of the Opies came too late.

HISTORIC PRESENT TO MR. BLAINE.

He Receives a Cane from a Virginian—Libby Prison and Seven Pines Battlefield.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Secretary Blaine was entering the White House this afternoon when he was accosted by a Virginian from Richmond, who grasped the Premier's hand, saying as he did so: "I have known you for several years, and it was my intention to call upon you at home."

"Where have I met you?" replied the Secretary, "and what can I do for you?"

"Accept this walking-stick, with my compliments," said the Virginian. "Its staff was made from a piece of Georgia pine joist taken from the main floor of Libby Prison, the handle is a piece of the root of a tree from Seven Pines battlefield, and imbedded in the top are three bullets picked up from the battlefield at Fair Oaks. I have not forgotten Mrs. Blaine and your daughter, Miss Hattie, for here are a couple of napkin rings made from an oak felled recently at Seven Pines battlefield."

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE FOR CHICAGO

Necessities of the World's Fair and Postoffice Must Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Nearly all the Illinois members who belong to the majority party in the House are back in the city. Messrs. Newberry, Durborow, and McGann were all in their places today. It will now be in order for them to see that the interests of Chicago receive some attention. It cannot be said that the present House has done much for the Lake City. Gen. Newberry having made it impossible to get a new postoffice, he and his colleagues will have to do something towards patching up the old one. What to ask of Congress will probably be settled at a conference with the Postoffice officials and the Supervising Architect this week. If anything is to be done for the World's Fair the delegates will have to be active from now on. Chairman Durborow has it in his power to keep his committee steadily at work until the consideration of the bill before it is finished and ready to report to the House. By that time the report of the Dockery subcommittee will have been made public, and it will be easy to grade the amount. The main point now to be settled is how many of the Durborow committee will favor reporting the bill with a direct appropriation.

ANTI-OPTION BILL NEXT WEEK.

Other Legislation Giving Way for Consideration of This Measure.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—Farmer Hatch's Anti-Option bill will probably get before the House some time next week. The passage of the Free Binding Twine measure took one bill off the calendar that Mr. Hatch did not want to antagonize. He has also made an arrangement with Chairman Blanchard of the River and Harbor committee by which he will not oppose that bill. Blanchard will get the River and Harbor bill up Wednesday or Thursday, and ought to be able to dispose of it within a week. Then Farmer Hatch will demand the right of way for his pet measure, even to the extent of antagonizing the regular appropriations. He claims that there are more members of the House in favor of the Anti-Option bill than there are supporting any other legislative proposition. With such a numerical following he is confident the bill will pass. So it will if it comes to a direct vote. But its opponents have been diligent during the last two months. There are many parliamentary devices to which they can resort. Till these are exhausted they will not give up the fight.

MISCELLANEOUS CAPITAL GOSSIP.

Instructions to Be Given the Government Fleet in Bering Sea.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—News received at the Treasury Department today announces the arrival of the revenue cutter Rush at Port Townsend, awaiting final instructions before proceeding to Bering Sea. These papers will be ready by the latter part of this week and will be distributed among the other revenue cutters by the Bear, which has left San Francisco for Northern waters to intercept the Corwin and Albatross. At last accounts the Corwin was cruising in the waters of the North Pacific and the Albatross is in harbor at Puget Sound, ready to slip cables at a few hours' notice. Capt. Robley D. Evans has been assigned to the command of the Bering Sea fleet of men-of-war and he will make the Yorktown his flagship. His orders are to prevent any poaching sealers from entering Bering Sea.

The instructions state that any vessel found sealing in Bering Sea is to be seized whether or not it has been previously served with notice. The mere presence of a vessel in Bering Sea having on board a sealing outfit is cause for seizure. Persons on board the vessels seized are to be sent as prisoners with the vessel to suffer the penalty of the law. Under the British law all persons killing, or aiding or abetting in killing fur seals in Bering Sea are punishable by a fine of £100 and imprisonment at hard labor for six months. Under the American law they are subject to six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

Bills Passed by the Senate.

In the Senate several petitions were presented on the question of closing the World's Fair Sunday. Mr. Vest said his vote would not be influenced by this question, but entirely on the point whether the appropriation had been properly expended. The bill to fix the price of lands entered under the desert-land laws was passed. It fixes the price at $1.25 per acre, whether the lands are outside or within a railroad grant; and it requires the repayment of the difference to those who have heretofore paid a double price for such railroad lands. The bill for the issue of ordnance stores and supplies to the State of Nebraska to replace similar stores destroyed by fire was passed.

Col. Frazer May Succeed Montgomery.

It is said that Col. Robert E. Frazer of Detroit may succeed Judge Montgomery on the District bench. As the President is anxious to secure friends in Michigan and as the outgoing Judge is from that State, he can find plenty of reasons for naming Col. Frazer. Col. Frazer acquired reputation for public speaking when at the last Republican National convention he placed Gen. Alger in nomination. Col. Frazer was born in Detroit and graduated from the University of Michigan in the class with Senator Cush Davis of Minnesota.

Commissioner Roosevelt Testifies.

The House Committee on Civil Service Reform today resumed investigation of the Baltimore Postoffice matter. Commissioner Roosevelt said he had recommended the removal of twenty-one employés on their own confessions at the time the events took place. Bearing on the statement of the Postmaster-General that it is not the duty of the commission to make any report to the head of a department, Mr. Roosevelt produced two letters from Mr. Wanamaker asking the commission to make such examinations and report to him.

New York Decision Affirmed.

The United States Supreme Court affirmed the judgment today by which the Court of Common Pleas of New York refused to grant the New York Electric Lines company a mandamus to compel Rollin M. Squire, then Commissioner of Public Works of New York City, to give the company a permit to make an excavation in the streets for the purpose of laying underground wires.

Indemnity to Iowa River Land Settlers.

The Senate Committee on Public Lands today reported a substitute for the bill to indemnify settlers on the Iowa River lands. The substitute provides that the State of Iowa pay one-half the amount of damages, which are to be determined by a court to be appointed by the State, and a sum not exceeding $500,000 is appropriated as the share of the United States.

Indemnity Demanded from Italy.

Senator Manderson today introduced a joint resolution requesting the President to take amicable measures to obtain from the Italian Government a suitable indemnity for the injuries inflicted by the authorities of Italy upon Nicolina Mileo, a naturalized citizen of the United States, who, while on a visit to Italy, was imprisoned and afterwards compelled to serve in the Italian army.

Land Commissioner Carter to Resign.

Commissioner Carter of the General Land Office will shortly resign his position and resume the practice of law at his home in Helena, Mont. He has so reduced the mass of cases that he expects by July 1 the Land Office will be abreast of current work. Mr. Carter has his eye on the Senatorship and expects to succeed Senator Power.

Washington Notes.

The Treasury Department today purchased 313,600 ounces of silver at $0.8723@0.8740.

Confirmations: H. C. Powers of Mississippi, Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Louisiana; G. W. Shoemaker, Postmaster at Albany, Mo.

A bill was introduced in the Senate providing that the Secretary of the Treasury shall purchase only such silver bullion as is produced from mines within the United States.

Secretary Elkins today approved the project for the Cincinnati and Covington bridge, with the condition that the south pier of the span be moved 100 feet nearer the Kentucky shore, leaving the north pier as now located, thus making the total span 850 feet.

E. C. Waters did not appear this morning before the House committee investigating the Yellowstone Park lease, and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Subsequently a letter was received, saying that he was ill and the warrant was withheld for the present.

J. D. Rhodes, a disbarred pension attorney, testified before the investigating committee that Raum Jr. offered him $75 cash for a horse and the remainder of the purchase price, $100, in Pension Office influence when witness wanted any pension claims made special. Documents on which Rhodes had been discharged were put in evidence and made a bad showing for him.

AFTER THE CONTRACT

ACTION TAKEN BY THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC COMPANY.

It Is Anxious to Light the World's Fair Grounds at Jackson Park and It Wishes the Exposition Company to Ask for New Bids—Director-General Davis Returns from Washington and Discusses the Subject of an Appropriation—Other News of the World's Fair.

C. A. Terry, Secretary of the Westinghouse Electric company, reached Chicago from Pittsburg yesterday with a bond for $500,000 and a check for $50,000 in cash, guaranteeing that if new bids were asked for the electric lighting plant at Jackson Park the Westinghouse company would submit a proposal which is about $49,000 lower than the bid of the electric trust for the same work.

It rests with Vice-President Higinbotham and Director Ketcham to determine whether these new bids shall be asked, and they will make a report this afternoon at the meeting of the Committee on Grounds and Buildings. It is probable they will say there is no immediate necessity for accepting the bid of the trust. In that case the whole subject is left open again, and Mr. Westinghouse will have a chance to measure swords with the combine. As an indication of what the subcommittee will recommend, Electrical Engineer Sargent has drawn up new specifications, which he said yesterday would be ready in twelve hours. When the competition is thrown open once more the liveliest sort of cutting between the combination and Mr. Westinghouse is expected. The Pittsburg electric light man wants to show what he can do and the trust people are ready to fight.

"I supposed," said B. E. Sunny, Western Manager of the Thomson-Houston company, yesterday, "that we would get the contract. We have been waiting for it. But if the World's Fair people are going to ask for new bids, that is a crisis we will have to meet."

The trust bid is $5.95 per lamp for something over 92,000 incandescent lights. The bid which Mr. Westinghouse will submit is about $5.50 per light. But this is a maximum beyond which he is bound in the sum of $500,000 not to go. He may bid as much lower as he likes. So may the trust.

DAVIS ON THE APPROPRIATION.

The Director-General Discusses the Situation at the National Capital.

Director-General Davis says the situation at Washington in regard to the World's Fair is unsatisfactory. And within the next two weeks Congress should be told definitely and finally just what the Exposition wants. He says the members are willing to vote what they consider reasonable and liberal assistance; but just now they are in the dark.

Col. Davis returned yesterday afternoon from his trip to Albany, New York, and Washington, where he has been accompanied by Chief Skiff of the Department of Mines and Mining.

"I found the situation at Washington far from satisfactory," he said last night. "There is great confusion as to what is wanted. The only way to secure aid is to present a united and harmonious front and a fixed statement of the needs of the Exposition. I think if our case is properly and honorably presented Congress will do what it considers liberal with the Exposition. With one or two exceptions I saw no members who did not say, 'I am willing to vote something for the Fair, but what do you want? Why don't you people make up your minds and let us know what is needed?' This is the way I was accosted on all sides. I was treated cordially by all whom I met. President Harrison said he would do all he could. Speaker Crisp, Tom Reed, and a great many other influential Congressmen were not averse to giving a friendly expression. Holman isn't going to be half as bad about this matter as we have been led to believe. And there were many assurances of support from members I can't name. But everything depends on a proper presentation of our case."

SUGGESTS A CORRECTION OF THE DATE

John Boyd Thatcher's Solution of the Columbian Conflict.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—World's Fair Commissioner John Boyd Thatcher said today:

It is unfortunate that New York and Chicago should each insist upon celebrating the 12th day of October as the day of the Columbian landfall. Our State has made this day a legal holiday and directed the City of New York to commemorate it. Congress has directed the National Commission to celebrate that day in Chicago by dedicating the Exposition buildings. There is but one solution of the difficulty that I can see. Congress, which is still in session, should change the date of the Chicago celebration to Oct. 21. This not only meets the difficulty of conflicting celebrations, but it corrects a false date. In commemorating the 400th anniversary of the discovery our celebration must be Oct. 21, which corresponds with Oct. 12 of the Julian calendar. After 1582 ten days were dropped to correct the false date or old style. Besides the propriety of correcting the date we have the best of precedents in American history. Forefathers' day is celebrated in New England Nov. 19, although the Pilgrims reached Cape Cod Nov. 9, 1620. The people of Boston celebrate the anniversary of the foundation of their city Sept. 17, although the event occurred, according to the old calendar, Sept. 7. From this time on the date of the Columbian discovery will be in every one's mind, and it is now proper and expedient to correct the old style and adopt the true date.

Mr. Prettyman Resigns.

W. L. Prettyman, who has been employed in the Construction Department as Director of Color, resigned yesterday, and the office was abolished. It was found that the architects and Designer-in-Chief Atwood could take care of the coloring. The Board of Architects held a meeting at headquarters yesterday and agreed upon the general tint for each of the World's Fair buildings. This will be pale ivory, but various shadings will prevail on different parts of each building, according to suggestions of each individual architect.

Greece Will Make a Historical Exhibit.

ATHENS, May 2.—Mr. A. Louden Snowden, the American Minister to Greece, has induced the Greek Government to grant $100,000 to be devoted to preparing historical exhibits for the Chicago Columbian Exposition.

Exposition Notes.

Henry Waterhouse of Honolulu is at the Palmer awaiting the arrival of ex-Prime Minister Thurston, who comes to Chicago to arrange for a reproduction at the World's Fair of the great Hawaiian volcano, Mauna Loa.

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Directors this afternoon to listen to the report of the Congressional committee, which returned from Washington last week. The report will be an exhaustive one, indicating the necessity for an appropriation and the stand taken by the directory.

The Director-General has received official notification from the Hon. G. W. Gibson, Secretary of State, that the Republic of Liberia has accepted the invitation to participate in the Exposition and will prepare an exhibit. Senator A. D. King and the Hon. W. E. Rathbery have been appointed Exposition Commissioners.

Gen. Wheeler's Order to Shoot Mr. Belknap.

There was a strange incident in the room of the House Committee on Military Affairs the other day, when Gen. Wheeler of Alabama brought out an old order-book to show to Mr. Belknap of Michigan in which was the copy of the standing order that one Charles Belknap of the Twenty-first Michigan Infantry be shot if captured. It was the sequel to a war-time story. Mr. Belknap enlisted at 16. He doesn't look 30 now, with his straight figure, bright eyes, and military brown mustache, but in war time he was as dashing a daredevil as ever lived. One night, just for the fun of it, he mounted his horse and rode boldly through the Confederate lines to the headquarters of Gen. Wheeler, who was commander of the Western Confederate cavalry. The tent was empty. Young Belknap threw his lines to an orderly, strode boldly in, and deliberately pocketed all the dispatches and papers on the table. His very audacity saved him, and not a man in all the Confederate camp even thought to question him. Back he rode with the dispatches, to unlimited applause and a Captain's commission at 17. Then it was that Gen. Wheeler turned green and blue and white and red for rage, and for six months his soldiers had orders to shoot Belknap if ever he came within range again. Wheeler is a Democrat and Belknap a Republican, but they are the best of friends, serve on the same committee, and delight in growing reminiscent of war times together.—St. Paul Globe.

Ordered that all parts of Rule 67 of the rules of practice for this court of equity of the United States, as now existing, be and the same are hereby superseded and the following rule is promulgated as such Rule 67:

67. After the cause is at issue, commissions to take testimony may be taken out in vacation as well as in term, jointly by both parties, or severally by either party, upon interrogatories filed by the party taking out the same in the clerk's office, ten days' notice thereof being given to the adverse party to file cross-interrogatories before the issuing of the commission; and if no cross-interrogatories are filed at the expiration of the time the commission may issue ex parte.

In all cases the Commissioner or Commissioners may be named by the court or a Judge thereof, and the presiding Judge of the court exercising jurisdiction may, either in term or in vacation, vest in the clerk of the court general power to name Commissioners to take testimony.

Either party may give notice to the other that he desires the evidence to be adduced in the cause to be taken orally, and thereupon all the witnesses to be examined shall be examined before one of the examiners of the court or before an examiner to be specially appointed by the court. The examiner, if he so request, shall be furnished with a copy of the pleadings.

Such examination shall take place in the presence of the parties or their agents, by their counsel or solicitors, and the witnesses shall be subject to cross examination and re-examination, all of which shall be conducted as near as may be in the mode now used in common law courts.

The dispositions taken upon such oral examination shall be reduced to writing by the examiner, in the form of question put and answer given; provided that, by consent of parties, the examiner may take down the testimony of any witness in the form of narrative.

At the request of either party, with reasonable notice, the deposition of any witness shall, under the direction of the examiner, be taken down either by a skillful stenographer or by a skillful typewriter, as the examiner may elect, and when taken stenographically shall be put into typewriting or other writing; provided that such stenographer or typewriter has been appointed by the court, or is approved by both parties.

The testimony of each witness, after such reduction to writing, shall be read over to him and signed by him in the presence of the examiner and of such of the parties or counsel as may attend; provided that if the witness shall refuse to sign his deposition so taken, then the examiner shall sign the same, stating upon the record the reasons, if any, assigned by the witness for such refusal.

The examiner may upon all examinations state any special matters to the court as he shall think fit, and any question or questions which may be objected to shall be noted by the examiner upon the deposition but he shall not have power to decide on the competency, materiality, or relevancy of the questions; and the court shall have power to deal with the costs of incompetent, immaterial, or irrelevant depositions, or part of them as may be just.

In case of refusal of witnesses to attend, to be sworn, or to answer any question put by the examiner or by counsel or solicitor, the same practice shall be adopted as is now practiced with respect to witnesses to be produced for examination before an examiner of said court on written interrogatories.

Notice shall be given to the respective counsel or solicitors to the opposite counsel, or solicitors, or parties at the time and place of the examination for such reasonable time as the examiner may fix by order in each case.

When the examination of witnesses before the examiner is concluded the original deposition, authenticated by the signature of the examiner, shall be transmitted by him to the clerk of the court to be there filed of record in the same mode as prescribed in Sec. 865 of the Revised Statutes.

The testimony may be taken on commission in the same way by written interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, on motion to the court in term time, or to a Judge in vacation for special reasons satisfactory to the court or Judge.

Where the evidence to be adduced in a cause is to be taken orally, as before provided, the court may on motion of either party assign a time within which the complainant shall take his evidence in support of the bill, and a time thereafter within which the defendant shall take the evidence in defense and a time thereafter within which the complainant shall take his evidence in reply; and no further evidence shall be taken in the cause, unless by agreement of the parties, or by leave of court first obtained on motion, for cause shown.

The expense of the taking down of depositions by a stenographer, and putting them into typewriting or other writing, shall be paid in the first instance by the party calling the witness, and shall be imposed by the court as part of the costs, upon such party as the court shall adjudge should ultimately bear them.

The Chief Justice also announced that the court would adjourn for the term Monday the 16th inst.

Devoted to the Cigarette.

Whatever may be said against the cigarette—and much has very properly been said against it—there is no question that it keeps very good company. The late Lord Lytton was so fond of the alleged deadly cylinders that he smoked them incessantly, even between the courses of his dinners, and two of the most conspicuous of British public men, Balfour and Lord Randolph Churchill, consume large quantities of them. As a matter of fact cigarettes are more frequently seen in the mouths of members of Parliament than are cigars with our own Congressmen. All the leading theosophists, excepting perhaps Annie Besant, draw inspiration from cigarettes. Mme. Blavatsky was notorious for the number of them she smoked, while her successor, the Countess of Caithness, has followed her example in that respect as well as in her pronounced fondness for diamonds, and Prof. Elliott Coues, the American theosophical high priest, smokes them to extravagant excess. The great pianists Rubinstein and Paderewski use them without stint—the former, as was recorded here recently, making his breakfast of tea and cigarettes while in the Caucasus last summer. As for the prevalence of the cigarette habit among American women—honi soit qui mal y pense, as the King said of the garter. It may at least be alleged in defense that the example has been set by many royal women of Europe, from Queens and Duchesses down.—New York World.

THEY NEED NOT PAY.

INDORSERS OF A NOTE RELIEVED FROM RESPONSIBILITY.

Judge Tuthill Holds That Under Certain Circumstances the Signatures Carry No Obligations—The Queeny Case That Induced the Ruling—Assignee's Report in the Nash Assignment—To Compel an Insurance Company to Show Its Books—Other News of the Courts—The Record.

A jury in Judge Tuthill's court decided yesterday that under certain circumstances the indorsers of a note are not responsible for its payment. The suit in question was that of the Columbia Hardwood Lumber company against William B. Langley and Nathan Whitman to recover a judgment of $94. Several months ago Justice Foster awarded the Columbia company a judgment in trover of $68 against George W. Reed. The judgment was not paid, and a capias was issued for Reed's arrest and placed in the hands of Constable Ahern. The capias was served, and instead of taking Reed to jail as required by law the constable took him to the law office of E. J. Queeny, attorney for the company. Reed was kept there for two hours, until a promise was made to secure two responsible persons to indorse his note for the amount of the judgment. Langley and Whitman were found, and quickly consented to sign Reed's note. At the expiration of the specified time at which the note became due Reed was again arrested and again brought to the office of Attorney Queeny, payment of the note not having been made. Reed sent out for Mr. Langley, who came to Queeny's office and raised strenuous objection to Reed's being held as a prisoner in a private room instead of being taken to jail. This seemed to have its effect on Queeny and Ahern, for, after a consultation, they drew up a contract, which was produced in court, agreeing to cancel the debt against Reed if he would not prosecute them for false imprisonment. Reed signed the contract, and proceedings to effect the payment of the note were afterward commenced by the lumber company against Langley and Whitman. All this was brought out in testimony at the trial of the case yesterday. After hearing the evidence the jury returned a verdict for the defendants. The plaintiff took an appeal.

Report on the Nash Assignment.

Michael F. Freiberger, assignee of the estate of Joseph F. Nash, yesterday filed a report in the County Court. Nash, who formerly conducted a commission business at the Union Stock-Yards, last week made a voluntary assignment. The assignee's statement shows Nash's liabilities to be $24,192, of which amount [illegible],000 is due the National Live Stock Bank, the largest creditor. The assets figure $7,448 exclusive of Nash's residence property at No. 44[illegible] Michigan avenue, which is incumbered to the amount of $6,000. Nash's assignment is said to be due to the construction of a large slaughter-house at the Stock-Yards, which required the expenditure of more money than was expected.

He Wants to See the Books.

An action of debt for $500 damages was begun in the name of the people yesterday against the Pioneer Insurance company for an alleged violation of the State law to permit an examination of its books by the Public Auditor. An advertisement recently appeared in the papers in which Isaac E. Adams, President of the company, asserted that under the company's charter the State Department had no authority to make an examination, but that the company made no objection to the Auditor so doing. This is denied by Lawyer Baldwin, who represents the Attorney-General. "This is the second time we were obliged to sue the company," he said. "The law provides for a penalty of $500 a month for failure to allow an examination or report. I have a letter showing that several attempts were made to get at the books of the company, but without success. A suit was begun a month ago for the same purpose."

New Habeas Corpus Question.

Judge Brentano passed upon a new question yesterday in the habeas corpus case of Charles F. Fritsche, who was arrested in Chicago Wednesday last on a complaint from Philadelphia. Fritsche is a young, smooth-faced man and was in the tobacco business in Philadelphia. He purchased goods on credit and failed to pay, but he denied that he was guilty of any fraud in buying the goods. The complaint on which he was held stated that he was legally charged in Philadelphia with obtaining money under false pretenses. The court discharged the petitioner, holding the complaint was defective.

Master Jacob R. Custer Resigns.

Jacob R. Custer, one of the Masters in Chancery of the Superior Court, resigned as such yesterday and Judge Hawes appointed James R. Mann in his place. Mr. Custer has been a Master for twelve years and his resignation is due to a pressing personal law business with his partner, Mr. Campbell.

Court Notes.

Judge Wright of Urbana will soon call a calendar of chancery cases to be prepared of cases not on Judge Hawes' present calendar. The last day for filing notices will be Wednesday, May 18.

The Abbott Machine company was given a setback yesterday by Judge Blodgett in the claim against R. H. Bonn and others to enjoin the infringement of a patent for check protectors. The Abbott company claimed the defendants had infringed on the feeding device of this machine, but the court held that the mechanism of the machine was not novel and he dismissed the bill.

WILL SEEK TO AID THE CLERKS.

Methodist Ministers Interested in Securing Shorter Hours for Store Employes.

The working hours of the clerks in West Side clothing stores received considerable attention from the Methodist ministers at yesterday morning's regular meeting. The Rev. Brushingham of the Ravenswood Methodist church said he had been timidly approached by several West Side clerks, who, while begging him not to reveal their names and thereby get them discharged, asked him to try and interest the ministers in securing for them some relief from their long hours of work. These men, Mr. Brushingham stated, went to work at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, worked until 9 at night ordinarily, and till 12 o'clock Saturday evenings. Most of them have to work the greater part of Sunday also.

The Rev. E. L. McLain thought some relief could be secured if the ministers could prevail upon their parishioners to do their shopping early in the day. The Rev. Alfred Henry said the tyranny of some of the stores called for the most hearty condemnation. The Rev. N. H. Axtell said these clerks especially needed relief because, for the most part, they were employed by Jews who do not recognize the Christian Sunday and who deal in goods manufactured by "sweaters." Upon the recommendation of the Rev. Mr. Brushingham, the Rev. Mr. Flack, the Rev. Mr. Axtell, and the Rev. Mr. Matlack were appointed a committee to visit the employés and in other ways seek relief for the clerks.

CRASHED INTO THE WRECKAGE.

A Freight Collision Throws Cars in Front of Another Train.

CHURCHILL, N. Y., May 2.—An accident on the Central Hudson here last night resulted in one death, one man being slightly injured, and heavy damage to property.

The dead:

JONES, W. H., engineer, crushed under the wreck.

The injured:

RICHMOND, F., fireman, slightly hurt.

As the west bound freight train was taking water at Churchville station another freight train bound west came along and crashed into the caboose. A number of cars were thrown over upon the eastbound track, and a minute later an eastbound train came down and the engine plowed into the pile of wrecked cars with the above result. The wreck caught fire from an oil car, and the body of Engineer Jones, which was pinned down by the wreckage, was burned to a crisp. Twenty-five cars, many of them loaded with goods, were destroyed.

TO INVESTIGATE THE STONE TRUST.

The Federal Grand Jury May Indict Members of the Combine.

The Federal grand jury meets today, but during the first few days of the session nothing but ordinary cases of no special public interest will be heard. After that something big may be looked for. District-Attorney Milchrist said yesterday he would investigate the reports that there was a stone combine in Chicago and if a trust was discovered and proved to be inter-State in its character some witnesses he had in mind would be summoned, and on their testimony indictments against the parties who are in the combine might be obtained.

As to the Reading road coal trust Mr. Milchrist said he had no evidence to show that the combine had extended it tentacles about Chicago. If any one had any legal evidence against the monopoly Mr. Milchrist said he would be glad to present it to the grand jury. It is not thought that any railroads will be investigated.

Columbus.

Columbus was, they tell us now,
  A man of flaw and fleck—
A man who steered a pirate prow,
  And trod a slaver's deck.
In narrow, bigot blindness curled,
  Cruel and vain was he—
To such was given to lift a world
  From out the darkened sea.

Though weak and cruel, vain, untrue,
  From all earth's high and low
God picked this man, his work to do,
  Four hundred years ago.
There in the distance standeth he,
  Bound on his mighty quest,
This rough old Admiral of the Sea,
  Still pointing toward the West.

There stands he on his westward prow,
  A man entirely strong;
So great, the bald truth spoken now
  Can never do him wrong.
Though slaver, pirate, he might be,
  He had that gift of fate—
That wise and sane insanity
  That makes the great man great.

As He Would Speak It.

"Now, James," said the school teacher, "remember that the secret of good reading is to read exactly as you would talk. Stand up straight and try to read your lesson just as you would speak it." James dutifully arose. The first sentence in his lesson was—"William, please to let me take your kite for a few minutes." James looked at it thoughtfully, and then exclaimed: "Hi, dere, Bill gimme dat kite o' yours a minute or I'll break your face. See?" And then he added before the astonished teacher had time to interrupt—"Dat's de way I'd talk it." James' teacher has decided that some new principles of instruction are needed in her school.—Buffalo Express.

DRINK'S NEW ENEMY.

WHAT A RACINE, WIS., PHYSICIAN CLAIMS TO HAVE DONE.

Dr. Robert A. Kitto Declares He Has Discovered a Remedy for Dipsomania, the Morphine and Tobacco Habits—Citizens of His Town Indorse the Assertions of the Medical Man—The Formula Used—The Inventor Explains His Idea—The Result of Many Experiments.

Dr. Robert Andrew Kitto of Racine, Wis., has what he considers a sovereign remedy for drunkenness. After many months of experimenting he produced a compound that he was satisfied would prove successful in all cases where it was properly administered, and for the last twelve months he has been treating patients to his entire satisfaction. Whatever may be the merits of Dr. Kitto's cure the citizens of Racine are almost a unit in ascribing wonderful powers to it, while fully 150 persons have taken it with good results. One hundred persons in Racine alone have taken the cure and their statements go to prove the benefits to be derived from it.

Dr. Kitto promised early in his experiments to give the cure to the world whenever he should be convinced that it had gotten past the experimental stage and had become an assured success. He is now convinced that the time has come when he can publish his formula with such simple directions as will enable any druggist to mix the drugs properly and permit men wishing a cure for their drinking habits to secure it at a minimum cost and without interference to their labors.

"The formula which I am now able to make public," said Dr. Kitto yesterday, "is a certain cure if the person taking it will follow my directions implicitly and will make an honest effort to stop drinking when the desire has gone. My treatment will not change a man's nature nor make his system invulnerable to whisky. In other words, he may begin drinking after the cure has been effected. It will cure the disease, however, and in my opinion dipsomania is as much a disease as typhoid-fever or scrofula. It is not a contagious disease, and the man who has it may be responsible for much of the rigor with which it attacks him, but the seed, the germ of the disease must have been in his system to serve as a starting point for its ravages.

A Result of Many Experiments.

"This idea has been in my mind for several years and my experiments were carried on because of a belief in the theory. My first compounds were crude, but after long and patient research I got the cure to a point where I felt sure of my ground. Then I began the treatment of patients and my efforts met with success from the first. Certain minor changes had been made but always with a view to simplifying it. There are two remedies really; one I use here, which includes the hypodermic injection and the internal remedy; the other, which can be prepared by any druggist with a reasonable supply of drugs. The last combines the properties of the two mixtures used by me in the treatment of patients at my office and it will prove as efficacious. This formula is as follows:

R.
Ichthyol Ammon Sulpho......2 drachms.
Hydrastis Sulphate............1 drachm.
Tr Nux Vomic......................2 drachms.
Resorcine..........................2 drachms.
Tr Columbo (non-alcoholic)...3 oz.
Liq. Ammon. Acetate, q. s....3 oz.

Two teaspoonfuls every three hours, for three weeks.

Directions to Druggists How to Compound the Medicine.

The Columbo must be a non-alcoholic tincture. Evaporate the alcohol, then supply the volume left by evaporation of the alcohol by an equal volume of water, otherwise an insoluble precipitate will be had.

"I can safely say that this treatment, if followed carefully and with a desire on the part of the person taking it to be cured, will prove effective in ninety-nine cases out of 100. It will not interfere with one's business and his appetite will remain reasonably good during the course of treatment. In case of failure, which I do not count on, the treatment will not produce any ill effects on the person taking it. The entire cost of the treatment for druggists' prescriptions should be from $6 to $10.

Morphine or Opium Formula.

"The formula for opium or morphine and for tobacco is the same. The method to be followed in taking the treatment differs slightly in each instance, however, and in giving directions for the cure of the morphine habit I must speak to some extent in general terms. This prescription is to be compounded as follows:

Tincture taraxicum, 2 drachms; tincture terri chlor., 4 drachms; ac. phosphoric dil., 4 drachms; ac. nitromur. dil., 4 drachms; hydrastic sulphate, ¼ drachm; tincture sumbul, 2 drachms; tincture cinch., 3 oz. Directions—Two teaspoonfuls every two to six hours for three to six weeks.

"As I said before, a cast-iron set of directions to accompany the morphine or opium cure is impossible. A person who is addicted to the morphine habit will find it impossible to stop the use of the drug at once. I advise the gradual reduction progress, which will cause no interference with one's business. Take as an example the person who uses ten grains of morphine a day. Let a druggist prepare a preparation of eight ounces of water with seventy grains of morphine in it for the patient's use. This will be in the proportion of three and a third grains of morphine to each tablespoonful of water. Let the patient take a tablespoonful of the mixture three times a day, and each time he takes a dose put in a tablespoonful of clear water. This will keep the volume of the mixture the same, but it will gradually reduce the amount of morphine at each dose. The reduction will be so gradual that, taken with the remedy I prescribe, it will soon leave the person under treatment with his desire for opiates entirely destroyed and that, too, without the mental rack and worry that follow from an absolute cessation of the use of the drug. Each person must be the judge of his or her own needs to a certain extent.

To Cure the Tobacco Habit.

"For the cure of the tobacco habit the patient need only take the prescription and follow his own inclination regarding the shortening of his daily supply of tobacco."

There are many persons in Racine who bear witness to the efficacy of Dr. Kitto's cure for the liquor, the morphine, and the tobacco habits. The town is a manufacturing place and the large number of single men, removed from the influences of home life, who live in the town has a tendency to increase the amount of drinking done. A druggist said: "There is not a town in the United States where the drunken men get drunker than they get here." It would seem from this that Racine presents peculiar advantages for one making a study of dipsomania and its possible cure.

H. Utley, editor of the Racine Daily Times, has known Dr. Kitto for several years and is personally acquainted with several of those who have taken his treatment. He said: "There can be no doubt about the efficacy of Dr. Kitto's cure for drunkenness. I know personally no less than twenty men who have taken the treatment and in each case with entire success. In fact there is only one case in which there has been a failure that I know of. That was a man who had been a lawyer in good standing, but who through twenty years of dissipation had become a complete wreck. Nothing short of a miracle could have saved him. I have in mind a man, prominent in a business way, who had become a confirmed drunkard. He has been completely cured, and he assures me he has no further desire to drink."

William R. Bloomfield, who has been a resident of Racine since 1869, has made a practical test of the Kitto treatment. He says of it: "I have taken the Dr. Kitto treatment and have waited some time before I indorsed or condemned it. I can now say that the strong appetite I once had for liquor has entirely disappeared. I had liquor in my room during the treatment until it became repulsive to me. My stomach was settled and I had no nausea, but the sight of liquor became so obnoxious to me that I had to order its removal. I have made a study of the Keeley treatment for some months, and I am satisfied after a careful research and examination that Dr. R. A. Kitto's treatment contains all the advantages of the bichloride of gold treatment and some that are superior. I can safely recommend Dr. Kitto's remedy to any person who is addicted to drink. The amount it would cost for treatment would not be as great as the cost of a single spree, and the happiness that would result would prove a positive blessing. Dr. Kitto can cure the insatiate desire for drink."

LINDERFELT IS OUT ON BAIL.

Certified Check Deposited for His Appearance—Will Ask for Time.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 2.—[Special.]—After spending four days behind prison bars, Librarian Linderfelt, charged with the embezzlement of city funds, was released from the jail at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and at once returned to his home. A certified check of $5,000 was deposited with the Clerk of the Court as security, with the Rev. William Chester, John Johnston, Angus Smith, A. W. Slocum, and W. H. Turner as bondsmen, each depositing in the bank $1,000. When Linderfelt's case is called in Judge Wallber's court tomorrow a further continuance of a week will be asked in order to give Linderfelt an opportunity to consult with his friends as to what he should do.

The Ministers' Association today again took up the question of selling liquor to minors. Dr. Parkhurst read to the ministers a paper entitled "Rushing the Growler," in which he summed up the observations of both himself and others in the matter of sending children to saloons after beer. No definite plan of campaign was decided upon, as the committee appointed to confer with the Chief of Police has not yet done so, and was not ready to report.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Sanderson Budd took place this afternoon from St. Paul's Church, the Rev. Charles Stanley Lester officiating. The church was filled with friends, including a number from abroad. The remains were interred in the lot of the Sanderson family in Forest home, the burial being private.

The Real-Estate Board at its annual meeting this afternoon elected the following officers: President, B. M. Weil; Vice-President, August Richter Jr.; Treasurer, Otto H. Fink; Secretary, J. C. Bartholf.

The jury in the case of Charles T. Winton, charged with forgery, found him to have been insane at the time of his alleged crime, but sane now. He was discharged.

J. V. V. Platt, the well-known attorney is in a critical condition at his home on Eighth street, suffering from paralysis of the tongue.

The Acme.

There's joy in the smile of an artless child,
 There's joy in a maiden's eye,
There's joy in the spring when the song bird's sing,
 There's joy in a lover's sigh.
But such joys all pale and easily fail
 To compare with the joyous thrill
Of the woman who knows that her new spring clothes
 Give her rivals an envious chill.

CITY REAL ESTATE.

FOR SALE—

SOMEBODY HAS SAID THAT THE MAN WHO PAYS HIS RENT MUST HUSTLE, AND THAT THE MAN WHO DOESN'T PAY HIS RENT IS OBLIGED TO KEEP MOVING.

Once a year the 1st of May, with the utmost persistency, presents itself and thousands of people, whether they have paid their rent or not, must move. Think of the bad temper occasioned by finding the butter under the mattress, finding the stovepipe joints won't fit; that you were compelled to sit on a box placed upon a wash-tub and eat your dinner off the pantry shelf. Think how you tore your clothes by rubbing against a cranky kitchen utensils. Think of these things, and now, you regular spring movers, and then say truthfully, if you can, that you are glad you paid last year's rent to a landlord instead of applying it on your own home in monthly payments. You may have had to hustle to "raise the wind," as it is sometimes vulgarly termed.

THE WIND MAY TELL WHICH WAY THE STRAWS BLOW, BUT FACTS TELL THE STORY, NOT THE WIND.

How does your wife feel about moving?
How do you feel about moving?
How many thousands of dollars
Have you let slip that might Have provided against moving?

Put a puckering-string on your mortgage this time for the love of your family. Buy a home, don't rent one. Monthly payments about the same as rent.

COME RIGHT IN AND TALK TO US. YOU WON'T BOTHER US A BIT.

The following houses may be had for immediate possession. They are well built, nicely located, and contain four to ten rooms each. One-tenth cash and balance in easy monthly payments.

BUY NOW—DO NOT WAIT.

ASHLAND-AV. AND 47TH-ST.—Some genuine bargains in this subdivision. Houses of four to seven rooms each will sell at $1,000 to $1,700; cash payment $100 to $170; monthly payments $10 to $15; will take Dauphin Park or Grossdale lots in exchange as part payment; two lines street cars to property; steam cars within two blocks; fare 5 cents. Take State-st. cable or Halsted-st. car and transfer to 47th-st. car; get off at Ashland-av.; or take Archer-av. car, transfer to Ashland-av. car, and get off at 47th-st. Branch office on property corner Ashland-av. and 47th-st. Open every day.

GROSSDALE—This is the most beautiful suburb on the line of the C., B. & Q. R. R.; 25 minutes' ride from city. A few choice houses left; 6 to 9 rooms each; prices $2,400 to $4,500 each; cash payments $300 to $450; monthly payments $25 to $40; two full-sized lots to each house; will take Grossdale lots in exchange as part payment; only three blocks from depot; call and see photographs and plans of these houses and be taken to see the property.

BROOKDALE, on the Illinois Central R. R.; 30 minutes' ride from city; 90 trains daily. One house of 9 rooms and basement, laundry, drying-room, and furnace, and all modern improvements; substantially finished throughout; east front on Addison-av., between 69th and 70th-sts.; two full-sized lots; price $6,000; one-tenth down, balance long time; will take Brookdale or Dauphin Park lots in exchange as part payment.

Now stop giving away your money and let the monthly payments you are making for a place to live in apply on your own home. Many have paid out thousands of dollars for rent and don't own a house yet. Better to buy than to rent.

PREPARING TO BUILD.

THE HOSPITAL PAVILION BIDS RECEIVED AND OPENED.

The Work of Construction to Begin at an Early Day—What the Perspective Sketch of the Projected Criminal Court Building Shows—All the County Commissioners Who Examine Highly Pleased with the Structure as Planned—Other Municipal Matters.

The proposed new addition to the County Hospital, in which is to be placed the much-talked of contagious disease ward, almost got an actual and material start at yesterday's meeting of the County Board. Bids for doing the work on the new pavilion were opened and read in open board, and the Public Service committee immediately after went into session and accepted some of them. It is expected that ground will be broken for the new building during the early part of next week. Following are the bids as received and read:

For masonry work—E. F. Goeble, $38,606; Agnew & Co., $46,666; H. Mueller, $38,681; Conrad Kies & Sons, $33,500; George Messersmith, $39,933; Mueller Bros., $40,228; E. Slattery & Sons, $33,488; Siebold & Altke, $47,456; D. H. Hayes & Co., $37,973; L. L. Leach & Son, $40,893.

For carpenter work—E. F. Goeble, $14,891; Shaller & Stadford, $16,272; Agnew & Co., $18,649; F. C. Nagle & Sons, $16,898; W. P. Fitzpatrick, $18,045; A. Campbell, $20,931; R. W. Gronow, $18,225; Peter Kauf, $17,950; P. Welter, $15,300; John A. Larson, $16,825.

For steam fitting—John Davis & Co., $5,977; William Sooy, Haythorn & Co., $5,871; Kroeschell Bros., $5,383; Thos. Kavanagh, $5,887.

For iron work—A. Gotlieb & Co., $8,876; H. A. Streeter, $9,680; A. Bolter & Son, $8,178; Dearborn Foundry company, $9,000; Bouton Foundry company, $7,691.79.

For plastering—W. H. Doveltry, $11,433; Andrew Corcoran, $11,443; Charles Kelly, $16,875; Christian Grawe, $10,000; August Zander, $11,960.

For plumbing—Malter & Kretschmer, $4,990; J. C. Boyd, $3,679; J. W. Brown Plumbing Co., $4,169.

For electrical work—McFell Electrical company, $598; Great Western Electrical Supply company, $690; Electrical Construction company, $885.

A bid for the elevators was received from the Crane Elevator company, which proposes to do the work for $4,940. Bids for putting in the ventilators were submitted by the Electrical Construction company, $3,210, and Andrews, Johnson & Co., $3,325. Of these bids the Public Service committee recommended that the following be accepted:

For masonry work, E. Slattery & Son, $33,488; for carpenter work, E. F. Goeble, $14,891; for steam fitting, Kroeschell Bros., $5,383; for iron work, Bouton Foundry company, $7,691.79; for plastering, Christian Grawe, $10,000; for plumbing, J. C. Boyd, $3,679; for electrical work, McFell Electrical company, $598.

The bids for elevators and ventilating apparatus were rejected. It was explained that several bids for both were not in. The cost of the new pavilion as figured up will be in round numbers $83,882, providing the elevators and ventilating apparatus can be put in at figures already received, and it is expected lower figures can be secured.

The Building committee of the County Board held a short session yesterday afternoon to consider the plans and sketches for the new Criminal Court building which will be erected on the ground now partially occupied by the old building. The perspective sketch shows a plain, massive building of noble proportions fronting on Michigan street 204 feet and running back 75 feet. The building is essentially modern in its outward appearance and appeals to the eye with its simple style and substantial looking construction. In the center is a projecting portion not exactly a tower, but approaching it in appearance. This has at the base an arch, 26 feet across the base, 23 feet high, and resting at each end upon a cluster of columns. This forms the main entrance. At the left of this tower-like structure, on a line with the cornice of the main portion is a light, airy room, 26x40 feet, completely isolated from the office and court-room portion of the building. This is the grand-jury room. The building will fill every inch of ground space and will be six stories and a basement in height. It will be built of rock-faced gray granite with trimmings of Bedford stone.

In the basement, occupying half of the ground space, is a vault-room 75x86 feet, the other half being cut up into boiler and engine rooms, quarters for the engineers, and a workshop. On the second floor to the left is the State's-Attorney's office, 45x46 feet, having off of it a private office, vault, closets, lavatories, retiring-rooms, and other necessaries. To the right are the quarters of the Clerk of the Criminal Court, arranged as are those of the State's-Attorney. The rest of the building is devoted to court-rooms, the Criminal Courts on account of the terms by which the old North Market was given to the city, being on the West Side and the other courts on the east. All have light on two sides. The ceilings will be eighteen feet in height. The court-rooms will all be built on the same plan. The court-room proper is to be 45x46 feet. Off this is a Judge's room 15x22, two offices 19x20, which may be used as jury rooms if necessary, a jury-room proper, 14x21, having off it a lavatory, closets, etc., a vault 16x14, a woman's waiting-room 18x25, and other necessary closets and apartments. A special feature of the plan is, that aside from the three elevators, which are at the end of the twenty-six-foot main corridors, there is to be a private iron clad elevator for prisoners leading direct to corridors communicating with the Criminal Courts. This elevator is to be connected at the base to the jail by a bridge of sighs.

These plans will, it is said, be submitted to the board at its next meeting and accepted, every commissioner who has examined them having expressed his approval. The building it is thought can be erected for about $250,000. It is considered that $150,000 more will finish it inside in keeping with the exterior.

TRYING TO DEFEAT THE SUGAR TRUST.

Bill in Equity Filed in the U. S. Court in Philadelphia to Prevent Recent Deals.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—A bill in equity was filed in the United States Circuit Court here today by the government against the sugar trust to prevent the consummation of the recent deal by which the trust obtained control of the individual refineries in this city. The bill is filed against E. C. Knight & Co., the Spreckels Refining company, the Franklin Sugar Refinery company (Harrison, Frazier & Co.), the Delaware Sugar House, the American Sugar Refining company, the trust, and John E. Searles, Treasurer of the American Sugar Refining company. The bill sets forth that the above companies have combined contrary to law, and prays the court to prevent the consummation of the deal and to rescind the agreement in the cases that have been brought to consummation.

CLEVELAND, O., May 2.—A suspicious piece of gas-pipe six inches in length from which protruded the charred end of a fuse was found under the office desk of Col. Gibbons, the Police Director, in the city hall this morning. Whether it was an attempt to blow up the Colonel or only a practical joke can only be determined by examination.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL.

Clearings at the principal cities of the United States yesterday and a week ago were:

	May 2.	April 25.
New York	$83,977,226	$75,467,849
Boston	18,037,115	14,477,393
Chicago	19,782,000	16,049,000
Philadelphia	12,765,719	9,974,302
St. Louis	4,352,090	4,494,349
Baltimore	2,347,577	1,899,106
New Orleans	1,911,769	1,597,208

New York exchange was quoted as follows yesterday: Chicago, 10c premium; Boston, 17c to 12½c discount; St. Louis, 90c premium.

The first day of the month developed a rather better demand for money at some of the banks than was anticipated. A number of banks reported that their line of discounts at the close of business yesterday was larger than they had been for five or six weeks. Testimony was not unanimous on that point, however, and at other bank counters money was as easy as it had been at any time and the demand unsatisfactory. The month of May opens with rates of ordinary bank accommodation ranging from 5 to 6 per cent, while call loans and some thirty and sixty day loans on the choicest collateral are being made at 4 per cent, with a number of banks welcoming applications for such 4 per cent money.

While bankers here call rates unsatisfactory, they are a good deal better than rates in New York. Money on call is 1¼ to 2 per cent there, while time money is easy at 2 per cent for sixty days, 2½ to 3 per cent for ninety days, and 3½ per cent for six or seven months. Those quotations are on good mixed stock exchange collateral.

The sterling exchange market was dull, with a scanty supply of bills offering. Rates were unchanged. The official figures for gold exports for last week are $5,315,083, of which $4,605,000 went to Havre by Saturday's steamer, the rest chiefly to London. Since Jan. 1 the gold exportation has been $20,159,403, against $26,504,339 for a corresponding period of 1891. The imports since Jan. 1 have been $3,917,619, against $1,491,509 for the same time last year. Sterling quotation yesterday were as follows:

	Sixties.	Demand.
Posted	488	489½
Actual	487¼	488¼
Documentary	485¾@486	487

The local stock market was only fairly active yesterday and was toward the close a shade heavy in some points. The street railways were fairly active and there appeared to be considerable realizing. Realizing sales of some round amounts of North Chicago street railway stock were made. The West Side stock was active on the morning call and touched 138, but was not so strong in the afternoon. Brewing and Malting was fairly active and stronger in the morning but that stock, too, was weaker on the second call. The future is still vague in the beer war. Saturday's meeting practically resulted in nothing except to emphasize the disposition of the larger brewers to commence a more vigorous policy and make a still deeper cut in prices, if some evidence is not soon forthcoming which looks like a settlement of the difficulties.

The large brewers say they are disposed to meet the small ones in a spirit of fairness and use every means to come to some understanding by which the present unwise competition may be avoided. It seems probable that the next few days may see matters take some definite turn one way or the other. There will either be some substantial progress for a settlement or there will be much sharper hostilities.

The feature of yesterday's trading which attracted more comment than anything else was the transactions in Alley Elevated stock and the advance in the price of the certificates to 99. The price is considered remarkable for the stock of a company which has not yet commenced operations and about whose future business so few definite calculations can be made. It has been suggested that the price of the stock is being manipulated in order to improve the market for the bonds, but there is not much evidence of that in the transactions. The list of sales yesterday is as follows:

Strawboard stock was particularly strong yesterday. The reason for the strength is found in the big business the company is doing. Its earnings for April, calculated on the same basis that earnings were reported last year, were more than double those of April, 1891. The output is considerably greater this year and the prices are decidedly better. In spite of the big earnings there is no disposition on the part of the management to increase the dividend rate. It is admitted that the system of bookkeeping heretofore employed has been of a rather liberal character and it is proposed this year, if earnings continue as satisfactory as they have been so far, to charge off some generous amounts to depreciation, etc. The earnings have been so large that substantial reduction was made both last month and the month before in the floating debt. About $250,000 of the bonds remain in the company's treasury.

The Diamond Match company yesterday paid off a $100,000 obligation at one of the local banks and several hundred thousand dollars have been so canceled within the last few days. Subscriptions for $600,000 of the $1,500,000 of new stock have been paid. Subscribers have until June 1 to complete their payments. The output of the Match company so far this year has exceeded last year by 10 to 15 per cent, and it is believed that the output this year will exceed last year by nearly if not quite 1,000,000 gross.

Blake Bros. of Boston have paid a premium of $1,739 for $40,000 Omaha grading bonds. E. H. Rollins & Son paid a premium of $3,715 for $50,000 Omaha paving bonds, and Hayes & Sons paid a premium of $7,573 for $100,000 Omaha library bonds.

It is proposed to increase the capital stock of the Edison Electric Illuminating company from $4,500,000 to $6,500,000. A special meeting of stockholders will be held May 31 for that purpose.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 2.—[Special.]—European conditions are such as to cause anxiety and alarm on this side. Notwithstanding the plethora of money over there and the reduction of the Bank of England rate to 2 per cent the demand for American gold continues. The $5,000,000 shipped Saturday is likely to be supplemented by a still larger movement this week if foreign houses are correct in their surmises. It was this, perhaps, that had more to do with the dull, weak market in the first hour this morning. There was a feeling of uneasiness as to what might be the outcome of the May day efforts of the Anarchists. Up to the present hour no violent outbreaks had occurred, but the constant explosions of bombs all over Europe indicate the volcanic condition of affairs which may assume large proportions at any moment. Capital is timid, and under the existing fear is prone to inactivity. Today being another of those of the returning holidays in London, there was, perforce, no market there, and the home market was left to grope its way alone. This it generally does timidly, as it did in the first hour today. The scolding and growling against the Reading combination is persistent. It certainly deters would-be buyers from purchasing and for the moment is quite an offset to the expectations first excited by the advance in the coal prices. Reading today started out with a little strength, advancing ⅜ to 60⅛, but straightway fell back the same amount. The other coalers opened ⅛ better. Heavy selling of Atchison sent that stock sliding off ⅜ during the hour, as it did Lake Shore. The market dragged along heavily up to 1 o'clock. There were few changes, and only the smallest possible amount of trading was indulged in. Sugar shares made the only marked change, and that fell off 2 points on the report from Washington that the government would commence action today to annul the recent purchase of the Philadelphia refinery and to dissolve the combination. The bears took advantage of the dullness and evident lack of support to depress the list during the afternoon. Sugar fell off 3 points at one time and the other few stocks in which there was any trading were losers by ⅛@⅜ each. Reading was hammered at because the insiders seemed to let it alone. New England was assailed on the report that it would lose $300,000 a year by the withdrawal of a dispatch company. But the more bad news comes out on this stock now the more buyers it seems to have on the theory that the effort to break the price is only an effort to buy it.

Money on call easy at 1½@2 per cent; last loan 1½; closed offered at 1½. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@5½ per cent; sterling exchange quiet but steady at 487 for 60-day bills and 488½ for demand. The total sales of stocks today were 199,326 shares including: Atchison, 14,040; Erie, 3,710; Northern Pacific preferred, 4,820; New England, 14,870; Reading, 62,600; St. Paul, 6,810; Union Pacific, 4,620; Western Union, 4,553.

Railroad bonds were quiet but there was a steady demand for good issues, which serves as one of the most powerful deterrents from selling of long holdings, and while there were the usual insignificant changes in the majority of the issues traded in the weakness of a few of the leading speculative issues gave the market at times a weak appearance. The Atchison incomes and the Richmond and West Point trust 5s were the weakest points, and they lost 1 at 54¾ and 2⅞ at 55⅞ respectively. The total transactions were $1,455,000, of which Atchison incomes furnished $241,000 and the Richmond and West Point 5s $114,000. Government bonds have been dull and steady. State bonds have been dull and firm.

GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

While there was a fair volume of business on 'Change yesterday there was not much of stirring interest. Important news was conspicuously absent, and in all of the pits most of the business was in the way of changing over from May to July. The Signal Service map showed some rain in the Northwest with low temperatures; while through the West there were slight showers. The indications point to rising temperatures in the Northwest and continued cold weather through the West. The feeling after the close was steady, possibly a little firmer for wheat.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 140 cars; corn, 625; oats, 370 cars; and 24,000 hogs.

The visible supply showed a decrease in wheat of 1,213,000 bu, a decrease in corn of 1,385,000 bu, and an increase in oats of 510,000 bu.

The only trade in a round lot of cash wheat reported yesterday was 8,000 bu sold by Weare to Norton-Worthington at 2⅝c over July. It was hard wheat and is for export.

John Ross sold to Flint 10,000 bu September oats at 27⅛c, this making a market for that distant delivery for the first time. Sackett sold 100,000 May at 28⅜c, and the relative weakness in this month narrowed the difference to ⅜c, May to July.

Of the 100,000 bu wheat which went around yesterday morning on delivery Armour put out the bulk of it. It was taken in small lots by several houses, Geddes-Kirkwood getting a part of it. Other deliveries of grain were inconsequential. There were, however, about 45,000 brls of pork, 15,000 tcs of lard, and 5,500,000 lbs short ribs.

The line of wheat taken by Bloom Saturday, sold to him by Pardridge, was sold out by the holder yesterday and was responsible for general selling by the local crowd. This brought about the late decline. Pardridge was the only man in the crowd who really looked pleased. Cudahy was said to have put out a moderate short line of July wheat.

The acreage of North Dakota approximates 3,000,000, and that of Minnesota is about the same. In the government crop bulletin it is stated that one-third of the seeding in North Dakota is done, and Minnesota advices say that about two-thirds of the seeding there is accomplished. On this basis there are still 2,000,000 acres in North Dakota and 1,000,000 in Minnesota in which no seeding has been done.

There were large deliveries of flaxseed on May contracts, as had been expected, though many lines had been previously transferred to deferred futures. About 250,000 bu went around, of which a large part finally rested with Metzger and Dickinson. During the first four months of the year the receipts of seed were more than double those of January to April last year. The totals were, respectively, 2,479,400 bu and 1,098,900 bu. The arrivals during last month were 547,800 bu, against 396,550 bu April, 1891; the shipments were, respectively, 702,589 bu and 596,309 bu.

The following diagrams indicate the principal fluctuations of July wheat, May corn, May oats, and July pork May 2. The stars show the latest prices of the previous day:

The Minneapolis Market Record says: "Considerable wild talk about the late spring wheat seeding goes the round of the market gossips. Sensationalists are reported to say that seeding is a month later than last year in North Dakota and the Red River Valley very much later. The fact is that seeding in North Dakota a year ago averaged about two weeks earlier than it is now. April 17 last year about the same quantity was in the ground that is in today. A part of Minnesota, in the north, is in condition similar to North Dakota—about two weeks later than last year. Central Minnesota and Southern, with South Dakota, were about three days to five days earlier last year. Last year in April some three inches to five of rain fell through the Northwest, against some 20 per cent more this season, according to the average of reports of different sections. The rain did much for the start last year, and the same is expected of it now."

THE MARKETS.

There was considerable firmness in wheat at the opening. The deliveries were smaller than any one had expected, and crop reports from the various States were rather discouraging on the whole. Cables were steady, exports were liberal, and the visible promised a large decrease. The market held steady to easy until quite late in the session, when Bloom's wheat was thrown over and a lot more held by the local speculators followed. This was responsible for the break of nearly 1⅛c, and the feeling at the close was easy. Outside markets were much like ours. New York was somewhat depressed by selling said to be on foreign account. There was only a moderate call for cash wheat. Receipts at principal Western points were 436,200 bu and at Eastern points 3[illegible] bu, a total of 755,100 bu. The shipments from Western points were 1,160,000 bu and from Eastern points 783,000 bu, a total of 1,943,600 bu. Export clearances were 866,000 bu wheat and flour, with 444,000 engaged yesterday. The local out-inspection was 56,600 bu, and there were no charters. Sales in store and to go to store were made at 87@[illegible] for No. 2 red, 75c for No. 3 hard, and 80⅛c for No. 2 spring. Free on board sales were at 68@76c for No. 4 red winter, 85c for No. 3 do, 64@73c for No. 3 spring, and 76⅛@81⅛c for No. 3 spring.

The weather was favorable for better prices in corn and there was an improvement, ⅛c of which still showed at the close. The receipts were larger than expected, but the proportion of contract grade was quite small. The visible showed a good decrease, and cables were steady. Domestic markets generally were fractionally higher and firm. There was a fair demand for cash corn. Receipts at principal points were 496,800 bu and at Eastern points 984,400 bu. The exports from the chief Atlantic ports were 615,000 bu and the local out-inspection was 197,000, with charters for [illegible] bu. New York reported the engagement of room for 188,000 bu for export there and outports yesterday. Sales in store and to go to store were made at 40⅛@41c for No. 2, 40⅛@40⅜c for new No. 2 (outside for special location), 40⅛@41⅛c for No. 2 yellow and new do, 40⅛@41c for No. 2 white, 40@40⅛c for No. 3 white, 39⅛@40⅛c for No. 3, 40⅛@40⅛c for No. 3 yellow, and 39c for No. 4. Free on board sales were at 36c for no grade, 39@39⅛c for No. 4 mixed, and 40⅛@40⅛c for No. 3 and No. 3 white.

Oats were uneven, deferred deliveries ruling firm, while May was weak, there being a disposition to sell May in exchange for July. This month closed ⅛c lower at 28⅛c, with ⅛c bid for July, after selling as high as 28⅜c. Receipts continued large, and so with the estimate for today, while cash lots for export account were neglected. Local withdrawals from store were fair. The increase in the visible of 510,000 bu exerted no particular influence on the market. Free on board sales were 28⅛@29c for No. 3 mixed, 30@30⅛c for do white, and 31@31⅛c for No. 2 white.

Rye was simply lifeless. A "few divers" were delivered on May contracts, and there were a couple of new transactions at 70⅛@70⅛c, the market closing nominally 70⅛c, or ⅛c up, with June about 70c. September or year was offered at 64c, no buyers appearing; No. 2 cash nominally 70⅛c. Barley offerings were slightly larger and trade was quiet. Choice malting barley was in fair demand and firm while low grades were easy. Sales free on board were at 48@60c for No. 3 and 40@48c for No. 4.

Receipts of hogs were fully up to the estimates and prices at the yards were lower. This had some effect on the speculative market, but the shorts took pork quite freely. Lard was offered more freely, deliveries having been large, and the price suffered more. Ribs ruled quite steady. Foreign markets showed some changes, Liverpool being 1s higher for long cut hams. Cash pork was quoted at May prices. July lard opened 5c lower at $6.25, sold at $6.27½, off to $6.22½, and closed at the inside, cash being $6.15. July ribs opened at $5.70, held at $5.70@5.72½ all day, and closed at the outside, cash being 5c over May. Cash sales included 500 tcs lard at $6.15 and 150,000 lbs short ribs on private terms.

The flour market was as dead as it has been for some time, and exporters seemed to have lost all interest in it. There was no change in prices.

Millstuffs were quiet. Bran sold at $11.25@12.00, middlings at $10.62½@13.50, and flat screenings at $9.00.

Flaxseed was firm but dull. No. 1 on track sold ½c higher at 97⅛c, and rejected at 94⅛@95c. Receipts, 27 cars; shipments, 214 cars. May sold sparingly at 97⅛@97⅜c, and September at $1.02⅛ with some changing at 5⅛c spread. Timothy was 1@2c lower. Receipts were small but there was more disposition to sell futures. May went at $1.34, and more was offered at that, and new September sold at $1.39. Country-seed sold at $1.28 to arrive. Clover was nominally $6.75@6.80 for contract prime.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 2.—WHEAT—There was but little interest taken in wheat today. The hopes entertained by some that the strong closing market Saturday would be continued over to this morning were not realized. The price was in that direction at the opening, but there were no buyers and consequently the market yielded early to Chicago influences and they were bearish toward noon. The May delivery of wheat was in name only. It is certain that but little was delivered. There was talk of 200,000 bu, but the best estimates elevator companies could make were not in excess of 5,000 bu. Pillsbury received but a small amount. The extreme wet weather is proving serious. In Northern Minnesota the conditions are much more favorable. May opened today at 78c and July at 81⅛c. May advanced ⅛c, and then fell off nearly a cent, but July declined a cent from the start, closing at 80⅛c. May closed at 78⅛c. There was a good demand for cash wheat, but the high premium has disappeared, as the table of sales today will show. TREES DECORATED WITH DEAD MEN.

A Montana View of the Rustler Question—A Leaf from History.

Helana Independent: The cattle rustler just now is attracting much attention in this part of the country. It is probable that if the romantic history of the Northwest is ever truly written this fellow will become even more interesting than the Jack Oakhurst of Bret Harte's romances.

When we learn that the cattle owners of Wyoming have found it necessary to raise a fund of $100,000, hire a small army of Pinkerton detectives, and organize at every point to protect their property, the importance of the cattle rustler becomes fully apparent. The feuds of which we sometimes hear in the Southern States are really very small and unimportant affairs when compared to the war that is now in progress against the cattle thieves. This element has been so strong in the northern part of Wyoming that men who own herds have been afraid to visit their cattle. From Red Lodge, Mont., to Buffalo, Wyo., the thieves for the last six months have practically conducted affairs to suit themselves. Under the marking system, once used by the Molly Maguires, they have selected cattle owners to be assassinated on certain dates and have filled their engagements. Just now the shoe appears to be on the other foot, and if the thieves are not exterminated in the course of the next two weeks half the population of Southern Montana and northern Wyoming will be involved in a general warfare.

It is difficult for Eastern people to understand the situation. When they read of a wholesale lynching of cattle thieves in this State they fancy there is very little law and much less order. It should be understood that the troubles which are now causing so much discussion are found in a region where officers of the law are not numerous and the men with whom they have to deal hundreds.

If cattle stealing is to stop there is but one way to accomplish it, and that is to kill the thieves. A few years ago when this practice was common in Montana the cattle owners arose in a mass and started a warfare that did not finish until a good many trees were decorated with dead men. Nobody knows how many, though it is probable that nearly 100 paid this penalty for their work. There has been very little cattle stealing in this State since that time, and the warfare in Wyoming will very likely result in the same benefit.

Considering the conditions existing, the course of the cattlemen in taking matters in their own hands seems entirely justifiable, for the reason that there is no other way to accomplish their object.

A Vegetarian Cat.

A gentleman residing at 952 Bush street is the owner of a black cat which he calls "Nig," which has developed an extraordinary fondness for vegetables. "'Nig' is extremely fond of vegetables," said the owner of the cat. "He will be 3 years old next July. We first noticed that he liked green peas when he was but 6 months old. Then my wife caught him eating some that had been left on a dish after dinner, and he was stealing them. After that I tried him on string beans, cauliflower, asparagus, and green corn. He relished them all and cries for any of the vegetables when they are set on the table and he does not get his share, but what he likes most is asparagus. I have known him to eat eleven plain boiled ones, one after another, and he only eats that portion which is soft. Potatoes? No, he seems to draw the line at potatoes, but he fills up on baked beans. He appears to enjoy them as much as a Bostonian."—San Francisco Call.

Is Consumption Contagious?

Health Officer Veale reported to the Board of Health yesterday that 72,275 deaths from consumption had occurred in this city since July, 1860, up to date, and suggested whether it would not be advisable to add consumption to the list of contagious diseases to be reported to him. He pointed out that if, as certain people claim, consumption is a contagious, infectious, or communicable disease, it must to a certain extent be preventable. The matter was referred to the Sanitary committee.

Maj. Veale stated afterward that there are from 2,800 to 3,000 deaths from consumption in Philadelphia every year, and was clearly of opinion that preventable action was necessary.—Philadelphia Record.

Miseries of City Life.

City Man—"You have enough on which to retire. Why don't you sell your farm and live in the city?"

Farmer Furrow—"City life won't suit me, no, sirree! big tall buildin's all round everywhere. Ye never can tell which way the wind's blowin', nor how th' sky looks to th' west'ard nor nothin'."—Puck.

A Fount of Information.

"Thickhed is one of the most ignorant men I ever knew. He doesn't know anything."

"That's because he shaves himself. If he were shaved by a barber every morning, same as I am, he would know everything."—New York Press.
